BULLETIN.

New York, governor, 8,259 precincts out of 9,327: Dewey [R.], 1,878,296; Bennett [D.], 1,311,456; Alfange [A.L.P.], 337,701.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 3. — Republican Nominee Thomas E. Dewey today was elected governor of New York state by a landslide, ending a Democratic régime of 20 years' standing. His plurality over Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., the Democratic candidate, was expected to reach approximately 600,000 votes.

In his capture of the President's home state, the young rackets smashing lawyer even cut into the vote of New York City, the mighty citadel of New Dealism and thumping Democratic majorities of previous elections.

Dewey Carries Two Boroughs.

Dewey carried the New York City boroughs of Queens and Richmond, while Bennett won in Brooklyn, the Bronx, and Manhattan. But an avalanche of Republican votes in upstate cities and rural areas was enough to swamp the slender Bennett lead in the city several times over.

Bennett had not been Roosevelt's first choice for the Democratic nomination, but as the campaign developed the President felt called upon to indorse him twice for election. Dewey's victory thrust him forward as a leading contender for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1944.

James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman and sponsor of Bennett's campaign, conceded defeat at 10:15 p. m. tonight. He added that it was his duty as well as other citizens to extend congratulations and wishes for a most successful administration.

Fish Also Elected.

Another bitter pill for the Roosevelt supporters to swallow was the reëlection of Congressman Hamilton Fish, a leading isolationist before Pearl Harbor and representative in the President's home district. The target of a most vicious attack, Congressman Fish was leading Judge Ferdinand A. Hoyt, Democratic and Labor party candidate, by 4,207 votes in 220 out of 225 election districts counted late tonight.

Fish carried the President's home county of Dutchess with 20,417 votes to his opponent's 18,142.

When his election was assured, Fish issued a statement declaring the people had repudiated the New Deal's use of "power and patronage and dishonest and indecent propaganda."

Polletti Bucking Tide.

Incomplete returns indicated the huge G. O. P. turnout for Dewey might carry with him the other state-wide candidates. Thomas W. Wallace [R.] was leading on the basis of late returns over Lieut. Gov. Charles Polletti.

Dewey's Statement.

Dewey, after learning that Bennett had conceded his election, issued the following statement tonight:

"A great responsibility has been placed upon me today by the people of the state of New York. I am deeply grateful for the honor. I shall do everything within my power to be worthy of the trust.

"This election has one simple meaning. It means that we of the Empire State want to put every ounce of our energies and of our resources wholly into the national war effort.

Wants Only One Victory.

"The fact that one party lost and the other party won is not important. We are not here tonight to celebrate a party victory. We are all of us interested in only one victory—total, uncompromising, crushing victory over our country's enemies. If this election has any meaning, it is that the American people are pledged with all their hearts and souls to that end and to that end only.

"Today we have made a great reaffirmation of our faith. We have made a new reaffirmation of our faith

G. O. P. Widens Lead In Michigan Race

BULLETIN.

Michigan, senate, 1,258 precincts out of 3,748, Brown [D.], 136,684; Ferguson [R.], 196,771; Smith [Ind.], 6,396. Governor, 1,281 precincts: Van Wagoner [D.], 139,539; Kelly [R.], 219,469.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 3 (AP). — Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner and United States Senator Prentiss M. Brown, the Michigan Democratic incumbents, trailed their Republican challengers in early unofficial returns tonight.

From top to bottom of the ticket, Republicans stepped into narrow leads in light voting, altho the returns came entirely from outstate precincts, in which the Republicans had hoped to run up a lead approximating 100,000 votes to meet the traditional Wayne county [Detroit] Democratic majority.

Kelly Polls 149,768.

Harry F. Kelly, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, polled 149,768 votes in the first 869 precincts tabulated out of Michigan's total of 3,748, compared to the 90,548 for Van Wagoner.

Detroit's crusading Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson, the Republican nominee for United States senator, polled 133,725 votes in 853 precincts, while Sen. Brown received 90,664. The sticker candidate, Gerald L. K. Smith, exponent of "tires for everybody" and no gasoline rationing, had only 4,008 votes in those precincts.

An informal "sample" tabulation in 21 city of Detroit precincts, out of the city's total of 1,057, gave Van Wagoner 3,827, Kelly 2,528, while Sen. Brown polled 3,713 and Ferguson 2,226.

Hoffman Out Ahead.

In congressional races all Republican incumbents with one exception took commanding leads in early returns. Rep. Clare E. Hoffman of the 4th district piled up the biggest advantage, leading his Democratic rival, Dean Morley, 7,036 to 3,215, in returns from 42 of the district's 186 precincts.

The only Republican who trailed was Bartel J. Jonkman in the 5th district. Herman J. Wierenga, Democrat, had 17,460 votes to Jonkman's 16,629 in 93 out of the district's 174 precincts. All of the returns were from Kent county.

Sen. Herring Concedes Race to Iowa G. O. P.

BULLETINS.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Sen. Clyde L. Herring, Democratic candidate for reëlection, tonight conceded his defeat by Gov. George A. Wilson. Nelson G. Kraschel, Democratic candidate for governor, also conceded the election of Bourke B. Hickenlooper, his Republican opponent.

Iowa, senate, 1,348 out of 2,464 precincts: Wilson [R.], 220,847; Herring [D.], 158,834. Governor, 1,348 precincts: Hickenlooper [R.], 236,068; Kraschel [D.], 138,115.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 3 (AP).—Republican Gov. George A. Wilson held on to a 3 to 1 lead over Sen. Clyde L. Herring, Democrat, as late returns poured in from today's balloting for United States senator.

With 834 of the state's 2,464 precincts reported, Wilson had 126,999 votes and Herring 94,471.

Meanwhile, Lieut. Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper, Republican candidate, maintained his early lead over Nelson G. Kraschel, the Democrats' nominee, for Iowa's governorship.

Hickenlooper had a lead of 136,057 to 80,826 with 832 precincts reported.

Hickenlooper seeks to advance from the office of lieutenant governor, which he has held for two terms, and Kraschel seeks to regain the position he lost to Gov. Wilson four years ago.

M'KEOUGH GIVES BEST WISHES TO WINNER BROOKS

Raymond S. McKeough, defeated Democratic candidate for the United States senate, early this morning sent a telegram of congratulations to his victorious opponent, Wayland Brooks. McKeough did not appear at the Democratic headquarters, but entrusted the message to a publicity man. It read:

"Late returns have indicated that the people of our great state have reëlected you to the high office of United States senator. Congratulations. In the performance of the heavy responsibilities which will be yours during the next six years may God aid you to discharge faithfully the great trust reposed in you by the majority of the voters in yesterday's election."

STRICKEN WOMAN IS REVIVED AFTER 3 HOURS' EFFORT

For more than three hours yesterday firemen from rescue squad No. 2 worked with an inhalator over Mrs. Marie Rice, 44, of 4028 Wilcox street, who was seemingly dead from a heart attack.

At the end of that time she revived sufficiently to be taken to Norwegian American hospital, where she was placed under an oxygen tent, and given a fair chance of recovery.

Her husband is Walter Rice, a city fireman.

CALIFORNIA G. O. P. VICTORY CLAIMED

Gov. Olson Lags in Race for Re-election.

BULLETIN.

California, governor, 6,896 precincts out of 14,494, Olson [D.], 323,824; Warren [R.], 401,825.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3 (AP).—Earl Warren, Republican, tonight claimed victory in the race for the California governorship against Gov. Culbert L. Olson, Democrat.

Altho Warren, now attorney general, was leading in every county reporting, even in heavily populated Los Angeles where Olson expected to get his greatest strength, the governor refused to concede defeat.

Warren thanked Californians for "the splendid vote of confidence they have given me" and reiterated that "my administration will be nonpartisan thruout."

Ahead 335,281 to 274,903.

At the time the statement was issued, 6,101 precincts out of the state's 14,494 gave Warren 335,281 and Olson 274,903.

Lieut. Will Rogers, Democrat and son of the late humorist, was running behind Rep. Leland M. Ford, Republican, in the 16th district congressional race.

Because Los Angeles is heavily Democratic and the rest of the state predominantly so, the returns indicated a crossing of party lines in the Olson-Warren race.

Fumbling Charged by Warren.

Warren has contended that California's defense affairs in the face of war dangers have been fumbled and that Gov. Olson was partly responsible. He promised, if elected, to tighten up on defense.

Olson, a frevent supporter of the President, has accused Warren of obstructing his defense program and blamed the legislature for failure to give him funds to carry out his plans.

One of the first official acts of Olson's administration, one which drew nation-wide attention, was to pardon the late Tom Mooney, imprisoned labor leader.

73 TEAMS BEGIN CANVASSING OF VOTE TOMORROW

Canvass of the votes cast in yesterday's election will be started tomorrow at 1 p. m., John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board of election commissioners, announced last evening.

Seventy-three teams will make the canvass with the expectation that the work will be completed by Saturday night and the proclamation issued some time next week. The election board will canvass the vote of 3,762 precincts in Chicago and 216 country town precincts under its jurisdiction while the county clerk will canvass the votes cast in 559 country town precincts.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Led by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, the entire Democratic county, sanitary district, and municipal offices ticket with the possible exception of sheriff, and the certain exception of five county commissioners from the country towns, won in yesterday's election.

The race for sheriff between Peter B. Carey [D.] and Leo Carr [R.] developed into a horse race finish in the early morning hours. Altho Carey was in the lead in 3,400 city precincts out of 3,762 by 139,181 votes over Carr, the latter was running strongly in the country towns.

Runs Ahead of Brooks.

Out of 362 precincts still missing in the city, the great bulk was in Republican wards. In the city and in suburban Cook county Carr was running ahead of Brooks for senator in the percentage of votes polled by each. In 3,400 city precincts Brooks was getting 43 per cent of the votes for senator, while Carr was drawing 44.1 per cent of those cast for sheriff.

In 300 suburban precincts Brooks had 67.7 per cent of the senatorship votes, Carr had 68.7 of those cast on sheriff. So it shaped up as a possible neck and neck finish.

In the 3,400 city precincts out of 3,762. Carey had 661,376 votes or 55.7 per cent, and Carr 521,495 or 44.1 per cent. In 300 of 775 country precincts, Carey had 25,781 or 31.3 per cent and Carr 156,538 or 68.7 per cent.

For hours after the polls closed, it was a question whether the suburban vote for Carr might overcome Carey's Chicago lead. Based on the returns with 362 Chicago precincts and 475 country precincts still missing, a projected vote would give Carey a plurality of 154,700 in Chicago and Carr a plurality of 79,400 in suburban Cook county, or a Cook county plurality of 75,300 for Carey.

Jarecki by 258,200 Margin.

Jarecki for judge distanced the rest of the Democratic ticket. In 3,400 precincts he got 57,394 votes more than Carey for sheriff. Jarecki's projected plurality in Chicago on the basis of incomplete returns was 272,700. Rundall's projected plurality in the suburbs was 58,536. Jarecki in Cook county was 214,164.

Judge Frank M. Padden and Robert E. Crowe, both on the Democratic ticket, were running ahead to fill vacancies on the Superior court bench. In 200 precincts in the city and 180 in the suburbs Judge Padden had 66,850 votes to 49,046 for George M. Fisher [R.] and Crowe had 61,569 to 52,087 for John F. Tyrrell [R.].

In the race for election to the county board, the Democratic candidates were leading the Republican contestants by a vote of 5 to 2 in the first 360 precincts reported. Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, led his associates on the ticket with a total of 83,641 votes. The highest candidate on the Republican ticket was C. Herman Johnson with a vote of 37,908.

Lehr, Fosco Are Low Men.

The low man on the Republican ticket was George O. Lehr, with 36,055 votes, while the low man on the BULLETINS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Returns from more than half Wisconsin's 3,065 precincts late tonight saw Progressive Orland S. Loomis' lead over Julius P. Heil, Republican incumbent, grow wider in the governor race. The total on returns from 1,621 precincts: Loomis, 156,441; Heil, 135,008, and Democratic William C. Sullivan, 37,889.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—With more than a third of Wisconsin's 3,065 precincts tabulated tonight, Orland S. Loomis, Progressive candidate for governor, was running slowly but steadily ahead of Julius P. Heil, Republican, seeking his third term.

The vote from 1,370 of 3,065 precincts gave Loomis 121,848, Heil 108,118, and Democrat William C. Sullivan, 30,767.

Most of the vote came from out of Milwaukee, where the strongest anti-Heil vote centered. Republican candidates for other state offices, running on the same ticket with Heil, were far ahead of their Progressive opponents, leaving observers to conclude that the Loomis vote was anti-Heil rather than anti-Republican.

Wasielewski Holds Lead.

Unofficial reports on the 4th district congressional race gave Incumbent Thaddeus Wasielewski, only Democrat in Wisconsin delegation, a lead over John Schafer, Republican. John D. Brophy, Progressive candidate, was trailing.

The vote from 30 of the 270 precincts in the district gave Wasielewski 5,155, Shafer 3,326, and Brophy 1,762.

In the 5th district Republican Rep. Lewis D. Thill was attacked by the Union for Democratic Action, was trailing Howard J. McMurray, who resigned as professor of political science at the University of Wisconsin to become a candidate. Roy A. Roush, Progressive was third.

The vote from 11 of 295 precincts in the district gave McMurray 3,054, Thill 2,703.

Campaign on Personal Lines.

The campaign for governor was conducted on purely personal and state issues, with little reference in the oratory to national affairs. All candidates pledged to support the war. Loomis' chance seemed to take a sudden spurt a week ago.

Heil's opponents countered his best argument—a $37,400,000 balance in the state treasury—by talking about his $12,000 expense account. Heil violated the precedent of every governor of Wisconsin since the state was admitted to the Union by disclosing before election his report of expenses from the contingent fund. They included amounts for entertaining, a visit to the Roosevelt inauguration at Washington, a $50 bouquet for Mrs. Roosevelt and related in detail minor amounts for cigars and occasionally liquor.

Much of the state was amused, but more of it was shocked, and the governor's expense account turned many votes to Loomis.

Organized labor, directed by a special committee of the State Federation of Labor, gave Loomis strong support.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Wayland Brooks was reëlected United States senator from Illinois yesterday by a plurality of more than 200,000 votes.

Stephen A. Day was reëlected congressman at large by about 100,000 votes.

William J. Stratton was elected state treasurer and Vernon L. Nickell was elected superintendent of public instruction by substantial majorities.

Clean Republican Sweep.

That in a few words is the story of the state election of 1942. A clean Republican sweep! A stinging rebuke to the Kelly-Nash city hall machine, to the Union for Democratic Action, to the purge movement in general.

It was a triumph for Gov. Dwight H. Green and other Republican leaders who stood by Brooks to a man. For them there was the satisfaction of complete victory that, when all the returns are in, is almost certain to include the election of three trustees of the University of Illinois.

The latest indication was that McKeough did not carry Chicago by more than 200,000. The country towns gave an estimated plurality of more than 75,000 for Brooks that late returns indicated might increase to 100,000.

Walks Away from McKeough.

With almost half of the downstate precincts heard from Brooks was walking away from McKeough. His actual lead in much of the area outside Cook county was 215,846. It was estimated that his final edge would be at least 380,000 outside the county.

Brooks' running mates, altho not doing as well as the head of the ticket, seemingly were carried along with him. Only in one instance was there a brief doubt. The battle between Stephen A. Day, the incumbent Republican, and Benjamin S. Adamowski appeared close because Adamowski ran ahead of McKeough in Chicago. But late returns coming in from downstate indicated that Adamowski was not doing so well there.

McKeough Carries River Wards.

McKeough was shown by the early returns to be romping along in Chicago but that was because those returns were from the small precincts of the river wards, Democratic territory. At one time it looked as tho he might carry the city by about 300,000, but it was conservatively estimated late in the evening that his city margin would not go much—if any—beyond the 200,000 mark.

As the larger precincts came in, McKeough's lead per precinct decreased, and during the same period Brooks' margin downstate continued to mount steadily. It was said the early returns from downstate had come from industrial centers with the same sort of political complexion as Chicago's river wards, chiefly Democratic and New Deal.

The farm vote had not been accounted for at a late hour. Rural precincts were slower than usual and from these it was expected Brooks would garner additional advantage.

Advantage Falls Steadily.

With reports in from 3,000 precincts out of 3,762 in Chicago McKeough had a total of 616,414 to Brooks' 454,425, an actual lead at that time of 161,689. His percentage then was 57.5 and seemed to be in a continuous droop.

At that hour returns were in from 2,703 downstate precincts out of 4,172 and showed Brooks with an actual count of 513,700 to McKeough's 292,423.

VOTE SUMMARY.

On page 3 is a table showing late results on the most important state and county offices in yesterday's election.

RESULT CALLED PROTEST OVER CONDUCT OF WAR

Ballot Tide Sweeps East and West.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

A Republican landslide swept the nation in the congressional and state elections yesterday.

Smashing Democratic reverses from coast to coast registered the popular dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war by the Roosevelt administration on the fighting front and home front.

On the face of the incomplete returns the Republicans appear to have scored a gain of 10 seats in the senate and 40 to 50 seats in the house of representatives.

May Get Control of House.

The complete returns are not unlikely to show that the Republicans captured more than the 52 seats now held by Democrats that would give the G. O. P. control of the house in the 78th congress which will meet in January.

According to the returns so far received the Republicans gained senate seats in the following states:

Michigan
South Dakota
Nebraska
Wyoming
New Jersey
Iowa
Colorado
Oklahoma

The Republicans also gained governorships in New York, California, Connecticut, Michigan, Idaho, and Maryland. They lost a governor, however, in Wisconsin to the Progressives.

Purge Is Boomerang.

The attempt of the administration and its allied radical groups to purge congress of prewar isolationists came to an inglorious end. The returns so far received disclose the defeat of only one member of congress who opposed the Roosevelt intervention policy before Pearl Harbor. On the contrary, the senators and representatives defeated were prewar interventionists and Roosevelt rubber stamps almost to a man.

While such leading prewar noninterventionists as Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] and Representatives Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] and Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] were reëlected by large pluralities. Among those defeated were such outstanding prewar interventionists as Senators Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.], H. H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.], Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia.], William H. Smathers [D., N. J.], and Josh Lee [D., Okla.], as well as Matthew M. Neeley, Democrat, defeated for the senate in West Virginia, Rep. Raymond S. McKeough [Democrat, defeated for senator in Illinois], and Rep. Joseph E. Casey [D., Mass.], defeated for the senate in Massachusetts by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican, a prewar noninterventionist.

The prewar isolationist defeated was Sen. Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.], who went down before Gov. Ralph L. Carr, Republican, a prewar interventionist. Two other Republican interventionists reëlected were Sen. Joseph H. Ball and Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota.

It was a Republican tidal wave that bore the G. O. P. candidates to victory in states east and west which have been in Democratic hands since the advent of the New Deal.

G. O. P. Tide Covers Midwest.

It swept the middle west carrying in Sen. Brooks, candidate for reëlection and a special target of the administration, over McKeough, a 100 per cent New Dealer and Roosevelt rubber stamp.

It swept into Michigan, where Sen. Prentiss M. Brown went down before the Republican nominee, Homer Ferguson, and Democratic Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner lost to Harry F. Kelly, the Republican candidate.

It swept into Iowa, where Republican Gov. George A. Wilson defeated Democratic Sen. Clyde L. Herring, a candidate to succeed himself.

It swept into Indiana where the Republicans captured a congressional seat long held by the Democrats and into Missouri where a Republican gain of four house seats was registered.

It swept into Nebraska where the Republican candidate Kenneth S. Wherry defeated Sen. Norris, a blown in the bottle New Dealer, who was seeking a sixth term in the senate.

Around only one state in the middle west—Wisconsin—the Republican tide eddied and ebbed. Republican Gov. Julius P. Heil apparently was defeated by the Progressive candidate, O. S. Loomis by virtue of the Democratic support thrown to him at the eleventh hour by the Roosevelt administration.

Kansas went Republican overwhelmingly and also Ohio where Republican Gov. John W. Bricker, a 1944 presidential possibility, was reëlected to a third term by a sweeping majority.

In the east Thomas E. Dewey, another Republican presidential possibility, won the governorship of New York by a majority of landslide proportions carrying with him the entire Republican state ticket, representing a gain of upwards of 3 seats in the house.

Outstanding in the New York results also was the victory of Republican Rep. Hamilton Fish, leading prewar isolationist who represents President Roosevelt's home district. The President had singled him out for defeat.

The Republicans swept Pennsylvania and also New Jersey where Democratic Sen. William H. Smathers was defeated for reëlection by the Republican nominee, Albert W. Hawkes.

The G. O. P. captured the senatorship in Delaware and also in West Virginia where Democratic Gov. Matthew M. Neeley was defeated by Chapman Revercomb, Republican.

One of the surprises of the election was the apparent defeat of Democratic Sen. Josh Lee in Oklahoma. Lee, who was a fiery interventionist before Pearl Harbor, was running behind the Republican nominee, Edward H. Moore, in the incomplete returns.

Protest Conduct of War.

The Republican victories, particularly the Republican gains in the senate and house of representatives, recorded the popular dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war by the Roosevelt administration that has been deepening thruout the period of the election canvass and most conspicuously in the last two months.

In a rough sort of way the congressional election was a national plebiscite on the management of the war on both the fighting front and the home front. Citizens who were satisfied with the record of the party in power in the first 11 months of the war voted for Democratic candidates for the senate and the house.

Citizens who regarded the long series of disasters to our army at the hands of the Japanese, beginning with Pearl Harbor and culminating in the recent losses of two aircraft carriers and other major warships in the Solomon Islands, as evidence of the incompetence of the administration, accentuated by the fiascos on the production front from oil to rubber, voted for Republican candidates committed to measures to bring about a greater degree of efficiency in the war effort.

Demand for Unified Command.

Among such measures for which the Republicans were contending is a unified command, the lack of which was largely responsible not only for Pearl Harbor and the destruction of our air force on the ground in the Philippines the first day of the war, but for succeeding reverses including so late an instance as the naval disaster of the Solomon Islands.

The campaign began last February with the administration and its allies taking the offensive with the demand that congress be purged of senators and representatives who had opposed the Roosevelt intervention policy before Pearl Harbor. It ended not only with the attempted purge a fiasco, but with the administration on the defensive against the barrage of complaints of mismanagement of the war.

Edward J. [Paving Block] Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, led off with a plea for the retention of the Democrats in control of congress, asserting that the return of a Republican house would be as disastrous as a major military defeat for our country. Subsequently, as military disaster followed military disaster in the Pacific and as the public manifested resentment of his impugnment of the patriotism of Republicans, Chairman Flynn relapsed into a silence that remained unbroken up to election day.

Michelson Takes Over Smear.

Charles Michelson, the Democratic publicity director who made his reputation "smearing Hoover," then swung into the breech with a line of propaganda to the effect that a Republican victory in November would be a Nazi victory. He indicted the Republicans on a multitude of counts, blaming them for the failure of the league of nations, for the war in Europe, and for Pearl Harbor. He demanded the defeat of all prewar isolationists.

Aligned with the Democrats in the prosecution of this political war were the so-called Union for Democratic Action, the pinko New Republic, the Henry Luce and the Marshall Field press, and the Communists, who after denouncing the war as an imperialist venture had become interventionists when Hitler attacked their mother government, soviet Russia, in June, 1941.

With all the arts of the smear the purge was pressed in the primaries, but proved a flop. Out of approximately 400 members of congress who were candidates for reëlection, only 18 were defeated for renomination, 9 of them being isolationists and 9 interventionists.

Take Purge Into Election.

After the primaries the purgers vowed they would get the scalps of the remaining prewar isolationists in the election. But they found it heavy going in a country that was about 80 per cent isolationist before it was forced into the war.

It had become apparent that the electors were not disposed to repudiate prewar noninterventionists who had reflected the views of their constituencies. The purge was an invitation to the constituents to repudiate themselves, an attempt to indict a people in defiance of Edmund Burke's immutable law. Moreover the prewar isolationists resented the implication that they are any less determined than are the interventionists to prosecute this war to a complete victory. So, by election day, the purge in most constituencies had fizzled out.

By the end of the summer the administration was definitely on the defensive. The bungling and confusion prevailing in Washington in connection with production, including measures for dealing with wages, strikes, and other labor disputes, were palpably hampering the war effort. The shortage of rubber was so much a mystery and finally a scandal that the President was compelled to do something to appease public condemnation. What he did was to appoint the Baruch commission, which found the administration at fault for the failure to acquire a stockpile of natural rubber before the war and to provide for the manufacture of synthetic rubber on a large scale, but also evolved a constructive program to repair the deficiency.

Under Fire Over Inflation.

By September the administration was increasingly under fire in connection with the menace of inflation. The first price control legislation had proved inadequate. Inflation was steadily mounting. The President became alarmed and called for legislation to halt the rise of prices.

In his Labor day speech, however, in which he outlined his program, Mr. Roosevelt incurred the resentment of the farmers by blaming them for the inflation that had already taken place and that threatened to wreck the country's economy. The farmers interpreted his utterances as the projection of a program to impose a statutory ceiling on farm product prices while placing no real ceiling on wages.

In the eyes of the farmers the disposition manifested by the President was just additional proof that the Roosevelt administration had become an outright labor government and that the President was bent upon coddling labor at the expense of agriculture. From that moment the reaction against the administration in the corn, wheat, and stock raising regions became intense. Public meetings were held at which the attitude of the administration toward agriculture was denounced. The American Farm Bureau Federation led the opposition to the administration which found its only support in the radical but far smaller membership of the Farmers' union.

Find Fresh Grievance.

Altho the farm bloc got about all it wanted in the anti-inflation legislation eventually enacted and altho the farmers at once manifested a willingness to give the price fixing program a fair test it was not long before they found a fresh grievance in the efforts of the administration to establish lower ceilings on farm product prices by executive decree than were provided by the statute. It was a widespread opinion that the course pursued by the administration in connection with price fixing had cost the Democrats the farm vote in this election.

During the last month of the campaign public attention was centered upon the naval reverses the country sustained in the Solomon Islands which increased the reaction against the administration for mismanagement of the war on the fighting front. The losses of our warships were pronounced by the Republicans to be proof positive of the lack of adequate preparation for the American offensive in the Solomons.

The disaster was ascribed particularly to the absence of a unified command in that region where Gen. Douglas MacArthur had been excluded from the direction of the offensive because it might redound to his advantage, particularly if he should be a candidate for President. MacArthur finally was impelled to deny officially that he entertains any Presidential ambition.

A THIEF RATIONS HIMSELF NINETY BAGS OF COFFEE

Coffee—90 one pound bags of it—was stolen from the truck of Lewis Griggs, 739 Belmont avenue, while he was parked yesterday in front of 7901 South Racine avenue. Sergt. Martin McGuire said he was assigning his "best detectives" to trace the scarce and precious loot. Griggs, who drives for a wholesale coffee company at 414 West Grand avenue, said there were 500 pounds of coffee on the truck and that the thief evidently broke a lock on the rear door and escaped unobserved. He said he did not notice the loss until he stopped to make another delivery at 1402 West 63d street.

J. J. Sullivan, Appellate Court Jurist, Collapses

Judge John J. Sullivan of the Appellate court collapsed last night while walking down the corridors of Democratic headquarters in the Morrison hotel. He was revived shortly afterward and taken to his home.

DEWEY ELECTED BY A LANDSLIDE IN N. Y. BALLOTING

in freedom, in the ultimate triumph of justice, and in the ultimate triumph of free men under the God of all of us.

"We have sent a stunning message to our enemies. We have shown to all the world that we—even in the midst of total war, can hold a free election under the American two party system. that even in the midst of total war we can make changes necessary to strengthen our government. We have shown once more that the system of free government for which we are fighting is a living, vital thing and that we care deeply for it.

Only Opponent Is Axis.

"Let every man and woman put aside all rivalries. We are all Americans together. The only task before us is to redouble our efforts in the winning of the war. In that cause we all belong to one great opposition party—the party of uncompromising opposition to Hitler, his allies and all the hateful things they stand for.

"In all things needed for the winning of the war, we are united in unswerving loyalty to our commander-in-chief. Let us make this thing clear to all the world: We in America are solemnly united. Shoulder to shoulder, we shall, with every resource at our command, carry on this fight to total and lasting victory."

Polletti ran with the blessing of both the American Labor party and the Communists, who directed their followers to vote for him. Such support was not accorded Bennett.

Dean Alfange, the Labor party's nominee for governor, and Israel Amter, the Communist party standard bearer, were both trailing far behind. Indications were that Alfange would garner in the neighborhood of 400,000 votes, the normal Labor party strength in the state.

Red Target Leading.

Four years ago, when Gov. Herbert H. Lehman defeated Dewey by the comparatively narrow margin of 65,000 votes, both the Communists and Labor party members supported the governor. Amter, who was then running for congressman at large, polled 105,000 votes in the state. Thus the Communists threw the balance of strength in the election.

Republican majorities were also expected to be returned to the legislature, early returns indicated.

In the hotly contested senatorial race between State Sen. Frederic R. Coudert Jr., Republican incumbent, and Jerry Finkelstein, his Democratic-American Labor opponent, early and incomplete returns indicated that Coudert would win out by a comparatively close margin.

Presidential Timber.

Senator Coudert, head of the legislative subcommittee investigating subversive activities in New York City schools, has been under attack by left wing elements who are supporting his opponent.

Dewey's victory automatically thrust him forward as a leading contender for the G. O. P. nomination for President in 1944. The size of his victory will contribute to the size of his chances for a shot at the White House two years hence.

2 Boys' School Inmates Flee; Captured in 2 Hours

Two inmates escaped yesterday from the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles, but their liberty was short lived. They were captured two hours later near Geneva. During their temporary freedom they failed in an attempt to steal a car. School officials identified the pair as David James, 17 years old, of Maywood, and Henry Evans, 15, of Chicago, both committed for larceny. The two made their getaway by scaling the high steel fence surrounding the institution.

SENATOR BROOKS: HAPPY, THANKFUL AND DETERMINED!

Victory His, He Considers the Task Ahead.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Wayland Brooks, assured of a victory last night which returned him to the senate for six years, was a determined man with a job to do.

While those about him in Republican headquarters at the La Salle hotel joined in the victory clamor, Brooks quietly considered the work ahead.

"I am profoundly grateful to the people of Illinois," he said, "but I didn't expect them to do anything else. I kept my word to them, and they voted their thanks."

Brooks and his wife, Betty, slipped quietly into the hotel shortly after 10 o'clock, evaded the milling mob in the halls, and went to a room on the fifth floor. There they were greeted by Richard J. Lyons, state tax commission member and long a Brooks' supporter, his wife, and Harry Bettinghaus, right hand man to the senator.

Delays Victory Claim.

The senator was reluctant, despite the urging of party leaders, to claim a victory. "Let's be sure," he told them, and waited until later returns piled up his projected majority.

"They can't catch you now," his wife told him and Brooks went to work on a victory statement. Gov. Green, whose campaign toil aided in piling up the downstate majority, joined the group.

"You got what you deserved, Curly," he remarked.

Brooks, toiling over his statement, prepared three before he was satisfied with his work. With each draft the words mellowed and specific members of the Kelly-Nash machine escaped a verbal chastisement.

"I guess it's time to throw him [Brooks] to the wolves," commented Jim Dick, a friend for years, and the door was thrown open.

Brooks was pounded on the back, greeted by handshakes, cheered, and congratulated. He was pushed about the hall by friends, supporters, party workers, job seekers, and curious alike.

Cameramen begged for "one more picture," and reporters pelted him with questions. He assured one that he was going to be in the fore of the fight to assure at least one year's training for the 18 and 19 year old draftees.

"What do the nation-wide results mean?" someone shouted.

"It's evidence that while we're fighting for the four freedoms all over the world the people don't want them wiped out at home," Brooks shouted in reply.

In the midst of the mêlée, friends tried to clear a way for the senator.

Victory Statement.

"Let them alone, I like it," Brooks grinned as he seized the outstretched hand of a colored porter.

At the broadcast comparative quiet was restored as hundreds tried to inhabit a room designed for two. Here Brooks, introduced by Gov. Green, voiced his prepared statement:

"I believe that the people realize that we face our greatest ordeal as a nation of free men in a death grip struggle against the autocracies and dictators of the world.

"In times like these, people who enjoy the precious privileges of free and representative government must cling to their religious faith and to those representatives in government in whom they have confidence. I knew the heartaches, struggles, and sacrifices that go with war and I made definite pledges to the people, and I have kept them steadfastly. I propose to follow that course in the future."

Green told the radio audience he saw the victory as a stinging rebuke to the Kelly-Nash machine. He added that the people of Illinois are looking to the Republican party to achieve the national unity necessary to bring the war to a speedy and successful conclusion.

Statement by Schroeder.

Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois said:

"Senator Brooks and the entire Republican state ticket have won by majorities of at least 200,000. This great victory means that the people of this middle western state insist on a vigorous and complete prosecution of the war coupled with a preservation of American freedom and liberties.

"To Senator Brooks it means a rededication of his talents and abilities to the achievement of a complete victory for America. He will serve his country as effectively in this war as in the last.

"This has been a significant day thruout America. The two party system and with it the American form of government has been preserved."

ONE CITY PRECINCT VOTES WET; ANOTHER DRY; 4 UNREPORTED

One precinct voted wet and another dry in local option balloting on the south side yesterday. Results in six other Chicago precincts voting on the question had not been learned early today. The voting, in accordance with the local option law, is on the basis of precinct boundaries as they existed in 1932.

In the 2d precinct of the 6th ward, the vote was 165 to 64 in favor of banning sale of alcoholic beverages within the precinct limits. In the 59th precinct of the 4th ward, where the 1932 boundaries included but a part of the precinct, the proposal was rejected by a vote of 109 to 83.

TORONTO TO TRY 3 WHO HAD CUFFS SEWN ON PANTS

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 3. — Three men will be put on trial here Friday for having cuffs sewn on trousers. Suits with cuffs or double breasted jackets are out for the duration, the wartime price and trade board emphasized. The three men are charged under regulations forbidding "frills" during wartime.

Asked if a man could buy a suit and have his wife make up the cuffs, a board official said:

"No, a wife is not allowed to put on cuffs. Under the original order a wife could do so, but a later order specifically forbids cuffs being put on trousers by any person."

SEN. BARKLEY DISOWNS DRIVE FOR COURT SEAT

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 3 (AP).—Circulation of a round robin petition among members of the senate asking President Roosevelt to appoint Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky, to the United States Supreme court is being done without his "knowledge, consent, or approval," the senator said here today.

The senator arrived at his home here Monday night to vote in today's general election. When he was shown the story from Washington reporting that Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee was seeking signatures on a petition urging his appointment to the Supreme court vacancy, Barkley said:

"I have consistently declined, to give my approval to any effort made by any of my friends to present my name to the President for this high post, and that will continue to be my attitude."

BETTY BROOKS AT MATE'S SIDE IN HIS TRIUMPH

It's Where She Always Is, in Thick or Thin.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

It was typical of Gertrude Brooks that she sat beside her husband, Sen. Wayland Brooks, in Republican headquarters at the La Salle hotel, until early this morning. She has been beside him—and behind him—for the last 22 years.

A vivid, gracious woman with luxuriant auburn hair and a slender, girlish figure which has only varied two pounds in the 22 years of her married life, Mrs. Brooks, or "Betty" as she is called by her husband, is a distinguished hostess, a modern mother, an energetic war worker, and an unaffected personality.

Takes Victory Quietly.

Last night she greeted her husband's victory, surrounded by friends, as quietly as she faced the rigors of their earlier years.

Twenty-two years ago, when she was studying voice in Chicago as Gertrude Ackerly [which is still her professional name as a concert singer], Mrs. Brooks met the slender, young marine who was recovering from his wounds in Great Lakes hospital. After a whirlwind courtship, they were married and started out in a little town of 800 persons in Scotland, S. D.

Wayland, as he is always termed by his wife who doesn't use his more popular nickname, "Curley," worked in a garage for his uncle. Before long, he was put in charge of raising funds for near east relief in that state.

Recognizes His Leadership.

It was then Mrs. Brooks recognized his talent as a speaker and a civic worker. She urged him to pull up stakes again and start over, studying law. During those difficult years when her husband studied law at Northwestern university, Mrs. Brooks cared for her own home, bore her son, made all her own clothes and worked selling dresses in a State street store.

"It was worth it, every minute of it," she maintained last evening. "Our life has never been easy but we have been rewarded for all the effort we put into it. It is still one round of work in Washington, but it is an interesting and worthwhile life. I feel grateful for the reëlection. Wayland has kept all his promises to the people of Illinois and his reëlection is a vote of confidence which he will continue to carry out to the best of his ability."

Active in War Work.

And Mrs. Brooks will carry on in her own way, attending Red Cross classes twice a week, making layettes for service men's wives, acting as assistant air raid warden of her building and doing her own cooking.

DEMOCRATS GLAD TO SLIP BY WITH PATRONAGE JOBS

Kelly Says Few Words as Rest Are Silent.

Chicago Democrats expressed themselves as jubilant over the election early today, despite Sen. Wayland Brooks' defeat of Rep. R. S. McKeough and indications that Benjamin S. Adamowski was losing his race for Rep. Stephen A. Day's post.

The Democrats had won the big county patronage offices and the jobs that go with them. Many party adherents at the Democratic headquarters in the Morrison hotel argued that the victory of Brooks and Day would make for political unity here, since the Republicans would have representation in Washington and the Democrats the county jobs.

Kelly Issues Statement.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly issued this statement before leaving the headquarters for his home at 12:20 a. m.:

"The people have spoken in a critical time, and may the Lord guide the future course of those who were elected to office. I can make no statement now as to the final determination of the senatorial race."

[At that time the full extent of Sen. Brooks' victory was not known.]

McKeough himself was not bitter over his defeat. Friends said that Adamowski also was well satisfied with the votes he had received in the city, and that he might soon [this was at 1 a. m.] concede Day's election.

Secretary Weeps.

The only marked expression of grief over McKeough's defeat came from Miss Agnes Hallinan, secretary for 15 years to Patrick A. Nash, Democratic county chairman. She wept over the returns.

James Francis Hennessy, publicity director for the party's county organization, was highly pleased by the Democrats' 200,000 lead in Chicago. He was particularly happy over the reëlection of State Sen. William Connors and State Representatives Arthur J. Quinn and Edward P. O'Grady of the 29th district here.

DIES IN GRAVEL CAVE-IN.

Plymouth, Ind., Nov. 3 [Special].—William H. Bradley, 62 years old, was smothered today when he was trapped under several feet of gravel in a cave-in at a pit southwest of Plymouth. Wesley Beatty, working with Bradley, uncovered Bradley in about half an hour, but he was dead.

Test Blackout Halts Tally of Vote in Florida County

Gainesville, Fla., Nov. 3 (AP).—Alachua county underwent a test blackout tonight while precinct officials were tabulating ballots. Warned beforehand a blackout would be held, a few precincts were ready with shades and dim lights but in most places the counting ceased during the 24 minutes the county was plunged into darkness.

MacArthur Gets a Vote for Justice of the Peace

Camden, N. J., Nov. 3 [Special].—Gen. Douglas MacArthur isn't running for any office, but he got at least one vote today. When members of the Camden county board of elections opened soldiers' absentee ballots they found a doughboy had cast a ballot for Gen. MacArthur—for justice of the peace of Barrington, N. J.

REPUBLICANS WIN ALL OFFICES IN NEARBY COUNTIES

Pile Up Big Leads in Lake, McHenry, Kane, DuPage.

Five Chicagoland counties in Illinois, normally Republican, gave thumping majorities to the party's candidates for local offices yesterday. There wasn't even a close contest in any of these counties—Will, Du Page, Kane, Lake, and McHenry.

In some sections the balloting was heavy and, with partial returns in, it was estimated that Lake county would establish an off year record with more than 40,000 voters marching to the polls. In some Kane county cities it was reported the ballots cast were far short of registration totals and hardly more than 60 per cent of the 1940 vote.

McHenry county gave the G. O. P. approximately a 5 to 1 indorsement. In Kane county, where the Democrats contested only one office, the sheriff's, the Republican margin was something like 3 to 1. Lake's ratio was more than 2 to 1 and Will county's slightly less.

G. O. P. Wins Two Judgeships.

In the 16th judicial district, which includes Kane and Du Page as well as Kendall and De Kalb counties, two Republicans were elected to fill vacancies on the Circuit bench. They are Charles A. O'Connor of Aurora and Harry W. McEwen of De Kalb. A Democrat, James Herrington Scott, trailed.

The vacancies were created by the election of Judge William J. Fulton to the Illinois Supreme court and the retirement of Judge Frank W. Shepherd because of ill health. With 118 of the 285 precincts in the four counties tallied O'Connor had 30,002 votes, McEwen 29,726, and Scott 8,044.

Votes for individual candidates, based on the precincts that had reported totals up to 1 a. m., were:

Woman Slashes Throat, Drinks Poison in Hotel

A woman who registered as Mrs. Grace Bell of 664 Oak street, Belvidere, Boone county, was found in her room at the Fort Dearborn hotel last night suffering from a deep cut in her throat and from the effects of a disinfectant she had swallowed. Police who took her to St. Luke's hospital said she apparently had attempted suicide. Her condition was said to be grave. Police said the woman, who gave her age as 42, had slashed her coat and four other articles of clothing.

RE-ELECT BROOKS FOR SENATOR BY 150,000 MARGIN

Downstate Voters Beat McKeough in Chicago.

towns were inconclusive. Only 250 out of 775 had reported and they gave McKeough 22,584, Brooks 45,061.

Adamowski was ahead of Day in Chicago by 223,052 when 3,100 of the 3,762 precincts were in. The actual figures were Adamowski, 655,904; Day, 432,852. In addition to the damage done Day by bitter personal attacks made on him, Adamowski had the advantage of the Polish vote.

Hornerites Antagonistic.

Downstate, however, Adamowski's name was not too popular, and he was hurt by the resentment of former Hornerites that Adamowski had made up with the machine in exchange for its backing.

With 2,574 precincts reporting—most of them from the Democratic industrial cities had kept Brooks' total down for a time—Day was beating Adamowski almost 2 to 1, and was receiving 63.4 per cent of the vote. The figures were: Day, 454,241; Adamowski, 261,947.

There were only 380 Cook county precincts heard from on the contests for state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction, but they indicated that in spite of the machine's efforts to bring out a huge straight ticket vote the Republican nominees for these posts were not so far behind the Democrats as the rest of the ticket had run. But the Democrats were ahead about 60,000 in each race.

Downstate, however, showed William J. Stratton, now a congressman at large, was leading W. D. Forsyth by almost 2 to 1. With 2,141 out of 4,172 precincts heard from Stratton had 400,355 and Forsyth 216,007. Apparently Stratton would run second to Brooks.

A similar race was shown in the contest between John A. Wieland, seeking reëlection as superintendent of public instruction, and Vernon L. Nickell of Champaign. A total of 2,113 downstate precincts gave Nickell 370,414 and Wieland 217,310.

University Trustees.

There were returns in from only 898 downstate precincts and 79 Cook county precincts on the race for university trustees, for which each side had a three man team entered. But the Republicans had a 2 to 1 lead in the downstate territory and they did not fall far behind in Cook county.

The Republican nominees whose victory was indicated are Dr. Martin G. Luken, Chester R. Davis, and Frank McKelvey. The Democrats are Prof. T. V. Smith, Kenney Williamson, and Walter L. Williams.

HUNT EX-CONVICT KELLY-NASH AID IN TWO SLUGGINGS

Eddie Sturch, ex-convict Kelly-Nash politician of the 42d ward, was sought for questioning last night after two men, one of them a Republican worker, were slugged yesterday as the climax of a strenuous political battle in that ward. Sturch has been known as an aid and ally of State Sen. William J. Connors.

The slugging victims are Robert Schmidt, 935 North State street, Republican worker in the 31st precinct of the ward, and Gus Krengle, owner of an express company at 7 West Chicago avenue which was used as a polling place for the 46th precinct of the ward. Witnesses said Sturch was seen talking to the sluggers a few minutes before they went into action.

Other election violence and fraud was held to a minimum, due to the watchfulness of thousands of volunteer civilian watchers. John Tyrrell, attorney for the Republican county central committee, complained to Police Commissioner Allman that violence flared in five precincts while the policemen were absent for lunch. They should have been relieved, Tyrrell said. Allman said he was short of policemen.

SABBATH KORN FIRED BY UNION FOR BROOKS AID

Frank Consago, czar of local 143, United Shoe Workers of America, announced to the members last night that the man who exposed the union's plot to smear Sen. Wayland Brooks will himself be smeared thruout the nation by the union's parent organization, the CIO. The man who exposed the plot is Sabbath Korn, the shoe workers' organizer. Consago did not mention him by name.

Consago's threat was made in a meeting at 188 West Randolph street, where several hundred members of the local approved Korn's dismissal by the local's executive board. Consago said he would smear Korn thru Philip Murray, president of the CIO. After the members voted, Consago told them they were "dumb shoemakers" and shouted "I defy THE TRIBUNE."

Korn rebelled last week at union orders to fight Brooks at union meetings and wrote a letter telling of the plot to THE TRIBUNE. Max J. Crocker, attorney for the union, made a tirade against the presence of a Tribune reporter at the meeting last night.

BROOKS GETS A JUMP ON RIVAL— HE VOTES FIRST!

Leading candidates cast their votes early yesterday.

Sen. Wayland Brooks and his wife appeared at 8 a. m. at the polling place of the 14th precinct of the 49th ward at 7465 Rogers avenue. The Democratic nominee for the senate, R. S. McKeough, voted at 10:45 a. m. in the polling place of the 23d precinct of the 8th ward at 1913 West 79th street. He was not accompanied by his wife and daughter, who would vote later in the day, he said.

Gov. Green and his wife cast their votes at the Edgewater Beach hotel, polling place for the 90th precinct of the 48th ward.

An unusual incident occurred during the day at the polling place of the 7th precinct of the 11th ward at 2879 Archer avenue when a woman patient of Holy Cross hospital, accompanied by two nurses, appeared to cast her vote. She was Mrs. Ellen Finucane, 36 years old, of 2912 Loomis street, who told her physician that she would not get well unless she was allowed to vote for Sen. Brooks. She returned to the hospital after casting

ILLINOIS G. O. P. GAINS SEATS IN CONGRESS RACE

Sweep of 15 Downstate Districts Indicated.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Illinois Republicans increased their already one sided holdings in the national lower house, according to incomplete tabulation of the ballots cast yesterday in the state's 25 congressional districts.

Returns late last night showed the G. O. P. probably had made a clean sweep of the 15 downstate districts for a gain of three seats there, and also had a chance to take at least one Cook county district from the Democrats.

A Democratic Defeat.

The Democrats suffered their greatest loss in the 20th [Jacksonville] district, which previously had gone Republican only once in its 41 year history. Sid Simpson of Carrollton apparently had unseated Rep. James M. Barnes by several hundred votes in this district, which was represented for 15 terms by the late Henry T. Rainey, long Democratic speaker in the house.

Charles W. Vursell, Salem publisher, won a smashing victory in the 23d district over Rep. Laurence F. Arnold. It appeared that Vursell had carried nine of the ten counties in the district, and that his plurality might reach 10,000.

Former State Rep. Calvin D. Johnson of Belleville, a Republican, apparently won a close contest with Harry C. Odum of Madison, the Democrat backed by the powerful coalition of East St. Louis factions that had been at war with each other until recently.

Rep. Kelly Trails.

Rep. Edward A. Kelly, incumbent in the 3d district, which includes much of southwest Chicago and Cook county, who had been losing ground to the G. O. P. in the last several elections, trailed Fred E. Busbey, former state director of Americanism for the American Legion, as the returns poured in.

The most serious threat to the Republicans came in Chicago's 9th district, where Rep. Charles S. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the treasury under President Coolidge, was trailing the city hall candidate, Irwin N. Walker, a lawyer who before the campaign was vice president of the Chicago board of education.

Former State Sen. William E. King, G. O. P. nominee for the second time in the 1st district in Chicago, colored stronghold, after leading in the early count, lost his advantage over former Ald. William L. Dawson, who was the Republican congressional candidate four years ago.

In the sprawling 7th district former Ald. James C. Moreland, in his fifth attempt to unseat Rep. Leonard W. Schuetz, ran into hard going before the count was far along, but his backers refused to concede defeat.

First Terms in Congress.

Two Chicago Democrats were assured of election to their first terms in congress. They are Martin Gorski, a master in chancery, who will succeed Rep. Harry P. Beam of the 4th, a candidate for Municipal court judge, and City Treasurer Thomas S. Gordon, whom the Kelly-Nash forces substituted on their slate for Rep. Leo Kocialkowski in the 8th.

Former Congressman Ralph E. Church of Evanston won easily over his Democratic opponent in the 10th, Corporation Counsel Jack Bairstow of Waukegan.

JUNEAU ON ALERT FOR JAP PLANES, SAYS ALASKAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 3.—Juneau, capital of invasion-conscious Alaska, is alert for Japanese air attacks and has a well organized civilian defense prepared for any emergency, Mrs. John Newmarker, wife of a United States marine inspector at the Alaskan capital, said in an interview in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Newmarker said Alaska residents are "very optimistic" concerning the Aleutian situation. She believes the Japs have been stopped and will not find it easy to reach the mainland.

Altho Alaskans haven't "invasion jitters," they are calmly preparing defenses in the event of an invasion, she said. Mrs. Newmarker said the war did not really "come home" to them until the attack on the Aleutians, tho defenses were being built before that.

"You have many Canadian airmen up there, and from what I have seen of them they are boys you well can be proud of," she added.

HOMING PIGEONS WIDELY USED BY BRITISH GUARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Members of the British home guard include many pigeon fanciers who are using their birds extensively to carry messages in home guard exercises. The National Pigeon service, a volunteer organization of fanciers started before the war, is assisting.

Usually the birds used are from a home guard fancier's loft which is nearest to battalion headquarters. When a pigeon returns with a message the fancier takes it to headquarters or reports by phone.

In the north of England, especially in the moorland districts, pigeon services are regarded as vital links of communication. The birds can be released from spots where telephonic or visual communication is impossible. There are places where despatch riders cannot get thru when road blocks have been placed in position, and in such cases the pigeon proves most valuable.

Chandler Is Named WPB Printing, Publishing Chief

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Appointment of William G. Chandler of the Scripps-Howard newspapers as chief of the printing and publishing branch of the War Production board was announced today. He replaces George A. Renard, who recently resigned to devote full time to his duties as executive secretary of the National Association of Purchasing Agents. Chandler has taken a leave of absence as a member of the advisory board of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

U. S. ENVOY AGAIN INVITES CHILEAN CHIEF FOR VISIT

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 3 (AP).—United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers was reported in informed quarters tonight to have reiterated President Roosevelt's invitation to Chilean President Juan Antonio Rios to visit the United States.

President Rios announced postponement of his planned trip several weeks ago at the height of Chilean dissatisfaction with a speech made by United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles charging that Chile and Argentina were permitting their territories to be used by axis agents operating against their neighbors.

President Rios received Ambassador Bowers this afternoon, at which time the envoy was understood to have extended again the invitation for him to visit the United States.

ALLOW 20 DAYS FOR YULE MAIL, KRUETGEN WARNS

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen yesterday praised the coöperation of the public in mailing Christmas gifts early to service men overseas. Now he asks that the public also mail early in sending Christmas gifts to civilian relatives and friends, and to service men in the continental United States. Packages and cards should be mailed at least 20 to 25 days before Christmas, he advises. This is necessary, he explained, because of the war use of transportation systems and of the loss of many experienced postal employés to the armed forces.

JARECKI SWEEPS TO VICTORY, TOPS COUNTY TICKET

Carey Ahead of Carr in Sheriff Race.

Democratic ticket was Peter Fosco with 80,788.

The other Democratic candidates are Maurice F. Kaxanagh, Daniel Ryan, Harry E. Perry, Elizabeth A. Conkey, John E. Traeger, Mary McEnerney, Edward M. Sneed, and Frank Bobrytzke.

The other Republican candidates are Douglas K. Huntress, J. B. Martin, Walter J. Barth, Gladys E. Specht, Harold R. Blomstrand, Michael J. Rudnik, O. Stanton De Priest, and Alexander Keehn.

In 264 city precincts in the city Clayton F. Smith, Democratic candidate for president of the county board, had 62,003 and his opponent, William Busse [R.], 26,591. In 150 precincts in the country towns Smith had 12,315 and Busse 23, 725.

Flynn Beats Larson.

Returns from 264 Chicago precincts gave for county clerk, Michael J. Flynn [D.], 62,027 and Loyd C. Larson [R.], 26,583. In 264 suburban precincts, Flynn had 12,842 and Larson 23,221 votes.

For county treasurer, 264 city precincts gave Victor L. Schlaeger [D.] 61,565 and Samuel L. Workman [R.] 26,486. One hundred fifty suburban precincts gave Schlaeger 12,273 and Workman 23,330.

For county assessor 150 city precincts gave John S. Clark [D.] 62,506 and Theron W. Merryman [R.] 26,886. One hundred suburban precincts gave Clark 13,445 and Merryman 22,339.

On the offices of sanitary district trustees the 414 precincts in the county gave Thomas F. Byrne, A. F. Maciejewski, Paul V. Coliani, and James J. Polodna, all Democrats, approximately 70,000 votes each, and Republicans Raymond S. Blunt, John S. Norris, John C. Fiddelke, and Henry R. Leadman, approximately 44,000 votes each.

Lyman Leads Granata.

For the office of Probate court clerk. 264 precincts in the city gave Frank Lyman [D.], 61,657, and William Granata [R.], 27,750, while 150 country town precincts gave Lyman 12,421 and Granata 23,100. For Criminal court clerk, the same number city precincts gave Thomas J. Bowler [D.], 60,265, and Ralph Goodman [R.], 26,335, while the same number of suburban precincts reported 12,100 for Bowler and 23,394 for Goodman.

Noble J. Puffer [D.], led his Republican opponent, Charles S. Stewart, for the office of county superintendent of schools in the same city precincts by 60,768 to 26,944. In 150 suburban precincts Puffer received 12,448 and Stewart 23,205.

NAVY WILL MOVE INTO OFFICES OF WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—The war and navy departments are going to be housed under one roof, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox announced today.

He said that the navy had accepted an invitation from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson to move into the war department's huge new pentagon building across the Potomac river in suburban Virginia, which was designed to house 35,000 or more federal workers.

He said the greater part of naval activities would be centered there and that the war department would take over the Washington building now occupied by the navy.

Sole 3 Candidates Backed by President Are Defeated

New York, Nov. 3 [Special].—The only three candidates who carried the personal indorsement of President Roosevelt in today's elections went down to defeat on the basis of late returns. They were John J. Bennett Jr., Democratic nominee for governor of New York; Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska, independent candidate to succeed himself, and Judge Ferdinand A. Hoyt, Democratic opponent of Rep. Hamilton Fish in the President's home congressional district.

OHIO'S GOVERNOR BRICKER WINS IN G. O. P. LANDSLIDE

Republican Rule of State Delegation Indicated.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—An avalanche of Republican ballots in Tuesday's election gave Gov. John W. Bricker a third term early today and Republicans apparently won control of Ohio's important congressional delegation.

Democrat Admits Defeat.

Former Congressman John McSweeney of Wooster, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, conceded Bricker's "overwhelming" victory with 6,616 of Ohio's 8,858 precincts reported.

The totals at 12:55 a. m. [Chicago war time] in the Associated Press tabulation were: Bricker, 742,737, and McSweeney, 497,377.

Republican Congressman George Bender was far ahead of the Democrat incumbent, Stephen M. Young, in state-wide voting for a congress at large position as Republicans led in 17 of 22 district congressional contests. Rep. Jacob Davis, Democrat, in the 6th district was another congressman definitely unseated.

Returns from 6,223 precincts gave Bender 624,325 and Young 460,458.

Bricker, already mentioned as a possible "favorite son" figure in the 1944 presidential race, said in a statement, "I shall keep my promise of no new or increased state taxes . . . and keep Ohio ahead in the war effort."

Attacked as Isolationist.

Bricker campaigned on his promise that a $20,000,000 state treasury surplus would insure against any new taxes during the next biennium. McSweeney charged that the surplus was accumulated at the expense of double taxation by local subdivisions.

Young's campaigning was directed chiefly at Bender's pre-Pearl Harbor isolationist policy, while Bender contended Young voted against extension of the selective service act, had hailed Japan as a friend of the United States and had attacked leadership of the British empire after Pearl Harbor.

Marshal Timoshenko Gets 6 Votes for N. J. Sheriff

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 3 (AP).—Marshal Timoshenko, the Russian warrior, received six votes for sheriff of Hudson county today. The votes, cast in two districts, did not jeopardize the prospects of William J. McGovern, Democratic nominee for sheriff in this super-Democratic county, stronghold of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City.

M'NARY IS AHEAD FOR RE-ELECTION IN OREGON POLL

G. O. P. Candidates Build Up Heavy Leads.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 3 (AP).—Republican candidates, paced by Sen. Charles L. McNary and Secretary of State Earl Snell, candidate for governor, built up big leads in 96 of Oregan's 1,770 precincts tonight.

The tabulation gave McNary 9,615 votes to 3,535 for Walter W. Whitbeck, Democrat. Snell was leading State Sen. Lew Wallace 10,066 to 3,195.

Representatives James W. Mott and Homer D. Angell, both Republicans who were charged by their opponents with being pre-Pearl Harbor isolationists, also were leading.

G. O. P. Ahead in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 3 (AP).—Republican candidates for major Colorado offices, including Gov. Ralph Carr, stanch champion of state's rights, took leads over their Democratic opponents in early returns.

Carr, campaigning for the United States senate against the Democratic Sen. Ed C. Johnson, had 6,088 votes against Johnson's 5,134 after 54 of the state's 1,669 precincts were counted.

Another Republican, Sen. Eugene D. Millikin, led Democrat James A. Marsh, 6,336 to 3,521, with 50 precincts counted. They seek a short term for a seat vacated by the death of Sen. Alva Adams.

Slight Lead in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 3 (AP).—Identical totals in two major Wyoming contests gave the Republican candidates for governor and senator slight leads in early returns from today's election.

E. V. Robertson, Republican, was leading his Democratic opponent, Sen. Harry H. Schwartz, by 2,265 to 1,838 after 78 of the state's 689 precincts were counted, while Republican Gov. Nels H. Smith led Democrat Lester C. Hunt 2,172 to 2,063 in the race for the governorship.

Democrat Leads in Nevada.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 3 (AP).—Rep. James G. Scrugham, Democrat, took a slim lead over Cecil W. Creel, Republican, in the race for the unexpired senate term of the late Key Pittman as Nevada's first returns were counted tonight. Most of the precincts were in Reno. Eighteen precincts out of 289 gave Scrugham 937, Creel 802. Gov. E. P. Carville, Democrat, also took a lead over A. V. Tallman, Republican, in the gubernatorial race, the same districts giving Carville 806 to Tallman's 651.

G. O. P. Trails in Arizona.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 3 (AP).—Democratic nominees jumped into an early lead of more than two to one in Arizona, with indications they would sweep all state offices.

With returns from 177 of 446 precincts Gov. Sidney P. Osborn, Democratic incumbent, had 13,370 votes against 6,215 for his Republican opponent, Jerrie W. Lee, making his third bid for the office.

Rep. John R. Murdock, seeking his fourth term, and Richard F. Harless, youthful Maricopa county prosecutor, were leading their Republican opponents for Arizona's two congressional seats at large by more than three to one.

Murray Leads in Montana.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 3 (AP).—Early returns from Montana's election sent Democratic Sen. James E. Murray of Butte into a short lead over Wellington D. Rankin, Helena Republican, in the senatorial race. One hundred three precincts of the state's 1,185 gave Murray, 10,728, Rankin 9,973.

Rankin, a brother of Congresswoman Jeanette Rankin, who cast the only congressional vote against war after Pearl Harbor, charged Murray had worked against the western farmers and live stock growers.

Hatch Appears Winner.

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 3 (AP).—Early returns from New Mexico, swelled by heavy Democratic majorities from east side counties, gave the entire Democratic ticket a two to one majority on the basis of unofficial tabulations tonight.

Incomplete returns appeared to assure Democratic Sen. Carl A. Hatch of reëlection. Hatch led his ticket with a majority of approximately 3 to 1 over J. Benson Newell, the Republican candidate.

John J. Dempsey was well out in front of Joseph F. Tondre, the Republican candidate for governor, leading in every county but one.

Sen. Thomas Ahead in Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 3 (AP).—Sen. John Thomas [R., Idaho] held a scant lead tonight on early returns which gave him 20,481 to 18,574 for his Democratic opponent, Glen Taylor, with 27 precincts out of 846 reporting. Gov. Chase A. Clark, Democratic incumbent, was trailing his Republican opponent, former Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen with 17,439 votes to 18,184 for Bottolfsen with 235 precincts reported.

MEDALS GIVEN ILLINOIS GUNNER AND TWO PILOTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—Two navy pilots who flew Torpedo planes against the Japanese at Tulagi harbor, inflicting severe damage to enemy ships, were awarded the navy cross today for extraordinary heroism.

Edward J. Williamson, 32, Tiverton, R. I., was credited in a citation with aiding in the sinking of a Japanese carrier. The other cross went to Sidney W. Quick, 27, Rhimeland, Mo., who aided in sinking or damaging eight Japanese ships.

A silver star medal was awarded Reginald Mills, 22, gunner's mate of Orient, Ill., for gallantry in action at Christmas Island March 1, during the attack on the U. S. S. Pecos by Japanese planes.

DEMOCRATS GAIN EARLY LEADS FOR CITY JUDGESHIPS

Bailiff Horan, Clerk Gill Also Are Ahead.

Returns from 385 scattered precincts at 1:30 o'clock this morning indicated that the sitting Democratic chief justice and judges of the Municipal court had been returned to the bench. The figures, all coming from Democratic strongholds, showed the Democrats leading more than 2 to 1. The early returns indicated that the Republicans indorsed by the Chicago Bar association had not been able to overcome the Kelly-Nash machine even in districts least under machine control.

Figures for 475 precincts out of 3,762 gave Albert J. Horan, Democrat, for bailiff, 109,833 to 49,556 for his Republican opponent, Howard E. Reddy. Joseph L. Gill, Democratic clerk of the court, got 109,483 to 49,655 for Clement Nance, Republican.

Here are the figures on the nominees for the bench:

The few votes given to John R. McSweeney, Democrat, former member of the Illinois legislature, demonstrated that a write-in campaign started for him had failed. This futile campaign was started a few days ago in the belief that a successor to Judge Lambert K. Hayes, who died last July 17, might be chosen in this way. McSweeney had opposition within the Democratic machine. Boss Pat Nash ordered him purged several years ago.

MOVE TO FORCE PAY ROLLER TO SERVE SENTENCE

John P. Brosnan, a Democratic city hall pay roller, will be arraigned today before Judge George L. Quilici in Felony court in a move to send him to the Bridewell to serve a sentence of one year imposed more than eight years ago on a charge of molesting a small girl.

Brosnan, who is 39 years old, lives at 4851 Quincy street and is employed in the city bureau of sewers. He was taken into custody Monday on orders of Myron Lewis, assistant state's attorney, who had prosecuted him in March, 1934. Lewis discovered Brosnan had never served his sentence, altho he had lost all appeals.

The only explanation given by Brosnan was that police never arrested him for committal to the Bridewell. Prosecutor Lewis charged that detective bureau records of Brosnan's case are missing and a vital warrant also is missing from the Municipal court clerk's office. Lewis said that even while Brosnan was dodging the sentence, he was placed on probation in September, 1941, on an indecent exposure charge.

EVANSTON VOTES $86,000 IN BONDS FOR CITY HALL

On a special ballot the voters in Evanston approved yesterday a proposal that the city issue $86,000 of bonds to purchase the building of the Country club of Evanston at Lake street and Oak avenue for future use as a city hall. The vote was 15,623 for and 6,385 against the proposition. The deal, already accepted by the city council, will be carried thru at once, it was announced. Remodeling of the club building at an estimated cost of $50,000 will be delayed until after the war. The plan is for the city to sell its present city hall when the new one is ready.

The outcome of some of the house races will not be definitely known for a day or two.

VOTERS APPROVE 'L' LINES RIGHT TO USE SUBWAY

Food Tax Issue Fails to Carry Majority.

Voters yesterday apparently upheld by large majorities the city traction ordinance granting the elevated lines the right to operate trains thru the new downtown subway and an amendment to two sections of the Municipal court act of 1905. However, the proposal to eliminate the state sales tax on foods was running below the necessary majority of all ballots cast. It appeared probable the outcome will not be known definitely until all returns are in.

Returns from 185 of the city's 3,762 precincts showed 29,250 for and 6,898 against the amendments to sections 22 and 38 of the Municipal court act. These amendments, which must be made by referendum because the original act was passed by referendum, were sponsored by the Illinois State Bar association as part of a move to modernize and streamline legal practice and procedure.

Makes Minor Change in Wording.

The amendment to section 22 would merely change the expression "bill in equity" to read "suit in equity" in one place, and "complaint in equity" in another.

The change in section 38 will require that reports of proceedings be filed and approved by the judges of the Municipal court before whom the cases were tried within 50 days from the day judgment is entered instead of 60 days as now.

Many voters failed to mark their ballots for elimination of the state sales tax, and under the state law failure to mark a ballot constitutes a negative vote. Therefore 51 per cent of the total vote cast in the state must be affirmative in order to amend the constitution to remove the tax.

47 Per Cent of Total Cast.

With a total of 258,744 votes in, many of these from downstate, only 62,283 were marked "yes." This was an approximate 47 per cent of the total cast.

Failure of many voters to mark their ballots was ascribed in some quarters to the fact that other means would be necessary to raise the tax derived from food sales. During the fiscal year, 1941-'42, approximately $26,450,705, or 31 per cent of Illinois' $85,251,941 income from the retail occupation tax came from businesses dealing principally in food.

Four Firemen Overcome in Trucking Plant Blaze

Four firemen were overcome, one seriously, and damage estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000 was caused yesterday by fire at the trucking plant of the Interstate Dispatch corporation, 2700 South Halsted street. Philip Semon, 37 years old, of Engine company 28, was taken to St. Anthony's hospital for treatment. Three other firemen were treated at the scene. The blaze, which started in the basement, was of unknown origin.

G. O. P. CONTROL OF LEGISLATURE WON DOWNSTATE

Gains There Overbalance Chicago Losses.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Downstate Republicans were mainly responsible yesterday for repelling a Democratic threat to capture control of the Illinois legislature, which might imperil Gov. Dwight H. Green's administration.

Democrats apparently made inroads upon the Cook county G. O. P. delegation, but the Republicans bade fair to increase their already heavy representation elsewhere.

On the senate side the Democrats took the 17th district on Chicago's west side, unseating Sen. James B. Leonardo; Republicans took comfort in the fact that he had not always voted according to his party label. The 1st district senate seat apparently was about to fall to a Democrat, Lawrence E. Dowd, handbook attorney.

East St. Louis Republican Leads.

Republicans apparently took the 49th district senate seat of Louis J. Menges of East St. Louis, whose opponent was John T. Thomas of Belleville. Returns slowly percolating thru from the University of Chicago district [the 5th] showed a former honor student, George D. Mills, still threatening Sen. John B. Geary, Democrat.

At worst, it appeared that the G. O. P. majority of 28 to 23 in the upper chamber might be cut by 1.

Democratic machine power was demonstrated in the 27th district on the Chicago west side, where apparently all three house seats were clutched. The lone G. O. P. nominee, Rep. Eugene P. Dukes, apparently did not squeeze thru, altho the Democratic votes had to be divided among three nominees, Rep. A. L. Auth and John Kuklinski, and a newcomer, Anthony C. Prusinski, chief deputy coroner.

Other Threats by Democrats.

Tardy precinct figures also indicated success for the initial Democratic attempt to take additional house seats in the south side 1st [including downtown] and 3d districts, which are largely colored. One G. O. P. house seat in the 5th, also south side, was also endangered.

To counterbalance these losses, at least in part, Republicans were waiting with fingers crossed for final returns from the downstate 30th and 46th districts, where it appeared that the Brooks sweep was brushing up G. O. P. house gains.

Dorothy Thompson Loses Rare Editions in Fire

New York, Nov. 3 [Special].—Dorothy Thompson, columnist and radio commentator tonight was routed from her residence on East 48th street by a fire which she estimated destroyed one-third of her library of 2,000 books, many of them first editions. Air raid wardens assisted Miss Thompson in carrying many of her books, pieces of antique Chinese jade and other valued possessions to safety. Firemen soon extinguished the flames which started in a small washroom. The cause was not determined.

52 of Them!

MISS ALICIA FRASER.

When a certain soldier in South Carolina opens his Christmas box this year he's going to find this picture of the girl who's waiting for him. And he's going to get 52 other presents from the same girl. They'll be sent to him, one each week, all year long—52 issues of his favorite weekly magazine. What better way to cheer that man in uniform? Miss Fraser is sending magazines to her family this year, too—a keen boy's magazine to her kid brother; a leading fashion book to her clothes-loving aunt; a homemaker's favorite to her mother; a news digest to Dad. Mr. A. Franklin, manager of Post Office News at 37 W. Monroe Street [Randolph 4386], will be glad to take orders for subscriptions to all magazines, whether they are to be sent here or abroad. SEN. NORRIS FAR BEHIND WHERRY IN NEBRASKA COUNT

G.O.P. Congressional and State Tickets Lead.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3 (AP).—Veteran Sen. George W. Norris, who ran with President Roosevelt's support, was threatened with defeat in Nebraska's election tonight as early returns showed a surge of Republican votes for Kenneth S. Wherry, Republican nominee, and for the party's state and congressional ticket.

Returns from 932 precincts out of 2,046 gave Wherry 83,894 votes, Norris 49,545, May 39,996, and Ruthven 740.

For governor, Democratic candidate Charles W. Bryan, appeared destined for defeat. Republican incumbent Dwight Griswold early held a 132,347 to 47,111 lead on 970 precincts.

MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 3 (AP).—Harold E. Stassen, Minnesota's 35 year old Republican governor, bidding for his third term, and Sen. Joseph H. Ball, Republican, held steadily growing leads in early returns tonight.

Ball, former newspaper man Stassen appointed in 1940 to succeed the late Farmer-Labor Sen. Ernest Lundeen, led a field of four in the senate race, and Ed Thye, Republican, Northfield farmer, was in the van among candidates for lieutenant governor.

Returns from 282 of the state's 3,712 precincts gave Ball 38,999 votes to 23,827 for Elmer Benson, Farmer-Laborite; 8,267 for Ed Murphy, Democrat, and 7,962 for Martin Nelson, who filed by petition as an independent candidate.

Returns from 237 precincts gave Stassen 39.083 to 30,447 for Hjalmar Petersen, Farmer-Labor, and 8,205 for John Sullivan, Democrat.

MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3 (AP).—Republicans led tonight in seven of Missouri's congressional districts in mounting returns that threatened to upset the Democratic majority in the delegation for the first time since the Roosevelt landslide of 1932.

The last lineup was 10 Democrats to three Republicans.

KANSAS

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 3 (AP).—Veteran Sen. Arthur Capper and Andrew Schoeppel, candidate for governor, pulled away from their Democratic opponents in early returns tonight to lead Republicans in what appeared another near sweep for their party in Kansas.

Capper, 77 years old and seeking his fifth senatorial term, was more than 3 to 2 in front of Democrat George McGill, defeated four years ago by Sen. Clyde M. Reed.

Schoeppel, Ness City attorney and former state corporation commission attorney, had about the same edge over William H. Burke, 63, Little River stockman.

Complete, unofficial returns from 315 out of 2,740 precincts gave Schoeppel 33,478 and Burke 23,432; 611 precincts gave Capper 60,652 to 40,026 for McGill.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 3 (AP).—Harlan D. Bushfield, two term Republican governor, was holding a commanding lead tonight over Democrat Tom Berry in the senatorial race.

With 783 of the state's 1,963 precincts reported, Bushfield rolled up 37,143 votes against 24,144 for Berry.

Former Attorney General M. O. Sharpe, Republican gubernatorial candidate, led Democrat Lewis W. Bicknell, 37,617 to 21,705, with reports from 731 precincts.

NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 3 (AP).—Gov. John Moses, heading the Democratic-Republican coalition ticket, and seeking a third term, held a lead tonight over his Nonpartisan league [Republican] opponent, Lieut. Gov. Oscar W. Hagen on scattered early returns.

Moses was leading as follows on returns from 273 of 2,260 precincts: Moses, 12,179; Hagen, 7,014.

In the five way congressional race in which two will be elected at large, Rep. Usher L. Burdick, Republican nonpartisan leaguer, was leading the field, but was following within 2,200 votes by former Congressman William Lemke, a Republican.

REPUBLICANS WIN GENEROUS LEADS IN WEST VIRGINIA

Neely Trails in Vote for Senate Seat.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—West Virginia voters, exhibiting the most pronounced Republican trend in 12 years, presented a 24,000 vote lead today to Chapman Revercomb, Charleston attorney, who ran for the United States senate against the veteran Democrat, Gov. M. M. Neely.

Neely, who resigned his senate seat nearly two years ago to become governor and then sought to return to Washington before his four year term as state executive was finished, fell farther and farther behind as the unofficial tabulation mounted to include more than half the precincts in the mountain state.

The trend against Neely, veteran of 30 years in politics which included three terms in the senate, was in sharp contrast to the August primary in which he won the senatorial nomination 137,937 to 67,018.

Hugh Ike Shott Sr., Bluefield publisher and Republican candidate for the United States senate short term—the two months between election day and the swearing of the new senator—moved out in front of Sen. Joseph Rosier, Democrat, but he did not have the margin accredited to Revercomb.

Shott, with approximately half the state's precincts included in the unofficial count, led by approximately 7,500 votes.

After midnight 1,507 precincts of 2,796 gave Neely [D.] 122,946, Revercomb [R.] 147,864. A total of 1,461 precincts of 2,796 gave Rosier [D.] 122,446, Shott [R.] 130,148.

Three of the state's six Democratic representatives in congress, all of whom ran for reëlection, stood in danger of losing their seats altho the margins were not decisive. Those trailing included Reps. R. L. Ramsay, A. Edmiston and G. Johnson. Rep. Jennings Randolph came from behind to take a lead over his Republican opponent.

NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 3 [Special].—On the basis of scattered returns in the New Jersey election for the United States senate, most of them from Republican counties, Albert W. Hawkes, Republican, was leading Sen. William H. Smathers, Democrat and present incumbent, by nearly three to one.

Returns from 2,699 of the state's 3,635 election districts gave Hawkes 410,103 to Smathers' 465,624.

A report from Essex county not included in the state total for the 259 districts gave Hawkes 40,417 votes to 28,498 for Smathers. Of the districts reported, 120 were in the city of Newark, normally Republican, and 110 in the city's suburbs.

In Jersey City, leading metropolis of Hudson county, the state's Democratic stronghold, returns from 92 of the city's 311 districts gave Smathers a better than seven to one lead over Hawkes. The vote was Smathers, 25,695; Hawkes, 3,981.

DELAWARE

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 3 (AP).—Former Republican Gov. C. Douglas Buck and E. Ennals Berl, Democrat, were running neck and neck for United States senate in early returns from Delaware's election tonight.

Reports from 190 of the state's 249 precincts gave Buck 27,156 votes to 23,500 for Berl, Delaware civilian adviser to the secretary of war. Virtually all of the early returns came from Wilmington.

Rep. Philip A. Traynor, Wilmington Democrat and the state's lone representative in the house, took an early lead in his bid for reëlection against Secretary of State Earle D. Willey, Dover Republican.

Traynor polled 8,891 votes in the first 85 precincts to report, and Willey 8,581.

MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor clung to a slim lead over Theodore R. McKeldin, his Republican opponent, early today as returns from Maryland counties began trickling in to add to the complete unofficial total of Baltimore city, Democratic stronghold where O'Conor failed to pile up the heavy margin expected.

With 570 of the state's 1,321 polling places reporting, O'Conor had an unofficial count of 89,777 votes against 82,316 for McKeldin, 41 year old Baltimore attorney. In 1934, when the Republicans won the governorship, that party's candidate received sufficient votes in the counties to wipe out a 20,000 vote advantage given the Democrats in Baltimore.

O'Conor had only a 3,641 vote lead in Baltimore city with returns complete.

One Republican, Daniel Ellison, a member of Baltimore city council, broke Maryland's hitherto solid Democratic bloc in the national house of representatives, winning a seat in a Baltimore city district. Ellison defeated Joseph M. Wyatt, Democrat.

BOY FROM GERMANY ENLISTS TWO PALS IN FOUR TON SCRAP DRIVE

An 18 year old refugee who came here three years ago from Essen, Germany, is the organizer of a three boy committee which has gathered four tons of scrap. He is Walter Cohn of 1962 East 73d place, who, with two 17 year old pals from Tilden Technical High school, borrowed a trailer and picked up two tons of scrap yesterday, a holiday because of the election. This and two tons they gathered last week is being donated to their school's scrap drive.

Walter has a brother, Herman, 19, in army officers' training school at Fort Sill, Okla., and he says he hopes to enter the army air force when he graduates from Tilden next year. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Siegfried Cohn, who came to this country shortly after he did. Walter's helpers are Sheldon Kaplan of 2120 East 73d street and Harry Reckas of 6205 South Albany avenue.

The boys borrowed a trailer from Leo Simborg of 7358 Stony Island avenue yesterday and furnished a car to pull it, canvassing merchants and stores on the south side and in South Chicago for donations. Among items they gathered were 2,000 keys, 20 auto wheels, two stoves, and 25 to 30 old tires.

G. O. P. CAPTURES GOVERNORSHIP IN CONNECTICUT

Baldwin Defeats Hurley; Mrs. Luce Wins.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Gov. Robert A. Hurley [D.] conceded the election early today to his Republican gubernatorial rival, Raymond E. Baldwin. At that time Baldwin, who lost the governorship to Hurley two years ago, led the incumbent by 16,000 votes.

Rep. Leroy Downs [D.] of Connecticut's 4th district conceded the election to Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce of Greenwich [R.], playwright and lecturer.

With Republicans counting heavily on the late reporting rural areas, unofficial results in 121 out of 169 towns, including most of the state's biggest cities, gave Hurley 231,473 against 247,784 for Baldwin and 30,291 for Jasper McLevy, Socialist, who two years ago polled only 18,000 for the entire state.

In 12 of the state's biggest cities, Hurley saw his 1940 majorities cut from 77,604 to 42,963. These included Bridgeport, which the governor carried two years ago by 13,000 votes compared with 6,000 this year; New Haven, which gave Hurley a 7,000 majority as against 13,000 in 1940, and Hartford where Hurley's 1940 majority of 16,000 dwindled to only 10,000.

With only strongly Republican towns remaining to be counted, Mrs. Luce led Downs by 5,083 votes.

MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, Republican, who was mentioned during the campaign as a possible favorite son presidential candidate in 1944, won reëlection to a third term late last night when his Democratic opponent, Mayor Roger Lowell Putnam of Springfield, conceded his defeat.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R.], and Rep. Joseph E. Casey [D.] were in a close race for United States senator.

Late returns in the governor race, with 968 precincts out of 1,842 reported, gave Putnam [D.] 302,955, Saltonstall [R.] 345,380. A total of 823 precincts out of 1,842 for senator gave Casey [D.], 259,818, Lodge [R.], 260,181.

Major Bay State interest centered also on the count on a controversial birth control referendum. With 77 out of 1,842 precincts tabulated, the vote stood 10,994 to 10,784 against a proposal to allow physicians to give contraceptive advice to married persons "for the protection of life and health."

The Massachusetts campaign provided in Saltonstall and Putnam two millionaire, "blue blooded" Harvard graduates, and in Lodge and Casey two highly personable young veterans of Washington affairs.

Plumley is seeking a third term as Vermont's lone representative in the house and Wills, a second term. Neither of them conducted active campaigns, the governor devoting the last few days before election simply to urging the voters to exercise their franchise.

Neither of the state's two senators was up for election this year.

RHODE ISLAND

Providence, R. I., Nov. 3 (AP).—Democratic incumbents swept back into all four of Rhode Island's top offices tonight with James O. McManus, Republican, deciding the closest of the contests by conceding the reëlection of Democratic Gov. J. Howard McGrath.

Returned to their Washington offices also were Sen. Theodore F. Green and Representatives Aime J. Forand and John E. Fogarty.

With 230 of the 260 precincts counted in the Union's smallest state, McGrath led McManus by 118,600 to 86,997, but many of the uncounted districts were normally heavily Democratic and McManus congratulated his opponent long before midnight.

In 259 of 260 precincts, Green led former Judge Ira Lloyd Letts [R.] 137,662 to 99,830, while Representatives Forand and Fogarty enjoyed plularities of approximately 20,000 and 16,000, respectively.

VERMONT

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 3 (AP).—Vermont maintained its traditionally Republican complexion tonight by returning to office Gov. William H. Wills and Rep. Charles A. Plumley.

On the basis of nearly complete returns the Republican incumbents scored sweeping victories over their Democratic opponents. Wills, seeking a second term, polled 44,588 votes in 245 of the state's 246 cities and towns to 12,852 for Park H. Pollard [D.]. Plumley received 40,437 votes to 17,394 for John B. Candon in the same 245 cities and towns to gain a third term as the state's lone representative in the house.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 3 (AP).—Nip-and-tuck contests for United States senate and governor were indicated tonight as returns mounted in New Hampshire's election.

With the ballots of 170 precincts out of 296 in the state counted, United States Sen. Styles Bridges, Republican, seeking a third term, polled 39,358 votes to 36,396 for former Gov. Francis P. Murphy, who switched from the Republican to the Democratic party last summer.

Gov. Robert O. Blood, Republican, seeking a third term, received 37,247 votes to 37,371 for William J. Neal, Democrat, with 170 precincts reported.

ALIENISTS QUIZ KADENS; REPORT TO COURT TODAY

Irwin Kadens, army desperado who conducted a one-man crime wave for several weeks until his capture, was examined in the County jail yesterday by two alienists appointed Monday by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro, of the Criminal court, before whom Kadens is on trial.

The alienists, Dr. John J. Madden, chairman of the neurology department of Loyola Medical school, and Dr. V. G. Urse, director of the psychopathic hospital, are to submit their report to Judge Sbarbaro today.

If they hold Kadens insane, prosecution of criminal charges will be dropped, and he will be sent to a state institution. He was placed on trial for robbery Monday, but the trial was delayed pending the sanity test. If the report is that Kadens is sane, the trial will proceed at once.

Ballots Fail to Arrive; Yanks Abroad Lose Votes

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—Election day was just another day of drill and work for American soldiers in Britain, who didn't cast a single ballot. Altho recent legislation by congress gave soldiers the right to vote, ballots failed to arrive.

6 OF 8 WOMEN WIN OFFICES IN ELECTION RACE

Rep. Sumner Holds Lead Over Male Opponent.

Women, who were the power behind the polls in Illinois, did not forget their own in the battle of the ballots yesterday. By 1 a. m. it appeared that they had elected the majority of the women candidates, a sextette of petticoat politicians, four of whom were Republicans. Only two women, also Republicans, faced defeat.

Heading the victorious vanguard was Rep. Jessie Sumner, Milford, Republican incumbent for congress in the 18th district, who easily outpaced her Democratic opponent, Fred E. Butcher, Danville, a mining promoter, in the early returns. Jessie, as she is known thruout the length of her 200 mile shoestring district, seemed assured of her third term in congress by 1 a. m., when two-thirds of her 200 precincts guaranteed her a plurality of 16,000 votes.

Mrs. Pikiel Trailing.

The other woman who attempted to win a seat in congress but who was trailing behind according to early results, was Mrs. Rena Pikiel, Republican candidate in the 8th district. Mrs. Pikiel, a lawyer and housewife, made a one woman campaign against the Kelly-Nash hand picked candidate, Thomas S. Gordon, city treasurer.

Forty-five precincts of 117 by 1 a. m. reported Mrs. Pikiel was trailing with 3,828 votes to Gordon's 12,552.

The veteran Democratic county commissioners, Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, national Democratic committeewoman, and Miss Mary McEnerney, vice president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, seemed certain to retain their offices with a likely Democratic victory among the city candidates for the county board.

First Time as Candidates.

The only Republican woman seeking a place on the county board was Mrs. Gladys Specht, public welfare worker and church woman, who was running for public office for the first time. By 1 a. m. 360 precincts out of 3,762 showed Mrs. Specht to have 36,766 votes while her feminine Democratic opponents averaged 82,000 each.

Three Republican women retained their offices as representatives in the Illinois legislature without a contest. They were Mrs. Bernice T. Van der Vries of Winnetka, 7th district; Mrs. Maud N. Peffers of Aurora, 14th district, and Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, 41st district.

ANTI-NEW DEALER INCREASES LEAD ON SEN. JOSH LEE

Republican Congressman Ahead in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 3 (AP).—E. H. Moore, a Willkie Democrat running on the Republican ticket for United States senator, widened his lead over Sen. Josh Lee, ardent New Dealer seeking reëlection, with unofficial returns tabulated from more than one-third of the precincts in today's election.

The count stood Moore 68,526 to Lee's 61,375 in 1,250 of 3,690 precincts after Lee had climbed within 47 votes of Moore in an earlier compilation. Returns represented all parts of the state.

Moore's running mate, W. J. Otjen, Enid attorney, candidate on the Republican ticket for governor against Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma City oil man, dropped his early advantage and was trailing Kerr, 34,074 to 26,883, in 723 precincts.

Oklahoma's only Republican congressman, Ross Rizley, 49 year old Guymon attorney, was ahead of his Democratic opponent, 38 year old Julius Cox, Boise City, in one of the hardest fought state races, but the seven other congressmen, all Democrats, were leading Republican opponents in early tabulations.

DEMOCRATS GAIN

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3 (AP).—The Democratic south, with its party choices settled, ratified in today's general election the outcome of earlier primary battles.

Chief aspect of the balloting, light in comparison to primary voting, was the addition of three new members to the Democratic side of the house of representatives. Their seats were created by the 1940 reapportionment of congressional districts which gave North Carolina, Tennessee, and Florida each another representative.

Rep. R. A. [Lex] Green, who formerly represented the 2d Florida district, goes in as representative at large without opposition. His old 2d district seat was won in the primary by Emory H. Price, who also was unopposed.

Cameron Morrison, millionaire former United States senator and ex-governor, won the Democratic nomination for North Carolina's new 10th district [Charlotte], and was elected over Republican Charles A. Jonas, who served one term in the house when the Tarheel state voted for Hoover in 1928.

McCord Without Opposition.

J. N. McCord obtained the Democratic nomination for Tennessee's new 5th district and had no opposition.

House Whip Robert Ramspeck of Georgia's 5th district was unworried by the opposition of Independent H. A. Alexander.

Incumbent Democratic senators, certain of the formality of election, did little campaigning.

In Alabama, Sen. John H. Bankhead was unopposed. John L. McClellan won the party nomination in Arkansas and likewise had no opposition. Sen. Richard B. Russell was opposed by Mrs. Levert Dwyer Shivers. But the vote was Russell's.

Sen. Ellender Unopposed.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana was unopposed, as was Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi and Sen. Burnet R. Maybank of South Carolina.

Sen. Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina defeated his Republican opponent, Sam J. Marris. Another Democrat, Sen. Tom Stewart of Tennessee was opposed by L. T. Meacham, Republican. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas was assured reëlection by 10 p. m. when he had piled up 40,493 votes against the 1,541 of Dudley Lawson, Republican, his principal opponent.

Veteran Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia successfully opposed Socialist Lawrence S. Wilkes and Mrs. Alice Burke, Communist.

Sen. A. B. Chandler [D., Ken.] apparently had won election to a full six year term. With 3,129 of Kentucky's 4,339 precincts tabulated, Chandler had 160,577 votes to 116,216 for his Republican opponent, Richard J. Colbert of Lexington.

Democratic nominees for the house had opposition in some places, but indicative of the lack of interest in these races was the small campaign expenses of Democratic nominees.

In Kentucky, Chairman A. J. May of the powerful military affairs committee of the house, pulled into the lead for reëlection from the 7th district over Dr. Elmer E. Gabbard, Republican. Returns from 96 of the 362 precincts in the district gave May 7,021 votes to 6,380 for Gabbard.

Gubernatorial candidates had no qualms.

Based on returns from 102 counties out of 254, with three complete, Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas was assured reëlection. The count was 42,983 for Stevenson against 1,152 for C. K. McDowell, Republican.

[THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by E. A. Walsh, 1300 South 9th street, Terre Haute, Ind.]

THE QUESTION.

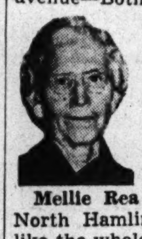
Which have you found to be the happier, your childhood or your adult life?

WHERE ASKED.

Wabash avenue and South Water street.

THE ANSWERS.

Lewis E. Gardner, elevator starter, 5250 Carmen avenue—When I was young I always believed that adults never had fun. I almost dreaded getting older. Now I'm thoroly convinced that the happiest years of my life have been the later ones.



Mrs. Nellie Hall, 5336 University avenue—Both my childhood and adult life have been pretty perfect. When I was a child I always hoped I could keep on being one. Later, each year always seemed to be the most ideal. I think that very same thing today.

Mellie Rea Bishop, saleslady, 4229 North Hamlin avenue—It seemed like the whole world revolved around me when I was a child. I was the only girl and had four brothers. I remember I was happy and carefree and undisturbed by any other events.

Harold I. Chon, insurance broker, 6830 Paxton avenue—My childhood is something I like to think about. It was pretty perfect and I can't recall one disturbing factor. I'm probably just as happy now, but I know I have more responsibilities and I can never again be so carefree.

Aileen Heuhauser, botanist, 300 South Hamlin street—When I was young I took things very seriously and worried a lot. Now that I'm grown and have seen most of the world my difficulties seem to have ironed themselves out and I'm as happy as they make them.

Anthony Vogel, caretaker, 5160 Lovejoy avenue—There were no particular disappointments in my younger years, but I don't believe I realized real happiness until later in life. Right now everything seems rosy and I wouldn't like to turn back any pages of time, even if I could.

F. D. ROOSEVELT, 'FARMER,' CASTS HYDE PARK VOTE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP).—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the squire of Hyde Park, cast his ballot today in the white frame town hall where he has been voting for nearly four decades.

The President identified himself to the election board as a farmer. He asked:

"Did my missus' ballot get in in time from London?"

He was told it had not and remarked that he had sent it to Mrs. Roosevelt by plane after she had missed receiving it by 24 hours in Washington, D. C.

The election committee had decided her absentee ballot could not be counted, anyhow, since it was cast outside the United States.

The President dropped in to vote at 11:40 a. m.

"Name, please," inquired Board Chairman J. W. Finch.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt, farmer. I think that's what I said last time."

G. O. P. LEADING IN 9 OF 11 INDIANA CONGRESS RACES

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3 (AP).—Republicans led in 9 of Indiana's 11 congressional races on the basis of early, scattered returns from today's election. Ray Madden, who retired Rep. William T. Schulte in last spring's primary, and Rep. Louis Ludlow were the only Democrats ahead in the unofficial tabulations — and Ludlow's lead was scant. Republicans led also for the state offices at issue, all of which they now hold. Indiana does not elect a senator or governor this year. For the first time in 15 years Indianapolis elected a Republican mayor. A complete, unofficial tabulation gave Maj. Gen. Robert H. Tyndall a lead of almost 7,000 votes over Dewey Myers, Democrat.

POLLING PLACE GAMBLING HIVE; POLICE ARREST 2

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3 (AP).—Instead of ballots and boxes, police today found the door locked and two men inside fighting at a Peachtree street drug store designated as a polling place.

Not only that, the officers said they found an improvised dice table set up in the prescription department, with money and dice thereon.

Called to investigate after three women poll workers reported the situation, police said they found the proprietor drunk and fighting with a companion. Their report added:

"As the polls had to be opened and as it was unsafe to leave the ladies in the store with the men, we arrested them."

G. O. P. NOMINEES CLAIM VICTORY IN PENNSYLVANIA

Governor Candidate Ahead by 170,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Adj. Gen. Edward Martin, 63 year old former army major general and veteran Republican organization man, apparently was elected governor of Pennsylvania today.

G. O. P. headquarters claimed victory as Martin's lead reached 170,000 over Democratic Auditor General F. Clair Ross. State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor jubilantly declared "It's just a question of how big his majority will be." Ross declined to comment.

Returns from 5,355 of the state's 8,169 precincts gave Martin 942,982 and Ross 772,251.

Ticket Forges Ahead.

Remainder of the Republican ticket for state-wide offices also appeared headed for victory over Democratic opposition with similar margins.

Republicans also took over at least two of Philadelphia's six Democratic seats in congress and retained places already held on the basis of early returns. Leon Sacks and Francis R. Smith, both veterans, were unseated.

Rep. James E. Wolfenden, G. O. P. dean of the Pennsylvania delegation, emerged victorious in the toughest fight of his career against Prof. Vernon O'Rourke of Swarthmore college. Rep. J. William Ditter, chairman of the Republican national congressional committee, was among those reëlected.

Backed by James.

Martin had the support of Gov. Arthur H. James, who returned the G. O. P. to power four years ago by defeating Gov. George H. Earle's "Little New Deal," the state's first Democratic régime in half a century.

While pledging to support President Roosevelt "in the vigorous prosecution of the war," Martin reserved the right to oppose the chief executive on domestic politics "and to maintain an undying hostility against the dangerous doctrines of the New Deal."

Ross promised unqualified support to the President, along with a 100 million dollar tax reduction.

AXIS TANK ARMY RETREATS AFTER BATTLE IN EGYPT

Allies Break Thru Lines, British Report.

Yanks Bomb Tobruk

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 3 (AP).—A communique from United States army headquarters in the middle east said today:

"Heavy bombardment aircraft from the bomber command of the United States army middle east air force yesterday attacked shipping in Tobruk harbor.

"Direct hits started fires and sent billowing smoke to an altitude of 3,000 feet before our aircraft left the target area.

"One enemy bomber out of two that attacked our formation definitely was shot down. The other is listed as probably destroyed.

"Fighters and medium bombers of our desert air task force attacked enemy landing grounds and tank and troop concentrations. At a landing ground near Marten Bagush our fighters caught a concentration of enemy fighter aircraft on the ground and destroyed at least seven of them.

"Our medium bombers destroyed at least three enemy tanks by direct hits."

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 3 (AP).—The British 8th army has won the first round of a great desert tank battle which developed after a British break-thru of axis lines Monday morning, front line dispatches reported tonight.

After nearly six hours of bitter fighting, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel withdrew his tank force from the battle and called on his artillery to cover his retreat, these reports said.

The big battle took place at the northern end of the El Alamein line, about 16 miles west of the positions held by Rommel when Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery launched his offensive 11 days ago.

Rushes Up Anti-Tank Guns.

After Rommel withdrew his tanks, he rushed all available anti-tank guns into the area in a desperate effort to halt the British who already had passed the last line of fixed fortifications at that point.

British official quarters described the engagement as "an armored battle on a considerable scale" and said heavy fighting still was in progress. Despite the withdrawal of the axis force, neither side was claiming a definite decision in the larger phases of the battle.

[The Berlin radio said the British were attacking with 500 tanks, mostly American models. The German news agency DNB described the battle as the biggest tank engagement yet fought in the desert and said fighting continued on a vast scale despite allied losses of a third of their 500 tanks.]

Aussies Pierce Mine Fields.

A brilliant slash by Australian infantry set the scene for the tank mêlée which began at Tel El Akakir—"hill of the wicked men."

The Australians cut thru the mine fields, swung right toward the coast and pocketed a considerable German force in a narrow corridor between the coastal railroad and the shore.

While they pushed thru the dunes to draw the pocket tight, Rommel threw at least a part of his cautiously husbanded armor toward the coast to break the noose. Tanks hammered hard at the Australians thru yesterday's predawn hours, and when it was light Montgomery wheeled his tanks thru carefully cleared lanes in the mine fields to meet the axis steel.

German Troops Give Up.

While the tanks moved into major action for the first time in this offensive the allied air force hit a new peak of activity, cascading bombs on axis position so accurately and so relentlessly that German soldiers surrendered to the advancing British infantry without a fight.

Around Tel El Akakir the battle smoke and dust rolled high and the tread marked sand was dotted with knocked out enemy tanks and strewn, with bodies, mainly those of Germans who died trying to break out of the Australian trap.

Until yesterday the infantry had done most of the fighting while the air force drummed at supplies and communications, and artillery pummeled strongpoints and fortifications in a vast softening operation unprecedented in this war's desert fighting.

High Pressure Air Attacks.

The allied air operations were described as high pressure shuttle attacks, with hour after hour of bombing of axis troops, vehicles, and supplies.

One RAF squadron shot down two Messerschmitts over El Daba and another squadron got two other Messerschmitts during the day.

Attempting to strike back the Germans sent 25 dive bombers and 20 fighter planes against allied land troops and in five minutes allied fighters had destroyed five dive bombers and probably destroyed or damaged more than a dozen others.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

E. R. W. writes: "I leave for California soon as an air cadet and I am a little confused about my insurance. Is the insurance given to air cadets the same as is available to the general armed services? Are the premium rates the same? Are beneficiaries paid in the same way as with the other insurance?"

ANSWER: The national service life insurance policies received by aviation cadets while in training are identical with the policies issued to other members of the armed forces, with the exception that the government pays the premiums while the cadet is receiving his training. After the training period is over and the cadet is commissioned or assigned to flight duty, he must assume the premium payments. The premium rates are naturally the same, i. e., cost so much per thousand dollars of insurance based on the age of the insured when he enters service. Under this free insurance, payments are made to the widow, child, or children of the insured without proving dependency, but if the insured names a parent or parents as beneficiaries, the mother and/or father, sister, brother, etc., are required to prove dependency before payment is made. We have prepared an article on national service life insurance which we will be glad to send to any prospective Yank about to enter service. All we ask is a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A. F. M. writes: "A relative of mine living in a small town has been told by his draft board that his draft status is a possible '3-C,' but he has not been able to learn what it means. Can you explain it?"

ANSWER: There is no official classification of this kind. The registrant should see his board at once for an explanation. The only thing we think of is the board may intend to classify the registrant in class III., group 3, but the board may be using letters instead of numbers.

S. J. B. writes: "I am 34, single, no dependents. I have been a professional prizefighter and physical instructor. For the last seven years I have been employed as a machinist, and at present I am so employed in a 100 per cent defense plant, but do not expect to be here long. I have been rejected from every branch of service because of partial color-blindness. Do you know where I might be accepted?"

ANSWER: With the skill you have acquired as a machinist, we suggest you apply to the offices of the naval construction battalion nearest to you or any navy recruiting office. Imperfect color perception is no bar in this branch of service, and almost any type of civilian occupation or skill can be used. If an office is not convenient, we will send a special article to any interested person sending us a self-addressed envelope.

GASOLINE TRAIN WRECKED, TURNS INTO AN INFERNO

Safe Harbor, Pa., Nov. 3 (AP).—One man was killed and 120,000 gallons of gasoline and fuel oil became a blazing inferno, visible for 20 miles, when a Pennsylvania railroad freight train hit a rockslide just east of this Lancaster county town early this morning.

The victim was Marlin B. Frey of Millerstown, Pa., fireman of the freight, who jumped or was thrown from the locomotive as it overturned. A high tension wire fell across his body. All other members of the crew escaped unhurt.

More than half a mile of the right of way was destroyed as the locomotive, 12 tank cars and four box cars were derailed. The tank cars, each containing 10,000 gallons of petroleum products, and three of the box cars burst into flames. Wooden ties were consumed by the flames and steel rails twisted like ribbons by the intense heat.

U. S. NAMES 137 CIVILIANS HELD IN PHILIPPINES

15 of Prisoners Listed as from Chicagoland Area.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The war department today made public the names of 137 American civilians interned by the Japanese in the Philippine Islands.

Fifteen of those listed are from Chicagoland states. These and their next of kin are as follows:

CHICAGO.

Butler, Ivor—B. B. Butler, brother, Service Industries, 2025 South Calumet avenue.

Harper, Charles—Frank Pankau, father-in-law, 5336 North Kimball avenue.

Ransom, W. F.—B. M. Ransom, brother, 523 South Cuyler street, Oak Park.

Witthoff, Dr. Evelyn—Mrs. A. Witthoff, mother, 5728 South Elizabeth street.

DOWNSTATE ILLINOIS.

Chappell, Miss Geraldine—Mrs. C. M. Chappell, mother, 1424 North Gulick avenue, Decatur.

Duckworth, N. H.—Herbert Duckworth, brother, 906 St. Claire avenue, East St. Louis.

INDIANA.

Karrer, Mrs. Rebecca T.—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, R. D. 3, Carlisle.

Lautzenheiser, Ora E.—Mrs. Thomas Myers, Hamilton.

Lederman, Daniel B.—Mrs. F. P. Russell, 5026 Washington boulevard, Indianapolis.

IOWA.

Snyder, Mrs. I. W. [Mary]—J. L. Ellis, father, Nemaha.

MICHIGAN.

Cohen, Isadore—Dr. J. B. Cowan, 13145 East Jefferson avenue, Detroit.

Wright, Forrest—C. Forrest Wright, father, 243 East Michigan avenue, Battle Creek.

WISCONSIN.

Wilson, H. N.—Mrs. H. N. Wilson, wife, Argyle.

The prisoners are believed to be at Santo Tomas university, Manila, P. I.

PRISONER OIL OFFICIAL.

Ivor Butler, who is 34 years old, has been interned at Santo Tomas university, but his wife, Maria, lives with her two daughters in a small apartment on Manila's outskirts, it was reported by his brother, B. B. Butler, 2025 Calumet avenue. One of the daughters, Roberta, was born in January after the Japanese occupation of Manila, Butler said. The other, Sandra, is 2.

Ivor Butler had been in the far east 12 years and was retail sales representative in Manila for the Standard Oil company. He was born in Williamsburg, Ia., and educated at Iowa State college and Harvard university business college. B. B. Butler said he had received news of his brother and his wife thru relief agencies and Americans returning on the relief steamer Gripsholm.

One Former Cage Star.

Charles Harper, 34, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Harper, Chandlerville, Ill., was employed by Lever Brothers company, traveling out of Chicago before he went to Manila two years ago as assistant manager of the Philippine Refining company. His wife, Marion, 24, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pankau, 5336 North Kimball avenue, is interned with him. They have no children.

Harper was graduated from the University of Illinois, where he was captain of the basketball team in 1931, Mrs. Pankau said. She said that the last message from her daughter and son-in-law came via the relief ship Gripsholm last August. Both reported they were safe and well.

Miss Evelyn Witthoff was on her way to India to become a missionary for the Nazarene church when war forced her boat to tie up at Manila. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Witthoff, live at 5728 South Elizabeth street.

Miss Witthoff, who is 30, is a native of Chicago and a graduate of the University of Illinois. A brother, David, lives with their parents, and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Kuecker, lives at 7218 Prairie avenue.

In Manila

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ivor D. Butler, Americans in Manila. Butler, an oil company executive, has been interned in Santo Tomas university.

HULL STANDS PAT ON U. S. ATTITUDE TOWARD FRANCE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today that the state department and the administration are entirely content with the government's policy toward Vichy, France, and the way in which that policy has been pursued.

Hull's remark was in reply to a request for comment on Wendell L. Willkie's recent statement that the administration's "lack of courageous leadership . . . nowhere is more plainly illustrated than by its continued recognition of the vicious and subversive Vichy government."

Hull told his press conference that he did not intend, at this time, to enter into any controversy over the government's Vichy policy.

On a previous occasion Hull told a press conference that he believed the policy of the government toward Vichy would be better understood as the situation is developed and all the facts become known.

SEEK DELICATESSEN BANDIT.

Woodlawn police are searching for two bandits who held up Mrs. Clara Markey Monday night in her delicatessen at 6558 Ellis avenue, and robbed her of $40.

283 CASUALTIES IN 2D MERCHANT MARINE REPORT

Navy Lists 3 Chicagoans as Missing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The navy department, making public the second United States merchant marine casualty list of the war, reported 283 dead and missing whose next of kin were notified from Aug. 2 to Oct. 21 inclusive.

Gerald H. Garland

Of the total, 32 were listed as dead and 251 missing. This brings the merchant marine casualties reported to next of kin from Sept. 27, 1941, to Oct. 21, 1942, to a total of 2,584, of which 442 are dead and 2,142 are missing.

3 Chicagoans Missing.

The list announced tonight includes three Chicagoans missing, one dead, and one missing from Michigan, and one missing from Wisconsin.

The navy said that of the total of 283, the names of 22 are not being published, 5 because their records did not list next of kin and 17 because their next of kin live in foreign countries.

Casualties from Chicagoland.

The casualties from Chicago, Michigan, and Wisconsin follow:

CHICAGO.

BRITISH SEAMAN HANGED IN PRISON FOR TREACHERY

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP). — Duncan Alexander Croall Scott-Ford, a British subject, was executed today in Wandsworth prison for treachery, the home office announced. Scott-Ford, 21 years old, was a British merchant seaman who made regular trips between England and Lisbon, Portugal. In Lisbon, it was said he sold secret information for $72 to a German agent about the movement of the British merchant fleet and movements of convoys. He was convicted Oct. 16 at a secret trial and did not appeal the death sentence.

Scott-Ford was the third British subject to be convicted and hanged for treachery during this war. Eleven enemy agents have been executed, all except one by hanging.

The exception was Josef Jacobs, a German who was tried by a court martial and shot Aug. 15, 1941, in the tower of London. During the last war 19 men were sentenced to death as spies.

Mexico Seizes 10 Germans and Japs Near U. S. Border

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 3 (AP).—Seven Germans and three Japanese have been arrested, reports from northwest Mexico said today, in the apparent start of a roundup of axis aliens along the United States border and the gulf coast. The Japanese were reported seized at the border town of Nuevo Laredo and the Germans 15 miles from the oil port of Tampico.

PEDESTRIAN, HIT BY AUTO, DIES.

Belvidere, Ill., Nov. 3 [Special].—Henry Snyder, 56 years old, died in Highland hospital this afternoon from injuries received this morning when he was struck by an automobile. Donald Palmer, Belvidere, driver of the car, was not held.

MORE JAPS LAND ON GUADALCANAL DESPITE U. S. FIRE

Bombers and Destroyers Attack Foe's Camp.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—Braving American planes based on Guadalcanal and American destroyers, the Japanese have landed more troops on the island, the navy reported today, this time to the east of the air field and its defenses.

The new landing was made Monday night [Solomons time] after United States destroyers during the day had bombarded the foe's positions west of the American lines in support of attacks by land.

This latest development, posing a grave threat to the American defenders now in the middle of two strengthened enemy forces, followed a warning by Secretary Knox against false optimism over the fighting for the Solomon Islands and for control of south Pacific supply lines despite a "very signal" success which he saw in the initial phases.

Two More Cruisers Sunk.

Altho the Japanese strength was crippled in the long sea and air battle off the Stewart Islands northeast of Guadalcanal, Knox told a press conference he has no doubt they will come back.

Knox coupled his warning with an announcement that an American task force sank two more Japanese cruisers and one more destroyer than originally reported in the night battle off Savo Island in the Solomons Oct. 11-12. The communique on that engagement had listed one enemy cruiser, four destroyers, and one transport sunk.

A revision of the damage done the Japanese fleet in the Stewart Islands engagement Oct: 26 also was made in the communique. United States airmen damaged five cruisers rather than three, and one battleship instead of two, along with the two aircraft carriers originally listed.

The communique also reported attacks by United States dive bombers on the Japanese positions at Guadalcanal Sunday night.

The additional word on the Savo Island battle was brought back by Vice Adm. Robert L. Ghormley, who recently was succeeded in command of that area by Vice Adm. William American submarines roaming the far Pacific, Knox said, are contributing a large share to the breaking down of enemy supply lines.

Seventy-seven Jap Ships Bagged.

The most recent report on submarine activities showed destruction of seven ships and damage to three others. Those figures, announced yesterday, brought to 133 the number of Japanese ships damaged or sunk by American submarines.

Official reports show 77 Japanese vessels have been sunk, possibly sunk, or severely damaged in the Solomons area. The two cruisers and one destroyer figuring in Ghormley's supplemental report were not included in the official list.

Aircraft losses of the enemy have been heavy. Officially the navy has reported the destruction of 529 Japanese planes since the Solomons battle started.

Against those figures the American losses have totaled 16 war craft sunk in the Solomons.

MARINE WRITES PARTY REGRETS FROM FOX HOLE

Life in Guadalcanal—scene of a bitter and successful invasion fight by United States marines in the southwest Pacific—consists of living in foxholes, washing clothing and bathing in a small stream, and dreary nights of total darkness. This was the report from a Chicago youth stationed there.

He is Pvt. George W. Bermes, USMC, who formerly resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bermes of 2348 Wilson avenue. Bermes relates that pilots returning from action tell the ground crews the Japanese pilot fights with a grin on his face, something the American airmen are anxious to change.

"How did the All-Star game come out?" Bermes closes a letter he wrote to his former employer, M. F. Hellenbolt, of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company. "I should have liked to attend the annual golf party, but we have a party on here that's calling me."

SILVER STARS TO 16 AIR FORCE MEN FOR RABAUL RAID

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 3 (AP).—Silver stars for gallantry in action in three August raids on Japanese targets in New Britain were awarded today to 16 noncommissioned officers and privates of the United States army air forces by Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the allied air forces in the Southwest Pacific. For gallantry in a raid Aug. 7 on Rabaul a silver star went to Sergt. Eugene D. Shafer, Greene, Ia., and five other members of his crew, for "cool and excellent marksmanship during the 25 minute air battle with the Zeros during which they shot down seven enemy planes.

AUSSIES PRESS ON FROM KOKODA TO THREATEN BUNA

Oivi, 9 Miles Away, Next Objective.

Approaching Oivi

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Allied ground forces which captured Kokoda, are continuing to push the Japs back toward the north New Guinea coast, the allied high command announced today. The advance units now are approaching Oivi.

Dilli, harbor town on the coast of Portuguese Timor, was attacked by two waves of allied bombers which found fires still burning from the previous day's raid and started new ones.

The Buin-Faisi area in the north Solomons, where concentrations of Japanese warships and merchant vessels have been dealt serious blows from the air, was visited by bombers last night and bombs were dropped on enemy shipping. Results were not observed.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Nov. 3.—The strategically important village of Kokoda, which was occupied today by allied troops, consists of 15 dilapidated grass huts, a government station and an airdrome.

Allied advance units moved into Kokoda shortly after daybreak, the occupation being completed this afternoon. Forward elements of the allied forces are pressing on toward Oivi, nine miles distant, which is reached by passing over a spur of the Owen Stanley mountain range thru Oivi Pass.

The track thru the pass runs only a few hundred feet from Kokoda, which is at an altitude of 1,200 feet, then drops toward Oivi, and on to Wairopi, 11 miles farther. At Wairopi, the Kumusi river forms a natural defense line, where the Japanese could make a stand. No resistance was encountered in taking Kokoda, the Japanese forces having broken contact with the advancing allied troops.

Track Slopes Down.

Between Kokoda and Wairopi, the jungle tracks slant gently downward to the sea.

Buna, ultimate goal of the advancing allied troops, is 63 miles from Kokoda. The area between Kokoda and Wairopi is heavily wooded, opening out after the Kumusi river is crossed.

Allied patrols operated in the Kokoda area for a week before the village was occupied. On Oct. 25, a three man patrol walked into a Japanese camp along the airstrip, but managed to escape into the bush.

The airdrome at Kokoda has an all weather strip 1,000 yards long, which in peace time was used by the New Guinea Airways. Tri-motored Fords brought in supplies and carried out rubber.

Not Used by Japs.

As far as is known, Japanese planes never used the Kokoda strip, probably because it is too close to the allied air base. All buildings on the airdrome, as well as all huts and houses of the village, and the government station, were destroyed by allied strafing forays. The airdrome is between the main Owen Stanley mountain range and the government station.

In peace time, Kokoda was important because of the government station and the airdrome, and because it is the junction of three tracks leading to Buna, to Port Moresby, and to the rubber bearing Chirima valley. Its present importance rests in the airstrip, and the fact that it marks the end of difficult fighting thru the Owen Stanley range.

BRITISH CLAIM AXIS FORCED TO CALL QUITS IN MALTA AIR FIGHT

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—The air ministry described the mid-October air battle over Malta today as a "deliberate trial of strength" by the axis and said that the enemy, with 138 planes shot down, had suffered such a disaster he had to call quits after 10 days.

Besides 131 planes shot down by fighters defending the Mediterranean island stronghold, the air ministry said, seven others fell to anti-aircraft gunners and many more probably were destroyed. It compared "infinitesimal" damage to Malta in the raids with the enemy's "staggering" losses.

The air ministry ranked October as the biggest of three air defeats for the axis over Malta this year. Never before, it said, were so many planes destroyed in so short a time as in last month's conflict. Up to yesterday, it said, the official total of enemy planes downed over Malta was 1,094. The two heaviest defeats prior to October were the April-May period in which 252 planes were destroyed and last July when 151 were shot down.

2 VESSELS SUNK OFF SO. AMERICA BY SUBMARINES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—The navy anounced today that a medium sized British merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America about the middle of September. Survivors have landed at an east coast port.

Thirty-seven members of the crew, including the captain, survived the attack. Two others were killed by the torpedo explosion.

Negro fishermen, close to a Caribbean island, guided survivors to a safe landing in a small cove.

This sinking and that of a small Jugo-Slavian vessel, announced earlier today, raised to 513 the Associated Press tally of announced western Atlantic ship losses since Dec. 7. Twenty-five men were saved from the Jugo-Slavian ship and three, including the captain, were killed. The losses reported today have accounted for 3,450 death; 1,958 are missing, and 15,765 have been rescued.

Armed Forces' Late Votes Rushed to Clerks' Offices

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP).—Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes sent nearly 100 late absentee ballots cast by men in the armed forces to county clerks by special messenger today. The ballots brought to about 5,000 the number of soldier ballots cast thru Hughes' office, but others voted by regular absentee ballots from county clerks, it was reported.

PILOTS TELL HOW THEY ROUTED JAP TROOPS CONVOY

Dive Thru Heavy Ack-Ack to Attack Ships.

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Australia, Nov. 2 [Delayed] (AP).—A Japanese convoy headed for New Guinea was forced to turn back today by Flying Fortresses and B-25s which attacked in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire and enemy aerial resistance.

[The repulse of the Japanese convoy off Buna was reported in a communique from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters which said 7,000 Japanese soldiers aboard the ships had been intended to reënforce the enemy's New Guinea positions.]

Maj. William G. Benn of Washington Pa., said one large transport was damaged and another possibly damaged by the bombers. Five Japanese Zero fighters which tried to intercept the attack were knocked out.

Three waves of bombers went after the convoy, which was guarded by warships. The attacks started at dawn and continued until night. Each wave ran into Zeros which paid heavily for their efforts to protect the heavily loaded ships.

Action in Daylight.

The first wave included Maj. Benn, Capt. Scott of Hollandale, Miss.; Capt. F. W. Freen of San Antonio, Tex.; Lieut. Robert W. Schleh of Omaha, Neb.; Lieut. James G. DeWolf of Kearney, Neb.; Capt. Carl H. Hustad of Minneapolis, Minn.; Lieut. Lewis Anderson of Newark, N. J.; Lieut. William P. Thompson Jr. of Canton, O.; Lieut. John Blaine of Miami, Fla.; Lieut. Hoover of Atlas, Okla.; Lieut. L. H. Sedwick of Coleman, Tex.; Lieut. W. K. Fox of Eufaula, Okla., and Lieut. P. F. Owens of Fulton, N. Y.

The last wave over the target included Capt. M. A. McKenzie of Saint Johnsbury, Va., Lieut. J. C. Parkinson of Baltimore, Md., and Capt. B. M. Zubko of Kearny, N. J.

"It was a good day for us because it was a daylight action and we were able to see what we were doing," said Benn. "There were nine Zeros there and four when we left."

His Thirteenth Is Over.

De Wolf said: "The ships were big ones—about 10,000 to 12,000 tons each. We blew off the rudder of one ship and she stopped completely.

"The Japs were doing some firing with ack-ack guns and Zeros dived thru their own ack-ack to take a crack at us. We had to dive thru ack-ack, keep our eyes on the Japs and drop our bombs at the same time.

"I'm breathing a sigh of relief now because it was my thirteenth mission, and I'm glad to get it over."

Anderson's plane was credited with bagging one Zero and Scott's ship two. It was the first encounter with Zeros for Anderson's crew, altho it had been on nearly a dozen missions.

Zeros Fall Like Rain.

Technical Sergt. V. W. Zekas of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., top turret gunner on Anderson's plane, said he and Lieut. Fox, the navigator, both turned guns on the Zero they bagged as it made a frontal attack.

"I was pretty shaky the first minute," Zekas said, "but after the guns started chattering I settled down. Zeros were hiding in the clouds. One peeked out a minute to take a look and ducked back in. The Zeros fell out of the clouds like rain.

"The one we got seemed to blow up around the cockpit as the bullets hit him."

Sergt. V. R. Kaylor of Hickory, N. C., tail gunner, climbed from the bomber and looked closely at a hole blasted thru the tail of the ship just behind his seat.

The southwest Pacific land and air commands sent congratulations today to all ranks of the allied army in New Guinea "on their magnificent efforts leading to the capture of Kokoda," as tough mountain troops pushed on after the retreating Japanese on the road to Buna.

RUSSIANS CHECK NAZI ADVANCE IN NORTH CAUCASUS

Big Scale Fighting Flares Again in Stalingrad.

MOSCOW, Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Red army checked the great German drive in the central Caucasus yesterday, the soviet midnight communique indicated today, and made slight advances on several other fronts, including Stalingrad, where large scale fighting flared up again as the 72d day of siege began.

For the first time in several days, the communique made no mention of any German gains on the Nalchik plains at the foot of the 18,000 foot Caucasus mountains where the Germans are driving toward the historic Georgian military highway.

"Southeast of Nalchik soviet troops fought fierce defensive battles," the communique said.

Use "Large Tank Forces."

There was no decrease in the intensity of the Germany attack, however. The communique said "large tank forces" and aircraft continued to support the infantry and that 14 tanks and 17 planes were destroyed during the day.

In Stalingrad, after a brief lull, the Germans threw two infantry divisions and 40 tanks into a series of fierce counterattacks. In several places hand to hand fighting developed. In some sectors the Germans launched as many as five large scale attacks, but each time they were thrown back.

In the factory district of northern Stalingrad the Russians reoccupied several strongholds, the communique said, adding that about 2,000 Germans were killed inside Stalingrad during the day's fighting.

Driven from Factory Buildings.

Earlier reports said the enemy had been driven from several buildings in a factory area, and on the southern outskirts of the city Russian counterblows wiped out fortified points and blockhouses and annihilated a German battalion.

Northwest of Stalingrad, on the Nazi left flank, Russian troops attacked and occupied some German fortified positions after soviet artillery had knocked out seven blockhouses.

On the Black sea front, northeast of the naval port of Tuapse, Russian forces also maintained the initiative. The communique said soviet units encircled an enemy infantry battalion near a village and were engaged in wiping it out.

Use About 50,000 Troops.

Soviet dispatches said the enemy was using perhaps 50,000 German armored troops and Rumanian mountain infantry, and about 1,500 marines on the high Nalchik plains.

Their major objective was Ordzhonikidze and the Georgian highway. Nalchik, now behind the German lines, is about 60 air miles from Ordzhonikidze, but actually about 100 miles by the winding mountain roads.

The enemy forces southeast of Nalchik are operating across rich fields, low mountains, and swift rivers of the Kabardino-Balkaria autonomous republic.

Ordzhonikidze, formerly Vladikavkaz, lies at the southeast corner of this great plain, near Mount Il, and on the River Terek, a few miles from the Dariel gorge.

Nazis Claim New Gains.

BERLIN, Nov. 3 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—New German gains in the western and central Caucasus and inside Stalingrad were reported today by the high command which said Russian counterattacks in the Caucasus, and on the Kalmuck steppes were repulsed.

"East of Alagir [which the Germans claim to have captured], German troops, in continuous attack, penetrated strongly fortified and mined positions of the enemy. Air attacks . . . inflicted serious losses upon the enemy," a communique said. "One armored train was destroyed." [Alagir is 45 miles west of Ordzhonikidze.]

"On the Kalmuck steppes [southeast of Stalingrad and west of the Caspian sea] one counterattack drove back attacking enemy cavalry with serious losses for the latter.

"In Stalingrad a violent struggle for blocks of houses and streets is continuing. Dive bombers continued attacks on violently contested strong points in the northern district of the town. Notwithstanding his obstinate defense, the enemy lost further ground. His repeated counterattacks failed . . ."

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

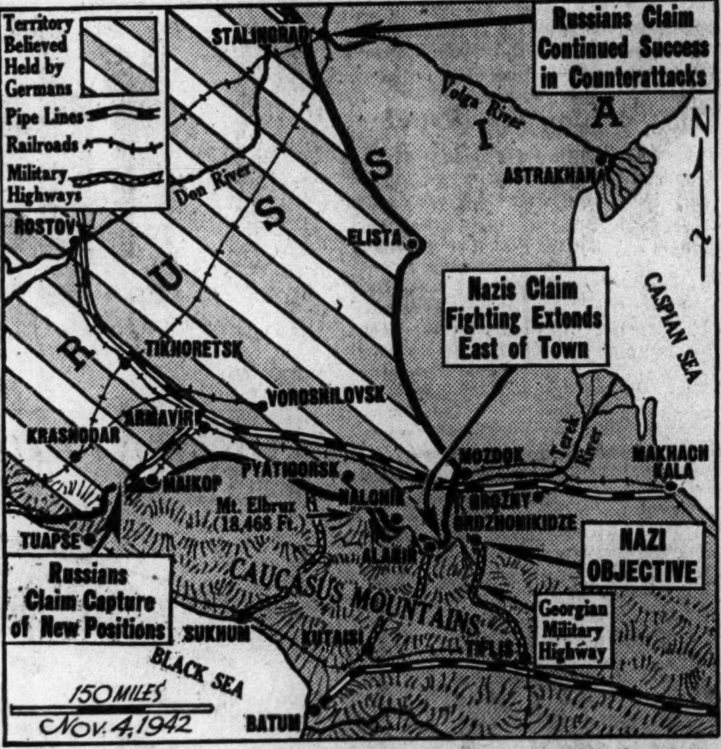
War on Southern Russian Front



Developments reported yesterday from the fighting on the southern Russian front are told in the captions on the map.

GERMANS ADD UP: IT'S 500 DAYS OF WAR ON RUSSIANS

New York, Nov. 3 (AP).—The German radio, apparently with the idea of minimizing the Germans' failure to capture Stalingrad and to attain the major objective of destruction of the Red army, broadcast today a 1,300-word summary of the war in Russia to recall German victories of the past.

"Five hundred days of war," the broadcast said, "have cost the enemy 14,000,000 in dead, seriously wounded and prisoners." It did not say whether this included civilian casualties or the homeless rounded up in captured areas. Neither did the Germans mention their own losses.

"In the June days of 1941," the summary began, "not one military expert in the world [and this must have included Adolf Hitler] had an idea of the enormous strength of soviet Russia's military power." Fantastic American figures had become reality in Russia."

The broadcast then recalled the names of cities captured and of battlefields overrun by Nazi power in the days before the stiffened Russian stand and the drain of German losses retarded the campaign.

16 VESSELS SUNK FROM CONVOY TO BRITAIN: BERLIN

BERLIN, Nov. 3 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command asserted today that German submarines operating off Canada's east coast had sunk 16 ships totaling 94,000 tons out of a convoy "on the way from the United States to England." [There was no confirmation of this from any other source.]

The high command's communique said:

"A group of German U-boats east of the Canadian coast, despite bad visibility, kept in contact with an enemy convoy on the way from the United States to England, fully laden with war material and food. In stubborn attacks lasting several days and nights the German U-boats sank out of the strongly protected enemy convoy 16 ships totaling 94,000 tons, including three munitions ships which exploded after the first torpedo hit.

"Two more steamers totaling 11,000 tons and one destroyer and one corvette were torpedoed. Only a dispersed remnant of the convoy succeeded in escaping in the dense fog."

KRONSTADT FORT RESISTS YEAR OF NAZI SHELLFIRE

MOSCOW, Nov. 3 (AP).—The historic fortress of Kronstadt, on an island off Leningrad, was disclosed today still to be engaging Nazi artillery more than a year after the enemy first approached the bastion on three sides.

The roar of cannon has become a common part of life on the fortress isle, a dispatch to the Communist party paper Pravda said. Altho many houses have been destroyed, it reported the sailor garrison and their fighters have adapted themselves to the siege.

Both sides of the Gulf of Finland facing Kronstadt are held by the Germans and they have approached also from the sea, Pravda said.

INDUSTRIAL POINTS OF WEST GERMANY BOMBED BY BRITISH

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—Britain's heavyweight four motor Stirling bombers crossed into western Germany for a daylight attack on industrial and railway objectives today after a three day lapse in the western air offensive. Other bomber formations raided Low Country communications. The appearance of the raiding formations interrupted the broadcasts of German controled radio stations at Bremen, Friesland, and Hilversun for considerable periods in the late afternoon.

Radio stations in Paris, Vichy, Toulouse, and Lyons interrupted their broadcasts early in the evening. Previous shutdown of these French stations has heralded RAF attacks on Italy.

Two of half a dozen German bombing planes which ventured to England were shot down by RAF fighters over a southwest coast town where a hospital was damaged, streets machinegunned, and a church set on fire. Two communities in East Anglia were bombed by single planes.

KNOX AND DAVIS DENY HOLDING UP NEWS OF CARRIER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—Navy Secretary Knox and Elmer Davis, director of War Information, jointly issued a statement today saying the navy department had made public "as much as they knew, as soon as they knew it" regarding the sinking of a United States aircraft carrier in the south Pacific Oct. 26.

The navy has not identified the carrier, announcing its name would not be revealed until the next of kin of those lost had been notified. The navy said most of its complement was believed saved.

Davis, on Oct. 28, in an address in New York, said all sinkings of major United States naval vessels up to noon of that day had been announced. The navy announced Saturday, Oct. 31, that the aircraft carrier had been lost.

Sunday, Davis said he believed the navy did not receive word of the actual sinking of the carrier until after he had made his statement on the previous Wednesday. He explained this was probably due to difficulties and restrictions on naval communications arising from battle conditions.

Got News Saturday.

Today's joint statement said it was not until Saturday morning that the navy heard it had been found impossible to get the damaged carrier to port, and that word of the loss was announced Saturday afternoon tho it was not until Sunday morning that infromation was received of the time the carrier was actually sunk.

The statement follows:

"The difficulties and delays in obtaining exact information from naval operations in the Pacific are illustrated in the case of the United States aircraft carrier which was reported in the navy communique 169 of Oct. 26 as 'severely damaged,' and whose sinking was announced on Saturday night.

"It was recognized in Washington, from receipt of the first reports, that it might be impossible to bring her to port, and orders were issued to sink her if this could not be done. But the endeavor was being made, and it was not until Saturday morning that the navy department received reports which made it certain that that endeavor had been abandoned.

Enemy Damage News Delayed.

"Loss of the ship was accordingly announced that night; but it was not until Sunday morning that positive information was received of the time, the circumstances, and even the fact that she had been sent to the bottom by our own ships, after it proved impossible to salvage her.

"There were similar delays in receiving reports of the damage inflicted on the enemy in this engagement, which took place on Sunday, Oct. 25 [Washington time].

"Damage to two enemy carriers was reported to the navy on Tuesday, and announced to the public in a communique, No. 171. The retirement of the enemy fleet made it seem probable that he had suffered much heavier damage, but full details were not received by the navy department until Sunday afternoon, and were then announced in communique No. 177.

"As Much as Known."

"Ships operating at sea in proximity to the enemy use their communication facilities sparingly, and mostly for operational purposes; reports in detail must wait to be received, collated, and then sent in to Washington when the pressure of immediate emergency is removed.

"With regard to the sinking of this aircraft carrier, the navy department and the Office of War Information have told the public as much as they knew, as soon as they knew it. If there has been any error, it has been in the direction of telling the enemy of the loss of a ship which he may possibly not have known to have been more than heavily damaged; but not in the direction of withholding news from the American people.

"FRANK KNOX,
"Secretary of the Navy.
"ELMER DAVIS,
"Director of War Information."

WEATHER FEARED MORE THAN JAPS BY FORTRESSES

Big Craft Forced Back Near Guadalcanal.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED PACIFIC AIR BASE, Oct. 8 [Delayed].—The ocean weather is a far more dangerous enemy for the Flying Fortresses that speed out of here daily than is the Jap Zero fighter. We had convincing proof of this a few hours ago when our giant plane was forced to turn back within a few minutes of Guadalcanal because that airport was closed in.

We took off in brilliant sunshine—with an air corps general, a chaplain and three newsmen as extra passengers—and after a swift flight over the jungle struck out across the ocean. Soon the air grew bumpy and the ceiling came down and walls of fog crept in.

As we flew low above the water the waist gunner slid back both windows and poked the deadly nose of his machine guns out in readiness for action. The chaplain, an army colonel, perched sedately on a box of ammunition and read his Latin Bible, while two of the reporters sat on the floor with a miniature chess set. The tail gunner, loneliest man aboard, sat 20 feet behind every one else, peering into the mist.

Getting Pretty Hungry.

At last we sighted the first of the Solomons chain and were told we would land in half an hour. In a moment however the radioman came back to say we were retracing our route. By this time we were pretty hungry and a bit tired of eating caramels, the only food aboard. Then someone found three cans of peach juice, which were quickly disposed of.

We bumped along over a rough aerial road for a few hours and time came to sight this island. Instead the radioman wandered back with the news that we still had gas enough for four hours. Since we had expected to drop down onto the field within 10 minutes or so this information was startling in a vaguely unpleasant way.

The minutes went by and the waist gunner went forward, returning with a grin.

"We're okay now," he said. "We know where we are."

We had missed the island by about 30 miles and flown 100 miles or so beyond it, but finally got our bearings by radio compass. An hour later we skimmed across the coconut trees and settled on the runway, glad indeed that the "Boomerang" had once more lived up to her name.

Today's weather is the exception rather than the rule, according to the boys who fly in it almost daily. The other morning, for example, only one of a flight of bombers got in to bomb Buka Bay after a trip thru a night lightning storm.

Reasons for Lost Planes.

And even now the searchlight on the field is lighting up the sky, a hopeful finger pointing the way home to three planes still unreported but which may have landed at Guadalcanal before that field was blotted out by rain and mist.

For our crew today's flight was routine, except that the navigator, an excellent one, doesn't usually miss the island he aims for. The general, for whom the trip was a new one, mentioned that the weather was pretty bad, only to be told by the navigator:

"Hell, general, this is a nice day."

Which recalls the probably fictitious tale of the pilot of a Fortress who asked his navigator on the interphone where they were at the moment, and supposedly got this reply:

"It beats the hell out of me, lieutenant."

ALLIED AND JAP PATROLS FIGHT ON INDIA'S BORDER

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 3 (AP).—Increasing patrol activity by both sides along the India-Burma frontier as the rains and torrents of the monsoon gradually subside was reported today in a joint United States-British war communique.

"Japanese and small bands of hostile Burmese under Japanese direction have been endeavoring to push out parties on the fringes of our forward patrol areas in an effort to terrorize the local population, obtain information, and restrict the activities of our own patrols," it said.

So far, however, there has been little actual contact, the war bulletin added, except "for a brief minor scrap between one of our guerrilla parties and a small body of Japanese on the eastern fringe of the Chin hills," in western upper Burma.

It said casualties were inflicted on the enemy "without loss to our party."

HOLDS HESS FLEW TO ENGLAND AS A GERMAN ENVOY

Ex-Mayor of Glasgow Tells His Peace Plan.

LONDON, Nov. 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The London Daily Mail today quoted Sir Patrick Dollan, former lord provost [mayor] of Glasgow, as saying that Rudolph Hess came to Britain as an "official ambassador of the Nazis" with peace terms that, in effect, would have made Britain "a German colony, with Hitler as dictator and Hess as protector."

Dollan was quoted as saying that Hitler's confidante and No. 2 Nazi party leader, who flew to Britain on May 10, 1941, came "with the authority of Hitler and his colleagues," and had hoped that he [Hess] would be given gasoline and allowed to return to Germany within 48 hours.

Return of Colonies Sought.

Hess parachuted from his plane in Scotland and the mystery of his dramatic trip never has been explained officially. Soon after he left Germany, the Nazis said he was mentally unbalanced and had flown to Britain as a self-appointed peace apostle. He is held by the British as a war prisoner. Russia recently suggested he be tried immediately as a "war criminal."

The Daily Mail quoted Dollan further as saying:

"Hess had no documentary terms, but he indicated in conversation that all previous German colonies were to be returned to Germany and that Great Britain was to give up her military, naval, and air strength.

Britain to Pay Indemnity.

"She [Britain] also was to pay indemnity and was to be left with a royal air force to protect the British Isles.

"Europe was to be Germanized with the Fuehrer [Hitler] as overlord. Germany was to get the Atlantic coasts of West Africa, Syria, Palestine, and other territories.

"Control of the Suez canal was to be transferred to Italy and Germany. Mussolini was to get Corsica and Tunis. French Morocco and Gibraltar were to go to Spain.

"Hess said he did not want to see the prime minister [Churchill] or any of his colleagues, but wished to clear them out of the government and blamed them for having caused the war.

"Hess was annoyed that he was kept prisoner and complained of unfair treatment."

DE KRUIF URGES U.S. TO ALLOCATE DOCTOR SUPPLY

Present Drain Threatens Health, Writer Warns.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dr. Paul De Kruif.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Federal supervision of the allocation of doctors to civilian and military needs was urged today by Dr. Paul De Kruif, author and scientist. He warned that the nation's health is being threatened by the draining of medical men from private practice into the armed forces.

He declared that the country never did have an adequate supply of doctors and charged before a senate subcommittee that the American Medical association had "forced" leading doctors to join the armed forces.

He also criticized the procurement and assignment commission, created by executive order for the recruiting of medical men, for the manner in which physicians have been taken into the army and navy.

Heard by Senate Group.

Testimony was heard by a special investigating group of the senate committee on education and labor, which is considering phases of the man power problem. Enactment of a national service act for the medical profession has been suggested, with complete control over doctor allocations to be vested in a civilian board.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], declared in a preliminary report last week that the "haphazard" recruiting of doctors has reduced the supply for civilian needs to perilous proportions. Vast areas are threatened with doctor famines, said the report.

Another witness today was Surgeon Gen. Thomas Parran of the United States public health service, who said he is not in favor of compulsory assignments for doctors at this time.

"I would not endorse any compulsory legislation affecting the medical profession right now," he told the subcommittee. "We may have to come to it eventually in order to alleviate the serious depletion of doctors in many areas, but I am not now prepared to recommend it."

Heated in Testimony.

De Kruif, whose long standing feud with the medical association is well known, was heated in his disagreement with Parran. He declared flatly that there should be a centralized control over the medical profession to insure an adequate supply for civilian as well as military purposes.

He said that there were numerous instances where the AMA had singled out leading doctors and designated them for enlistment in the armed forces.

"They put the finger on the doctors and forced them to join," he charged. "The conditions are infamous and odoriferous and constitute a serious threat to the nation's health."

Another development affecting the man power situation was the announcement of selective service headquarters that further activities would be added to the 34 already listed as "essential" for the guidance of local draft boards in granting deferments.

BOMBS EXPLODE IN FRENCH CITIES; 1 DEAD, 3 INJURED

VICHY, France, Nov. 3 (AP).—Powerful bombs were set off in Vichy and neighboring cities early today in an anti-collaboration demonstration which caused the death of at least one person and the injury to three others.

The bombs, which Vichy officials said were of British manufacture, exploded at collaborationist headquarters here, and at Clermont-Ferrand, Nice, and Limoges.

The bomb which wrecked Jacques Doriot's party propaganda office here at 4 a. m. ripped store fronts and shattered windows up and down a whole block, injuring a policeman at the police station on the same street. Another propaganda office was similarly wrecked by dynamiters on a main Vichy street.

[The Berlin radio said one bomb exploded in front of the Vichy office recruiting French workmen for Germany, but that nobody was injured. It also reported another explosion in Marseilles. The Germans blamed the trouble on "Communists."]

TELLS HOW U. S. MAKES RIFLED CANNON FASTER

New Method Improves Gun Performance, Too.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—New developments in artillery manufacture which have resulted in a tremendous increase in the production of rifled cannon are disclosed by Brig. A. G. Gillespie, commander of the Watervliet arsenal, Watervliet, N. Y., in the current issue of the semi-official military publication, Army Ordnance.

Gen. Gillespie discloses that the 75 mm. gun, which is being manufactured for the arming of tanks is an entirely new weapon than the World war 75 which was purchased from the British and French. The new 75 has a semi-automatic drop block [breechblock] which facilitates its use in tanks. It is similar to the old 75 only in bore.

Primarily for Tank Use.

The new 75 is being manufactured primarily for use in tanks. Its place as a field piece has been taken by the 105 mm. Howitzer. The chief difference between the old and the new 75 is its breech mechanism. Superior breech mechanism, according to Gen. Gillespie, has been developed for all artillery.

"The breech mechanisms of today represent many years of intensive and progressive engineering development," he said. "The modern breechblock is a marvel of mechanical perfection which stands today as a monument to its creators.

"Roughly two types are employed—the sliding wedge and the interrupted screw. More recently by redesigning and adapting the wedge type, anti-aircraft guns have been made automatic in operation—another improvement with far reaching consequences, an improvement that increases our fire power against airplanes enormously."

New Method of Rifling.

Gen. Gillespie reported that an entirely new method of rifling has increased the output of artillery enormously. Originally rifling was cut directly into the gun tube lining. Many guns had removable linings, which could be replaced when worn out.

The loose liner has become obsolete by virtue of the adoption of the centrifugally cast or forged monobloc gun, in which the rifling groves are cut directly into the gun barrel, according to Gen. Gillespie. Guns above 155 mm.—6 inches in caliber—are still made with removable bore linings, however.

The new method of cutting rifling grooves is known as broaching. A series of broaches, graduated as to size, are pulled thru a gun barrel. When the last of these machine tools is pulled thru the gun barrel it has the required depth of rifle grooves.

Time of Operation Reduced.

Formerly it took from 4 to 6 hours to rifle a 37 mm. gun, but with the broaches the operation has been cut to an hour. With the 75 mm. guns the operation has been cut from 10 to 12 hours to 2 hours. Proportionate time reductions have been made on rifling of other guns up to 6 inches in caliber.

The time of reaming gun barrels, which is the cutting of the hole in the gun barrel before broaching, has also been markedly reduced. Gen. Gillespie reported speeds are now on the order of 180 surface feet a minute for the 90 mm. gun tubes with a feed of 2 inches a minute, where they were formerly 60 feet and a feed of 0.15 inches a minute.

Cold Working Strengthens Guns.

The general reported that another revolutionary step is the method of strengthening guns by cold working. The gun tube is now fitted into a heavy steel container and both ends are securely closed. Water is pumped into the bore at a sufficiently high pressure to expand the steel in the tube.

"The expansion permanently raises the elastic strength of the tube itself—in fact, almost doubles it," the general said. "This permits an almost 100 per cent increase in the propellant charge and the projectile without increasing the weight of the gun tube. Firing ranges and projectile weights can be maintained and guns lightened for increased mobility.

"Conversely, the ranges and projective weights of existing guns can be greatly increased, according to the purpose for which they are intended. This is of enormous advantage in these days of rapidly changing artillery design."

2 HOODED MEN TIE UP TEACHER AND FIRE SCHOOL

Sanborn, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP).—A 23 year old school teacher who told state police he had received two notes telling him to get out of town was bound last night by two hooded, armed men, he reported, and left in the village school which his assailants set afire.

The teacher, Milton Gurvitz, loosened the bonds and escaped unharmed, Police Sergt. H. G. Southworth said. He had been working in a room on the second floor.

State Police Inspector Eugene F. Hoyt quoted Gurvitz as saying one note was left last week on his desk, and the other was slipped under the door. One of them, Hoyt asserted, was signed "100 per cent American."

NEW RECORD SET AS 96 QUALIFY FOR ARMY FLYING

Fireman Hero Enlists as Navy Lieutenant.

Ninety-six young men qualified for army pilot training in Chicago yesterday, breaking the single day record of 91 set recently. This figure raised the total of new cadets to 12,284 enrolled since Sept. 1, 1941. The goal is 20,000 by the end of the year.

Maj. Floyd M. Showalter, president of the army aviation cadet examining board, said 57 of the 96 new cadets were 18 or 19 years old.

Fire Hero Enlists.

Fire Lieut. Robert J. Quinn, 37 years old, holder of two awards for heroism in fighting fires, enlisted at the naval officers procurement office in the Board of Trade building yesterday as a lieutenant [j. g.]. He will report for duty in Norfolk, Va. Since last Feb. 17 he has been in command of the city's fire company manned by sailors at Navy pier.

Lieut. Quinn won the Lambert Tree medal for rescuing four men trapped on the Exchange building roof in the stockyards fire on May 19, 1934, and for carrying to safety an aged woman from a flaming building at 2007 South Racine avenue four months earlier.

For the latter feat, which he accomplished without the aid of water to beat back the flames, he was also given THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's hero award for January, 1934. Lieut. Quinn, who is unmarried and lives at 648 West 57th street, is national handball chairman of the Amateur Athletic union.

Joins on Birthday.

The naval aviation cadet selection board reported receiving 98 applications before noon yesterday. Among the youths sworn in for pilot training was Melvin Waldman, 3218 Diversey boulevard, who was celebrating his 18th birthday. Waldman is a student at Wright Junior college and a former football player at Kelvyn Park High school.

YANKS IN BRITAIN PASS UP TURKEY TO AID WOUNDED

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—United States soldiers in Britain will give up turkey on Thanksgiving so that the wounded and ill in British hospitals may enjoy it.

Thousands of pounds of plump American turkeys, shipped here for the troops, will be sent instead to hospitals. Soldiers will eat ordinary fare, perhaps including chicken.

Thousands of cases of American fruit and vegetable juices also are being allotted to hospitals, bringing the American army rations closer to the British model, which United States soldiers gradually are adopting in order to save shipping space.

Civilian Librarian Jobs Open; Pay $1,260 to $1,620

The United States civil service commission announced an "unprecedented demand" yesterday for civilian librarians in army camps, naval stations, and recruiting centers all over the country. The position pays $1,260 to $1,620 a year. Persons with 6 to 18 semester hours of library training in approved library schools, or 6 to 18 months of paid library experience, or from 3 to 12 months of recognized library apprenticeship are eligible.

ROYAL REFUGEES HELD SUBJECT TO U. S. INCOME TAX

Aliens, Too, Must Pay Same as Any American.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Alien refugees, including members of royalty, taking up residence in the United States, are subject to American taxes, altho they are allowed a credit on income taxes for such levies paid to foreign countries, subject to certain limitations, treasury and state department officials explained today.

Aliens living here are subject to taxes the same as any American citizen, except for a few cases where diplomatic immunity is extended. Diplomats of foreign nations stationed in this country are not subject to American income taxes nor are the properties of foreign governments such as embassies, and legations subject to property taxes by the District of Columbia.

Sovereigns Are Exempt.

But the diplomats are subject to property taxes if they maintain a residence outside of the official embassy or legation. They are also subject to indirect federal levies such as the taxes on cigarets, tobacco, liquors, theater admissions, etc.

There is an income tax exemption extended to sovereigns—reigning monarchs—but since none are residing in the United States at present, as far as it is known, this exemption doesn't mean much. Crown Princess Martha of Norway is residing near Washington, but this exemption would not extend to her as she is not a reigning monarch. There has been a steady royal procession including sovereigns, to the United States for entertainment at the White House, but these have been mostly temporary visits.

As to alien refugees in general, they are allowed a credit against American income taxes for such taxes paid to their home countries on income from those countries but only to the extent that they would equal the rates imposed in this country.

Aliens Must Also File.

Thus, if the alien's income taxes owed to his or her home country on foreign income exceed the taxes he would owe the United States on that income the obligation to the United States is wiped out. But if he pays no taxes to the home country, then the alien must pay income taxes to the United States government on the foreign income. Or if he pays less in taxes to the foreign country than he would owe in this country he must pay the difference to the United States.

Anyway, the alien must file an income tax return with the United States treasury the same as any citizen subject to income levies, and must state in that return and prove any claims for credits against taxes owed the United States, the situation varying, of course, with each individual, depending upon the extent to which foreign taxation reaches him, the rates of such levies, and the sources of his income.

Income derived within the United States is subject, of course, to income tax rates of this country and the credit applies only to income from foreign sources. In order to get the credit, also, the country to which the alien resident pays income taxes must allow similar credits to United States citizens residing in that country.

REPORTS THEFT OF MORPHINE.

Four hundred quarter-grain tablets of morphine sulphate, worth $24, were stolen from his drug store at 849 North Clark street, L. H. Klawans reported to the police Monday.

ASKS GRAND JURY ACTION TODAY IN ATTACK ON STORE

Assistant State's Attorney David Aaron said yesterday he planned to ask the grand jury today for indictments charging conspiracy against Ben Brown, Robert Hickman, and Moss [Big Tim] Brawner, Negroes, for the smashing of show windows at the 3501 South State street store of the Golden Brothers drug chain as a result of a labor organization dispute.

Aaron said Brown was arrested by two policemen who saw him throw a bottle at one of the store windows. Brown said he had tried to borrow $2 from Hickman, who took him to Brawner at the latter's tavern at 17 East 31st street. Hickman promised Brown $2 for smashing the window, but when Brown returned to collect, he said, Brawner gave him only 50 cents.

The labor troubles arose as a result of attempts by four unions—three AFL and one CIO—to organize the employés of the Golden drug stores. Windows were smashed, drivers were intimidated, insurance policies were canceled, and much business lost, the Golden brothers said, before they signed a wage contract with local 1300 of the Retail Clerks union, an AFL affiliate.

The violence continued, they charged when local 1249 of the United Food Service Employés, a CIO union, claimed the right to organize the employés. Aaron said Brawner, who stands 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 250 pounds, is president of the latter union.

Glencoe Veteran of 155 Aerial Battles Is Killed

Frederick B. Andrews, 585 Drexel avenue, Glencoe, has received notice that his son, Pilot Officer Basil W. Andrews of the royal Canadian air force, has been killed in action. His death occurred Oct. 30, presumably in the fighting over Great Britain. Andrews enlisted in the Canadian air service in 1940 and participated in 155 air battles in the Mediterranean. His widow is the former Miss Martha Jashelski of Glencoe.

Government Releases Tires of Reclaimed Rubber to Civilians for Essential Driving

FOR THOSE WHO QUALIFY . . .

These tires go on sale November 22

See your B. F. Goodrich Silvertown Store or Dealer

This paper carries the greatest news for American car owners since the beginning of the war. Realizing the vital necessity of keeping America's 29,000,000 cars rolling, the government now permits the manufacture and sale of reclaimed rubber tires. To purchase these new "war" tires, you must get a certificate from your local Rationing Board. Naturally, you will have many questions to ask about these new tires. We have tried to answer many of them here.

QUESTION: Why did the government decide to permit sale of reclaimed tires?

ANSWER: Because the Baruch Committee, the Rubber Director, and other government officials agreed that it would be a detriment to the war to allow civilian cars to be put up on jacks. It might well result in an industrial and economic collapse that would be as bad as a military defeat.

QUESTION: How can I tell which tire of reclaimed rubber is best?

ANSWER It will pay you, as it has in the past, to get tires made by a company of unquestioned reputation. What goes into any tire is important! How it is put in is just as important! The same skilled workers that made "Silvertowns" the top name in tires will make these new tires the best possible under the circumstances.

QUESTION: Does this mean that the rubber crisis is now less severe?

ANSWER: Far from it. We have no new sources of natural rubber. This use of reclaimed rubber in tires for you now reduces America's total amount of rubber on hand. Therefore, patriotic Americans will redouble their efforts to conserve rubber. Follow these five rules for saving tires:

Drive only when absolutely necessary.
Keep under 35 miles an hour.
Keep your tires properly inflated.
Have them inspected regularly.
Share your car with others.

QUESTION: Are such tires being made now?

ANSWER: They are not only made, but many of them have already been shipped. They will be on sale at your B. F. Goodrich Store or Dealer's shortly.

QUESTION: What is reclaimed rubber?

ANSWER: It comes from what is called "scrap" rubber. It is rubber from used tires, tubes, and other rubber articles from which fabric and other foreign substances have been removed.

QUESTION: Where did the "scrap" come from that makes these new tires possible?

ANSWER: The fact that thousands of tons of scrap rubber were recently collected through the cooperation of the petroleum industry and patriotic car owners helps make it possible now for the government to authorize these new tires of reclaimed rubber.

QUESTION: What sort of scrap will be used in these tires?

ANSWER: Only rubber reclaimed from tires will be used in the new "war" tires.

QUESTION: How is rubber reclaimed?

ANSWER: The most efficient and most widely used method is the alkali process, invented by a B. F. Goodrich scientist, Mr. A. H. Marks.

QUESTION: Will all reclaimed rubber tires be alike?

ANSWER: No more than tires have been in the past. Only those made by B. F. Goodrich will be processed with Duramin, for instance—the chemical discovery that puts extra life in rubber and helps keep it there.

QUESTION: Have any rubber companies had real experience with such tires?

ANSWER: Yes. B. F. Goodrich, for example, made and tested tires made entirely from reclaimed rubber in April, 1939. This was 20 months before Pearl Harbor, but it was already becoming apparent that our country might some day face a real crisis in rubber.

QUESTION: Will these new "war" tires match my old ones?

ANSWER: They will be built in the same molds, and will contain the same strong fabric. But they are definitely designed for "war regulation driving," and are not expected to equal the performance of tires you have bought in the past.

QUESTION: Who is making these reclaimed rubber tires?

ANSWER: B. F. Goodrich Co., along with other qualified companies authorized by the government.

QUESTION: How many miles can I expect?

ANSWER: With gasoline rationing and low speed regulations, these "war" tires will deliver satisfactory mileage. Under wartime driving conditions, most car owners (those who are given minimum mileage allowances) should get three years of service.

QUESTION: Will I have to take special care of these tires?

ANSWER: Only this: be doubly sure that they are always properly inflated. Then drive like any patriotic American should drive in wartime. Don't jam on the brakes, don't drive faster than 35 miles per hour, and don't swerve around corners, or make "jack-rabbit starts."

QUESTION: Why must my present tires be recapped, if possible, before I can buy new "war" tires?

ANSWER: There are three good reasons:

First, much less rubber is used in recapping a tire than in the manufacture of a new tire, thus saving thousands of pounds of rubber.

Second, the government will not permit millions of passenger and truck tires to be worn down to the point where they would have to be thrown into the scrap heap.

Third, a good recap job on a casing in good condition will give service almost comparable to a new tire.

QUESTION: Who can buy these new "war" tires?

ANSWER: To get your reclaimed tires you must apply for a certificate from your local Rationing Board. Your government is going to try to provide tires for all essential driving in return for your full compliance and cooperation with the mileage rationing program. Read the government regulations just released and call any B. F. Goodrich Silvertown Store or Dealer. They are Tire Information Headquarters and will be glad to answer any question you may have.

To the press alone, checkered as it is with abuses, the world is indebted for all the triumphs which have been gained by reason and humanity over error and oppression.—James Madison.

STILL MORE POWER.

Mr. Roosevelt has asked congress for authority to suspend laws regulating the movement of goods, persons, and information in and out of the country. The message was singularly vague. No one reading it can say with any degree of certainty what laws he wishes to suspend or why.

Particularly baffling are the references in the message to "information." The administration has already been given very wide powers of censorship and it is difficult to see what additional authority is needed. As matters stand, there is much reason to believe that the existing control of information has done more harm than good. There is widespread complaint against suppression of unfavorable news already possessed by the enemy. Certainly before congress grants any further authority to control the import and export of news and opinion the administration must make a very clear showing of the need. The burden of proof is upon Mr. Roosevelt.

Perhaps there is precedent for a grant of power to suspend laws of congress but we can think of none. This is not the first great national crisis in which the country has found itself, but in none of the others, so far as we are aware, has any such power been asked. Certainly if the purpose in the President's mind is to open our coastwise trade to foreign flag vessels or to relax immigration restrictions in view of the alleged shortage of man power, congress can be trusted to make the appropriate corrections in existing law without undue delay. The whole record of congress of recent years, and particularly since the war, has been one of ready compliance with the President's desires.

If the administration will make clear to congress in what particulars existing laws are interfering with the war effort, there is every reason to believe that congress will itself modify the laws to meet the situation. If there is any pride in congress, the members will insist that the President take them into his confidence and explain exactly what he wants and why he wants it. When he has done so congress itself can make the appropriate amendments without abdicating the powers granted to it and withheld from the President by the Constitution.

CAPT. RICKENBACKER.

There is only the slimmest hope now that Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker and the seven army men who disappeared with him two weeks ago on a flight southwest of Hawaii will be found alive. The air search over the Pacific continues, but not a trace has been found of the men or the plane, which had only an hour's gasoline left when it sent thru its last message.

If Capt. Rickenbacker's career is ended the country has sustained a great loss. Rickenbacker was one of the world's great aviation authorities. As an adviser to the secretary of war on aviation, he was engaged on a mission for his country when he dropped out of sight. He had recently completed a survey of American air forces personnel and equipment in the European theater and his report was of the utmost value, especially in its emphasis upon the necessity of constantly improving warplane design.

Capt. Rickenbacker grew up with the gasoline engine and in his 25 years of aviation experience he had come to see that, whatever the improvements effected in plane design and performance, there was no discernible limit upon future development. If Capt. Rickenbacker has firmly impressed that conviction upon the men responsible for our military aviation program, America has been set upon the road to victory and the captain's greatest lesson has been taught.

Capt. Rickenbacker's death would not have altered his belief in the airplane. For a quarter of a century he had entrusted his life to planes and the tragic irony was that a man who had so often exposed himself to death in air combat should have died finally on a routine flight. Rickenbacker was America's ace of aces in the first World war, with 25 enemy planes and balloons to his credit, all but three of which were downed in the air. As a leader in American civil aviation later, he contributed greatly to developing an efficient operating system which solved in advance most of the problems of air transport in war.

Capt. Rickenbacker was a great patriot as well as a great flyer. In the last war he evolved the combat philosophy that "I was pitting my wits and energies against a gigantic evil, and not any individual." The combat airmen who carry forward the fight against America's enemies will find in those words all the patriotic justification they require.

A SIGNIFICANT SPEECH.

Ismet Inonu, the president of Turkey, opened a special session of his parliament by saying that Turkey is closer to war today than at any time since the present conflict started. He stressed particularly his determination to keep Turkey loyal to her alliances.

As Turkey's principal alliance is with Britain, the speech may have very considerable significance. It is possible to hope that the checking of the Germans before Stalingrad and the slow progress of their campaign in the Caucasus has encouraged the Turks to believe that the turning point of the war has come. Perhaps they are counting also upon a substantial victory in Libya.

The news from Turkey is in some respects similar to that which came from Switzerland a few weeks ago. The Swiss are directly under the German thumb. Italy is to the south and an impotent France to the west. Nevertheless, when the German government brought heavy pressure upon the Swiss government to suppress news in the Swiss papers which was thought to be unfriendly to Germany, the Swiss government did not hesitate to reply that the conduct of Swiss newspapers was none of Hitler's business.

The most sensitive barometers of war progress and prospects are the little nations in Europe. The fact that both Turkey and Switzerland are showing an increasing measure of independence suggests that they see that Hitler's star is setting. It is improbable, of course, that Switzerland with her long record of neutrality in Europe's wars will attack Germany, but the statement of President Inonu suggests the moment may come before too long when Turkey will march. She can perform a most useful service for the united nations by attacking across the Bulgarian frontier. The only way Hitler could check this advance would be by moving men and material to this new front, but to do so will weaken him in Russia, in Egypt, or in the occupied countries. Turkey may yet play a most important rôle in the war.

WAR PRODUCTION HERE AND IN BRITAIN.

Herbert Morrison, British minister of home security, boasts that the output of British shipbuilding workers is twice as great per capita as that of workers of any other country. At the same time a group of American aeronautical experts who have just completed a survey of Britain's air industry report that British aircraft workers produce at a faster rate than workers in this country.

If these statements are true those who have been painting a rosy picture of American war production had better shut their mouths and find out what is the matter. Neither the men in Washington who have taken over industry and assumed charge of the production program nor labor have anything to brag about.

The United States has far greater industrial resources than Britain. We are a country rich in most of the strategic materials. Our plants and equipment are generally newer than Britain's. None of these factors, of course, is directly related to per capita output, but they should have a bearing upon it. What does have a direct application is the amount of machinery and power available for each worker. They are undoubtedly far greater here than in Britain. If our workers, with these advantages, can't outproduce the British something is gumming up the works. Probably a combination of things accounts for our inability to get as much production per worker as in Britain.

First of all, there are hours of work. The bureau of labor statistics reported that the average working week in the durable goods industries was 45.1 hours. In Britain, the bureau said, the average week in war industries was between 55 and 60 hours. Thus Britain is getting from 10 to 15 hours more of work each week from every war worker than we are. Per capita output is bound to reflect the difference. The 40 hour week law probably has had a good deal to do with our shorter week. Employers don't like to have to pay the overtime rate, and a good many workmen don't feel the need of putting in extra hours. That thins out per capita production and also thins out our available man power.

Then there is poor management on the part of the burocracy in handling man power and allocating materials. Some industries have been overloaded with labor, and others, perhaps more important, have suffered for want of workers. Altho the goals of the armed services have been somewhat scaled down, an indiscriminate draft system proceeded far enough to make serious inroads in the skilled labor supply. Some of the best workers were put into uniform despite the fact that they were much more valuable at machines than carrying guns.

Our abundance of materials was transformed into a shortage because the materials were unsystematically and unwisely allocated. If there wasn't material enough to maintain full production schedules per capita output naturally declined. Everybody has heard of layoffs and idle tools resulting from this kind of mismanagement. It can only be hoped that the new plan of the War Production board for apportioning materials will help straighten out the problem.

Finally, if our production lags in comparison with that of Britain, labor is challenged to make good its repeated professions of patriotism. We have seen frequent strikes and slowdowns, despite a no-strike pledge, and while labor leaders rarely miss a chance to tell of labor's accomplishments jurisdictional squabbles are an everyday occurrence.

BROTHER INCISO AND BROTHER GREEN.

Angelo Inciso is an ex-convict union organizer with a record spanning 12 years. His record came to light a year ago when he called 500 defense workers out on strike in an effort to force the reinstatement of his own brother, who had been fired for disobeying orders. When he was exposed his union, the AFL United Automobile Workers, announced immediately that he was fired.

Last week the employés in another Chicago war plant staged a slowdown strike. Some of them reduced their production to 5 or 7 per cent of what they usually turn out. The slowdown was arranged by the same ex-convict organizer, Inciso. The participants are members of the same union, the AFL auto workers.

Clearly the international officials of the union are guilty of a breach of faith with the public. When Inciso was first unmasked, and they announced that they had fired him, they pleaded that they had not known about his criminal record. Now that he has been found back on their pay roll, sabotaging defense production a second time, they can no longer plead ignorance.

Lieut. Barnes of the police labor detail has appealed directly to President William Green of the AFL to get rid of Inciso. He has gone to the right spot. Mr. Green cannot put off the plea with his usual cant about union autonomy. The AFL auto workers is a rump outfit that Homer Martin, the Black Legionnaires and the Lovestonite Communists salvaged when the Stalinist Communists and the Socialists grabbed the rest of the union and took it back to the CIO. Martin assigned the property to the AFL, and its executive council has been spoon feeding the child against the day when it may be able to use it to get the rest of the auto workers away from the CIO. That puts Inciso on Mr. Green's knee.

Editorial of the Day

DO THEY CALL THAT "COFFEE"?

[Richmond News Leader.]

Does Leon Henderson drink coffee? If he does not, is he one of those Americans who never go into the kitchen or have any curiosity regarding the preparation of the food they eat? These somewhat personal questions are prompted by Mr. Henderson's announcement that the rationing of coffee at the rate of one pound every five weeks will allow about a cup per person daily. Thirty-five cups of coffee per pound that is. How many housewives ever get that many cups from a pound, or if they get it, fail to have their husbands yell? Twenty-five cups to the pound are much nearer the yield of coffee in an average kitchen. Some coffee lovers there are who never are content if there is much less than an ounce of coffee per cup. How do you account, then, for the statement by Mr. Henderson? Your theory may be correct: Perhaps he wants you to make coffee so weak that the average man will be disgusted with it and quit drinking it altogether. That will simplify rationing, will it not?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

READING BETWEEN THE LINES.

Concerning the Stewart Islands, where some Jap egg-crates were smashed: this small group of outliers to the Solomons is invisible on most maps. They can be found, however, on the map of the Pacific theater of war issued as a supplement to the National Geographic magazine, 'issue of January,' 1942. This excellent piece of cartography is up to date in the matter of air bases.

* * *

Northwest of the Stewarts is a good-sized island called Ontong Java; southwest of them is the Santa Cruz archipelago. Ontong Java is also called Lord Howe Island; the Santa Cruz are also called the Queen Charlotte Islands. Note the string of English names: Charlotte, queen of George III.; Lord Howe, an admiral who figures in the history of the American revolution; Stewart, a royal family containing such romantic figures as Mary of Scotland and Bonnie Prince Charlie. These names seem to have been the work of an Englishman who visited the South Seas in 1767. He belonged to the Carterets, a governing family of colonial New Jersey.

* * *

And thus, when one reads between the lines of a navy department communiqué, history seems to gallop off in all directions.

* * *

A brief dispatch from London, buried in the war and political news, has been worrying us for two weeks. It told that a "beauty queen" of the English stage some 50 years ago had been found dead in lodgings at Brighton, and that a soldier was under arrest, suspected of murder. The actress' name was given as Lena Ashworth, which meant nothing to us except a possible misprint for Lena Ashwell. The latter was one of the great actresses of the Irving-Terry period and later, and her record in old volumes of "Who's Who in the Theater" is as long as your arm. Miss Ashwell appeared in Chicago [1907] in "The Shulamite," "Mrs. Dane's Defense," and "The Undercurrent."

WINTER'S SENTINEL.

November,
Sentinel of Winter on Autumn's outpost,
Cloaked in somber brown;
Challenging the sun,
Herald of a brilliant day;
Challenging the stars.
Jeweled escort of a clear and fathomless night,
With "Who goes there?"
Hailing the coming of cold winds and rain
And the great regiment of snowy flakes
That, falling, change his mantle
Into purest white.
"Pass, friend."

Shandy Gaff.

History of the Gold Coast—XVI.

A worldwide depression came on the heels of the panic of 1837, which hit bottom three years later. Drouths occurring about the same time brought ruin and starvation to western Europe. The news of rich lands in the great valley of America, to be had for a few shillings, marks, or kronen an acre, was spread among them by letters from relatives and land agents. The great migration now set in.

The wild geese from Ireland again took wing, leading the way, followed by Rhinelanders, Bavarians, and other Germans, only too glad to get away from the oppression of Prussianism, and by Norwegians, Swedes, and Danes. Large numbers poured into Chicago by boat and overland. Some passed thru the farm lands they were so eager to reach. Many remained and settled around the Yankee settlement on the north bank—the Irish along the river and the north branch, the Germans north of Chicago avenue and east of Clark street, and the others west of that street.

No sooner were they in their new homes than they worked with the older settlers in providing public schools for the youngsters. The first free school in this part of the city was opened in 1840 on the corner of Cass and Kinzie. On March 10, 1842, the school inspectors recommended a school for the "Dutch settlement" on Green Bay road north of Chicago avenue.

Rush Medical college, first institution of higher learning, opened its new building in the style of Monticello by Van Osdel, at Dearborn and Indiana streets, in the spring of 1844. This was followed by the University of St. Mary of the Lake on Superior near Rush, dedicated by the Rt. Rev. William Quarter, the first Catholic bishop of the diocese of Chicago, on July 4th the next year.

These people were even more concerned about their churches. St. James' Episcopal was the first, with its modest church in frontier Gothic, housing a tremendous pulpit, at Cass and Illinois streets. It was dedicated by Bishop Philander Chase on June 25, 1837. The present cathedral, successor to the large church consecrated by Bishop Van de Velde in 1854, grew out of the simple chapel of the Holy Name of Jesus, in the university building on Superior street, established in 1846. This same year St. Joseph's church was opened for the Germans at Cass and Chicago avenue. The Presbyterians organized the North church in 1848 and built a small, neat, Gothic frame edifice with a pepper box steeple at Michigan and Clark streets.

All these settlers of this neighborhood were a sturdy, independent, hard-working lot, who asked odds of no man, but only a chance to make good. Conservative in thought and action and in their outlook on life, they established the basic tone of the Gold Coast. Captain John.

THE CHURCHES.

With prayers their feet are shod,
Tho creeds may vary in each one,
All spires point to God.

Portrait of a Column Poet.

We welcome to the illustrious family of column contributors Mme. Maxim Litvinoff, wife of the soviet ambassador. A magazine article says that her poems "were quite neat but nothing special. During this lyrical period of her life she was always buying a paper in the street and opening it eagerly as she walked away, to see if her latest poem had been accepted. She was sometimes jeered at by rude men, who supposed she must have bet her shirt on a horse." Quizzicuss.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

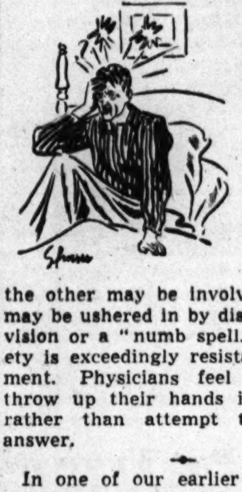
PERIODIC OR NERVOUS HEADACHE.

When headache is experienced most of us will be able to trace the cause to improper food, insufficient sleep, or poor elimination. In consequence, a few hours of slumber or the correction of faulty eating habits will abate the symptom.



Nevertheless, there are exceptions. The nervous type may defy explanation. One side of the cranium or the other may be involved. A bout may be ushered in by disturbances of vision or a "numb spell." This variety is exceedingly resistant to treatment. Physicians feel inclined to throw up their hands in surrender rather than attempt to find the answer.

In one of our earlier discussions, mention was made of the fact that an amino acid [histamine], produced in the digestion of protein [meat], had been found guilty. In some cases, cure followed as soon as the victim could accustom himself to the chemical. Tiny doses, which were increased gradually, brought about the desired effect. Apparently, misbehavior on the part of certain blood vessels was responsible for the blinding episodes. This is emphasized when we observe the face, which may be flushed, with congestion of the eyeballs.

Among the many substances which have been utilized as antidotes, prostigmine bromide comes in for frequent mention. It was found that a minute quantity would stop one of these seizures abruptly. But the next time the compound was tried, the results were disappointing. In other words, the preparation had lost its power. In a few instances the boring pain and the sense of fullness at the back of the head grew worse.

What had happened? Presumably the single tablet had sensitized the patient to the point where he would react violently to the drug. The course of the physician was then clear. He must adopt a regular schedule for the administration of prostigmine and begin with an exceedingly small amount. For example, one tablet is dissolved in an ounce of water. On the first day a drop of this solution may be given in the morning, two at noon, and three at night. In this manner the dosage may be strengthened until 30 drops are taken. With some patients, however, the plan may need to be slowed down to an increase of one drop per day.

Pursuing this program, many were able to overcome susceptibility to the drug. Furthermore, the reaction to histamine lessened. In other words, when the "blowoff" occurred, the typical intense neuralgialike pains failed to appear. Many who were experiencing two or more sieges a week were relieved completely. Still others presented only minor trouble—not enough to prove incapacitating.

There is no sameness to the symptoms, altho frequent signs include dizziness, ringing in the ears, hysteria, and uncontrollable nervousness. Regardless of the complaints presented, employment of prostigmine in infinitesimal doses seemed to destroy the trigger factor which set these onslaughts in motion. The great majority of the subjects treated felt perfectly well during the interval, with striking freedom from subsequent attacks.

Time will be required to determine whether or not these individuals will remain immune. At any rate, with a substantial number, the plan offers escape from a distressing and hitherto unconquered ailment.

EMOTIONAL OR ALLERGIC.

Mrs. C. writes: My 18 year old son is strong and well but frequently, after eating breakfast, he feels nauseated, his skin becomes chalk white, and perspiration breaks out on his forehead. After about 10 minutes the spell passes and he is able to continue on his way. What could be the matter? The doctor can find nothing wrong with him.

REPLY.

The cause is either an emotional reflex or a definite food allergy. The chances are that he is slightly sensitive to some article in the menu. Omit one item at a time and observe results.

DARK BLOOD.

G. F. writes: I cut my finger and when the blood dried it was a dark brown. Does this mean there is something wrong with me?

REPLY.

No. On longer exposure to the air, the shade would approach black.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THOSE WHO FEED ON POWER.

Platteville, Wis., Oct. 31—Every one realizes that we are facing tremendous problems in this country. The foremost, of course, is to win this war. Another is to establish at the close of the war a just peace. But there is another problem of almost equal importance, and that is how to get back after the war to democratic principles of government, a problem we are not concerned enough about. During the war, and even before it, we have been rushing headlong into centralization. A big problem will be to get back our freedoms after having surrendered them to regimentation. This is to make just one suggestion. As a matter of human nature, the leaders who have willingly led us into extreme centralization, and have enjoyed the power and prestige resulting therefrom, are less likely to return our freedoms to us than would statesmen who have, as a policy, opposed regimentation. E. F. R.

INDUCTION OF MEN OVER 35.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Is there no way to bring pressure upon the army so as to stop inductions of men over 35? The draft boards claim they can do nothing until ordered to by the army officials. In view of the fact that the President and the army chief of staff have both publicly stated that this is a young man's war, and that men over 35 are not physically able to stand the military training, why don't they order the draft boards to stop inductions of older men? Why induct men who will eventually have to be discharged from the army and will then find themselves without a job and no means of support? TRIBUNE ADMIRER.

NAVY DAY COLOR PAGE.

Great Lakes, Ill., Oct. 28.—The full page color reproduction of Frederic Mizen's portrait of a bluejacket in your Tuesday morning edition did much to promote public cognizance of Navy day. Publicity of this nature was a great help in making the first wartime Navy day program a real success. We take this means of thanking you for so kindly cooperating with the Navy league in all matters pertaining to Navy day promotion. EDWARD J. GREEN, Lieutenant, U. S. N. R.

ONE FOR THE BOOK.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 24.—Here is a quotation in the battle for a free press: "Freedom of conscience, of education, of speech, of assembly are among the very fundamentals of democracy and all of them would be nullified should freedom of the press ever be successfully challenged."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

You can find it in a book of quotations compiled by Henry L. Mencken. S. P.

FROM THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

Chicago, Oct. 30—We wish to thank you for the editorial which appeared in THE TRIBUNE this morning, indorsing the judicial recommendations of the Chicago Bar association. We feel that this editorial represents heartening encouragement in our efforts to procure the election of good judges. HARRY N. GOTTLIEB, President

BRITAIN'S PROPERTY.

St. Charles, Ill., Oct. 31.—America is criticized in London headlines for not being better prepared in the Solomon Islands. We surely ought to be entitled to a little gratitude for at least trying, inasmuch as Britain, not America, owns the Solomons. AMERICAN.

QUARTERMASTERS IN THE PACIFIC.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—"Quartermasters: Noncombatant, nothing to worry about." How many times have I heard this phrase when I would tell friends that my son was a member of a quartermaster regiment.

No greater salute could be paid my son, or any quartermaster, than Carey Orr's color picture on the back page of today's TRIBUNE, "A Job Well Done." I have sent it air mail to a quartermaster regiment serving "somewhere in the Pacific"—and what an inspiration it will be to them.

These boys are from Chicago and one of the first requests my son made after arriving at the destination was for a TRIBUNE. "What wouldn't I give right now for a copy of the TRIB." When a bundle of TRIBUNES was sent, he later wrote that it would take many days to read them, but wasn't it too good to be true to see the newspaper again, even if the copies were two months old. Needless to say, one of the Christmas gifts sent to my son was a subscription to THE TRIBUNE.

There is also a Quartermaster Woman's club, pledged to take care of the needs of quartermasters stationed "Down Under," and they are doing a good job.

MARIE H. HECK,
Director, Quartermaster Woman's club.

PEANUT RATIONING NEXT?

Chicago, Oct. 26.—We enjoyed the writeup in today's TRIBUNE about the Lincoln park squirrels and the peanut shortage. We live near there and often go over and feed the little fellows. We have three or four that come to our third floor apartment window every day for their feed, and we, too, have noticed the peanut shortage as we tried all over the north side to get some. None of the stores had any, but we finally found a store in the loop that still had some and we bought all they had.

MR. AND MRS. BEN BOLDT.

TRAGIC MESSAGE.

Elkhart, Ind., Oct. 29.—One of the most tragically tinctured messages ever delivered by a high-minded citizen of America comes to us from Australia. In substance it reads, "Give me support—every other ambition I lay on the altar of my country—I'll buy your support by renouncing the highest honor within the gift of man—only support me!"

Read it and weep, patriots of America, —Read it and weep! FRANK GAUSE.

STILL PUSHING STEEL FLAGPOLES.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—From the number of steel flagpoles going up you can be sure there is a high powered selling campaign going on to sell these poles to block organizations. It would seem to me almost unpatriotic to sell steel flagpoles when wooden ones would do just as well. This is not a criticism of block captains and organizations, but how can America win the war in the face of commercialism of this kind? W. R. DRENNAN.

A JOB FOR REPUBLICANS.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—A number of years ago Sen. Jim Watson said: "The Democrats can't run this great, big country. It's all we Republicans can do to run it." In the light of history, how true the statement. Will people ever learn?

A LADY'S REGISTRATIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Barbara M. Luce of 2926 Lake Park avenue complained today that she has received a suspect notice before every recent election. Examination of our records reveals that she originally registered on Sept. 19, 1936, from 2815 Ellis avenue and subsequently requested a transfer of registration on Sept. 28, 1936, to 2952 Lake Park avenue. On March 25, 1940, a notice to show cause why the registration should not be canceled was forwarded to the registrant at 2952 Lake Park avenue and inasmuch as she failed to answer the notice in person, as provided by law, her name was stricken. An application to restore the registration was acted upon in June of 1940 and in the same month we received a change of address request to 2926 Lake Park avenue, where the registration is now in our active files.

The record goes on to show that the lady voted Republican in the primary of 1939 and Democratic in the primary of 1942. From the facts recited it should be evident to your readers that this office is not within a plot to cheat any voter.

JOHN S. RUSCH,
Chief Clerk.
Board of Election Commissioners.

BARTENDER'S BEEF.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Hotels refuse to give bartenders a 10 per cent raise, yet they all raised the liquor price since Aug. 1, and also cut the size of the whisky glass. A bartender is under a bond, has to put on a clean shirt every day, shave every day, get a haircut every 10 days, and has to talk the topics of the day with the customers. He must know all mixed drinks, and carry a triple A union card, still they want to pay him $5.65 a day and tips as nine hour wages, while a truck driver makes that much in one-half day, does not have to put on a clean shirt every day or shave every day, is not under a bond, and does not have to know the topics of the day. A BARTENDER'S WIFE.

AND NOT ON A BRIDGE.

Canton, Ill., Oct. 29.—Now would be the time to quarantine Japan instead of having boasted about doing it in 1937.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

INDEFINITE WAIT.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—How long must one wait after filing a suit for separate maintenance before the case comes up in court? R. D.

Depends on when the case is filed and the condition of the calendar of the judge to whom the case is assigned.

U. S. MAN POWER POLICIES RAPPED BY FARM LEADERS

Join to Warn New Deal of 'Disastrous' Food Crisis.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Leaders of the nation's most prominent farm organizations tonight joined in assailing the Roosevelt administration on its handling of the man power situation, accusing it of perpetrating "a social revolution" and of imposing "impractical" burocratic food requirements.

Edward A. O'Neal [top] and Albert A. Goss.

The statement declared the administration had failed to take appropriate action soon enough, thereby causing a man power crisis which threatens to produce a "disastrous food shortage."

Signers of the joint declaration were Albert A. Goss, master of the National Grange; Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, and Ezra T. Benson, executive secretary of the National Council of Farmer Coöperatives.

Concerned at Restrictions.

"We are greatly concerned over what we consider the misdirected efforts of agencies of government to fasten upon farmers and farm workers far reaching burocratic controls and restrictions," said their statement.

"Under the guise of the war effort, a social revolution is being perpetrated upon the American people. We are convinced that unless these policies are immediately abandoned we face within the foreseeable future a disastrous shortage of food for our armed forces, our civilian population, and our allies.

"It is an indisputable fact that the terrific drain of man power from the farms—well over 1,500,000 in the last 12 months—is due to the refusal of this administration to deal effectively with industrial wages which have spiraled to unprecedented levels."

Draft Change Is Asked.

Meanwhile it was learned that the report of the war man power commission sent to President Roosevelt yesterday by Paul V. McNutt, commission chairman, contains recommendations that the selective service system be put under control of the man power commission; that voluntary enlistments in the armed forces be stopped after Jan. 1, and that all hiring for war plants be conducted thru the United Sates employment service of the commission.

The farm leaders recommended:

1. That agriculture be recognized as an essential war industry by government and treated as such.

2. That selective service instruct local boards to defer essential farm workers and operators until satisfactory replacements can be found.

3. That price ceilings on farm commodities be adjusted to carry out the intent of the price control act of Oct. 2, 1942, providing adequate allowance for farmers' increased costs, including farm labor.

4. That all burocratic, unworkable regulations and controls, including fixing of minimum wages and regulating maximum hours and conditions of employment of agricultural workers, be eliminated, and that such restrictions on employment of farm labor as have been rejected by congress be eliminated.

The farm leaders declared that wage levels in every war industry, including agriculture, must be brought into free competitive balance.

"Attempts to superimpose impossible so-called social reforms on farmers and farm workers have seriously interfered with all efforts to meet the increasingly desperate farm labor shortage," the statement declared.

"Plans to bring needed workers from Mexico were loaded down with so many impractical requirements that so far farmers have obtained but little real help from this source.

"As an example, long staple cotton, needed for the manufacture of parachutes, is in some cases actually being plowed under in the southwest for lack of labor. Similar unworkable burocratic procedures and controls have been extended to the placement of seasonal domestic agricultural workers."

WAR COSTS U. S. 5½ BILLION FOR 2D STRAIGHT MONTH

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—Uncle Sam paid nearly $5,500,000,000 directly into the all-out war effort for the second straight month during October, making the four months total since July 1 approximately $20,250,000,000, the treasury department reported today.

Expenditures poured into war activities averaged about $4,500,000,000 a month during July and August and jumped up another billion dollars during September the report revealed.

The war department spent nearly $3,500,000,000 during October, while the navy accounted for an additional $1,500,000,000 of the expenditures.

OPA FILES SIX SUITS CHARGING EXCESS PRICES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3 [Special].—Six injunction suits against Wisconsin firms and individuals have been filed in federal court here charging violation of Office of Price Administration ceilings. The suits were instituted by Bruno V. Bitker, state OPA counsel.

Defendants are the Folding Furniture Works, Inc., Stevens Point; Eau Claire Auto Salvage company, Eau Claire; James S. Foster, Foster Used Tire company, Chippewa Falls; M. E. Barry, Durand Motor Sales company, Durand; Anto Roal, Roal's Service garage, Medford, and Jacob Hartman, Harman's Service Station, Medford.

Only the Stevens Point firm, it was repored, will contest the action. Preliminary hearing will be held Nov. 10. The other five defendants, all used tire dealers, entered stipulations.

3 FLEE PRISON FARM; HOLD UP MADISON HUNTER

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3 [Special].—Wisconsin law enforcement officers today were searching for three convicts who escaped from the Thompson state prison farm near Cambridge after stealing an automobile from a Madison man in a holdup in which they used his shotgun.

The convicts are John Javanacker, 32 years old, and Howard Halverson, 22, both of Stoughton, and Roger Burke, 21, of Milwaukee.

They accosted K. H. Kiesel of Madison as he was hunting pheasants near Deerfield. One of the convicts seized Kiesel's shotgun and asserted, "We're convicts. We're desperate." After taking money and six shotgun shells from Kiesel, the prisoners drove off in the stolen car.

Manufacturing Pay Rolls Increase in Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3 [Special].—Manufacturing pay rolls in Wisconsin increased from 318,400 to 322,700 between August and September, the state industrial commission reported today. Employment last January was 290,600. The average weekly wage for workers, the commission said, was $37.86 in September, as compared to $34.70 in January. Milwaukee's 132,000 estimated wage earners in September earned 5,587,000, up 1.2 per cent over the previous month.

DENIED LIE TEST BY FBI, TREASON SUSPECT CLAIMS

Sought Chance to Prove Innocence: Froehling.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Repeated requests for a lie detector test to prove his innocence were denied him by federal agents last July 1 to 3, it was testified yesterday by Walter Froehling, one of six Chicago men and women on trial for their lives before Federal Judge William J. Campbell and a jury in the first treason case in Illinois history.

Froehing spent most of the afternoon on the stand, in the absence of the jury, on a defense motion to exclude from the record the third of several statements the defendant is said to have signed in the presence of agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. At the conclusion of a similar hearing yesterday morning, Judge Campbell admitted statements Froehling is said to have signed on June 28 and 30.

Charges Curses and Threats.

In both his appearances on the stand, the defendant has charged that he was cursed and threatened by FBI agents at a time when he had gone sleepless several nights and was homesick and distraught.

All the statements presented by the prosecution link Froehling and the other five defendants with Herbert Haupt, who was executed Aug. 8 with five of seven other Nazi saboteurs who were landed on the east coast by German U-boats last June 13 and 17.

The six Chicagoans are accused of sheltering young Haupt and of helping him prepare for his mission of sabotage against America's wartime light metals industry. Those on trial in addition to Froehling and his wife, Lucile, uncle and aunt of Herbert Haupt, are Haupt's parents, Hans Max and Erna Haupt, and two friends, Otto and Kate Wergin.

Froehling testified that he had signed the June 30 statement because John F. Hennessey of the FBI had promised him he might go home. Instead, he said, he was taken secretly to the Winnetka police station and lodged in a basement cell. Haupt and Wergin also were there.

Denies Mistreatment.

Agent Hennessey underwent a gruelling cross-examination by Defense Attorneys Paul A. F. Warnholtz and Benedict J. Short, but denied steadfastly that he had mistreated or threatened Froehling. Warnholtz asked him if he were not known as "the tough bird of the FBI." Hennessey said he wasn't.

Cross-examination of Froehling by Earle C. Hurley, assistant United States district attorney, was even more intensive. Questioning of the defendant about his statement that he had sought a lie detector test in the hope of winning his freedom, gave Froehling an opportunity to express his personal fear of Agent Hennessey.

Q. [by Hurley]—Of whom did you ask permission to be allowed to take a lie detector test? A.—FBI Agents Regan and Brock.

Q.—When did you ask for the test? A.—Some time during the five days I was there.

Q.—Was it long after June 30? A.—I do not want to make an incorrect statement, so I will say it was a day or two after.

Q.—Did you ask Agent Hennessey for the test? A.—No. I was afraid of the man.

Froehling testified that when Hennessey appeared at the basement cell to question him on July 2, the agent was told the defendant had eaten no breakfast or lunch. The agent walked over to Froehling's cell and looked in.

Takes Him Upstairs.

"Open the door," the defendant quoted Hennessey as saying. "Let me get in there and knock him down a couple of times and he'll eat!"

The door was unlocked and Hennessey went in, but merely sat down and talked to the prisoner. This was at 5 p. m. At about 11 p. m. the agent took Froehling upstairs and talked to him several hours and at 3 a. m. of July 3 the prisoner signed the third statement, Hennessey said.

Froehling, however, insisted he did not remember signing it and was sure it had not been given to him to read nor had it been read to him.

"You had two statements. What was the purpose of a third one?" Warnholtz demanded.

"We simply were trying to get additional information about the case," Hennessey replied.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that after the FBI had read Haupt's confession in Washington you were ordered to get a third statement from Froehling and make his story conform to Herbert Haupt's? A.—I certainly was not.

Q.—You didn't incorporate material you wanted from the first two statements into this new one? A.—I did not.

"Feel Much Better."

Q.—What did Froehling say to you? Didn't he tell you he was tired and upset and had been sleepless many nights? A.—No. When he signed the statement he said: "This is a complete statement of all I know about the case. My heart is clear. I feel much better now."

Q.—You've repeated that speech till you know it by heart? A.—No, sir.

Over many defense objections, Judge Campbell permitted Hennessey to testify that Froehling appeared to be in a good physical and mental condition. A second FBI agent, who was present when the statement was taken, will be called by the government today.

Froehling testified that many things contributed to his distrait condition in the Winnetka jail. He said that his bunk was hard boards covered by thin blankets, that three FBI agents sat outside his cell and talked constantly, that a woman talked in a loud voice upstairs, that the police radio blared constantly, and that shots were fired at intervals each night and all day July 4.

Hennessey denied hearing shots and Hurley questioned Froehling at length about the sounds. The implication was that Froehling had heard firecrackers.

2 GIRLS MISSING NEAR WHERE 3D WAS MURDERED

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 3 (AP).—Police began an intensive search today for two 14 year old girls who disappeared on separate days about three weeks ago—a search spurred by a third girl's story to police that a man in an automobile accosted her a few days after their disappearance and told her "you're next."

Another factor was that one of the missing girls, Bette Andrews of Lynn, lived less than two miles from the thicket where slain Frances M. Cochran's body was found a year ago last July. The 17 year old Cochran girl's slayer never was apprehended.

The Andrews girl last was seen on the evening of Oct. 13 when she left her home for a three minute walk to a store. She never reached the store.

The other missing girl is Phyllis Taylor of Dracut, who last was seen on the afternoon of Oct. 12—the day prior to the Andrews girl's disappearance.

MUSIC TEACHER FEARS DEAFNESS, HANGS HERSELF

Miss Gladys McKirnan, a teacher of music for many years, was found hanged yesterday in her home at 420 South Grove avenue, Oak Park. Her mother, Mrs. Suzanne McKirnan, said that Miss McKirnan had been gradually losing her hearing and that she had been afraid her musical career would suffer. Miss McKirnan, who was 46 years old, was ironing when her mother left their home yesterday morning. Mrs. McKirnan found her daughter hanged with a clothesline on returning a short time later.

Cyclone Hits Bengal Area of India; 11,000 Lose Lives

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—Eleven thousand persons lost their lives on Oct. 16 during a cyclone which devastated sections of Bengal province, according to British press reports from India today. Seventy-five per cent of the cattle in the affected districts were lost, it added. The storm was the greatest disaster in India since the Quetta earthquakes killed 40,000 persons and devastated hundreds of miles of the countryside in 1935.

MRS. ROOSEVELT VIEWS WOMAN'S WAR-PEACE ROLE

Seeks British Pointers on Factory Output.

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today took a look into both the practical and the intellectual sides of the American woman's future in war and peace.

Seeking pointers for increasing the turnout of women in American war factories, she visited day nurseries which care for the children of women engaged in British war factories, and inquired at the food ministry concerning the workings of about 17,000 factory canteens and 1,721 government restaurants for factory families which reduce the housewives' domestic duties.

Urges International Thinking.

At a luncheon given for her by Dame Rachel Crowdy, an information ministry regional adviser, Mrs. Roosevelt told a group of prominent British women that "one of the most difficult tasks we have to face is to make women think internationally."

"I feel a sense of great responsibility to reach all women and make them feel that they have an obligation and personal responsibility for international thinking in the postwar period.

"Unless they do, I see very little hope of ever preventing what we are going thru now."

The audience included Novelist Phyllis Bentley of the information ministry's American division and Mrs. Montagu Norman, wife of the president of the Bank of England and head of a women's group on public welfare.

Eases Strenuous Schedule.

Coasting a bit on her breath taking England in 20 days' tour, the American President's wife did not leave London today. She only visited two nurseries, the food ministry, the British War Relief Society of America, attended a luncheon, and saw the ruined house of commons and the new secret commons meeting place.

At the food ministry Lord Woolton told her "any employer who doesn't look out for feeding his workers belongs to a by-gone age."

"I'm afraid, then, that many in the United States belong to a by-gone age," Mrs. Roosevelt remarked.

Lord Woolton, the food minister, gave her many facts about the war canteens which serve meals to workers for the equivalent of 20 cents.

AMERICA LOSING WAR, CATHOLIC EDUCATOR SAYS

America is losing the war and cannot hope to win it unless the nation "from the top down" is prepared to accept greater sacrifice, Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., well known Catholic educator and executive vice president of Georgetown university said yesterday. He spoke on "Democracy and the World Revolution" before the Rotary Club of Chicago in the Sherman hotel.

"I doubt if the full significance and gravity of our position have as yet penetrated the national consciousness as a whole," he told his listeners. "Too many among us still retain the dangerous and deceptive memory of victories in American history, and assume that as we won every other war we shall win this one, too.

"While agreeing that we must win—or perish—I am dismayed at the easy confidence implied in that dangerous word 'therefore.' We are not winning at this moment. We are losing, and will not win ever," Father Walsh said, "unless we face the task with a sterner and more resolute acceptance of greater sacrifice, personal, collective, and governmental, than is thus far apparent."

The example of sacrifice to which he referred, Father Walsh said, "must start from the top down," a remark which he said he would not comment on further "until after the elections."

Father Walsh, who assisted Dwight Morrow in establishing peace between the Catholic church and Mexico in 1929 and is famed for his famine relief work in soviet Russia in 1922, paid tribute to the patriotism of the youth comprising America's armed forces.

BUTTER RATIONS LOOM IN DRAIN BY LEND-LEASE

Demands of Russia, Britain, and Allies Grow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Rationing of butter may start much sooner than most people expect, it was learned from official sources tonight.

No official date for butter rationing has been set. Office of Price Administration spokesmen say no butter rationing program is in the offing, but department of agriculture officials revealed a fact today that heretofore has not been considered in dairy trade predictions of "rationing before spring."

Russia wants the United States to send her under the lend-lease program at least 10 million pounds of butter a month.

Britain Also Needs It.

This fact was disclosed by Agricultural Marketing Administration spokesmen. This amount far exceeds butter purchases so far under the lend-lease program and will drain heavily on domestic supplies, they said.

AMA officials say the lend-lease food buying agency in the last 18 months has purchased a total of only about 26 million pounds of butter. Now they hope to obtain more than that in three months. And more may be needed to meet the requirements of Britain "and our other allies," they admitted.

As the situation stands today, the department of agriculture reported, the United States had on Oct. 1 about 126 million pounds of butter in reserve. This was held in cold storage in warehouses thruout the nation. But we are drawing on these reserves at an unprecedented rate, department spokesmen observed.

Reserves Are Smaller.

And these reserves were far smaller than we had at the corresponding time last year and considerably smaller than average for October, the department said.

Butter holdings on Oct. 1, a year ago, exceeded 163 million pounds. Oct. 1 butter reserves between 1937 and 1942 have averaged 163 million pounds. And butter is being eaten in greater quantities than ever before, the department said.

Also hastening the rationing of the dairy product is the steady decline in the production of new supplies. Butter production last week, according to Department of Agriculture estimates, fell 5 per cent from the preceding week and was 3 per cent smaller than in the corresponding week last year when requirements weren't so large. The department said the decline was more than of seasonal proportions.

Production Outlook Dim.

The men in charge of getting the nation's food requirements produced aren't in the least optimistic over the outlook for butter production next spring. The Department of Agriculture has found that farmers are selling off many of their milk cows because of the labor shortage. Reports reach it every day that farmers are culling their herds and selling their milk cows to the meat packers because of the high prices paid for beef and the proportionately lower prices paid for milk under the price ceilings.

And darkening the butter production outlook, too, is the growing demand for milk—milk to be dried for lend-lease and milk to be drunk fresh by the growing army of civilian workers.

The department added that milk production in 1942 reached an all-time peak under the most favorable of weather conditions. Its spokesmen said it isn't likely that we shall have as good pastures and as fine crops that will favor high milk production next year as we have had this.

DISCOVER KNIFE WOUNDS ON WIFE'S BODY AFTER FIRE

Chatsworth, Ga., Nov. 3 (AP).—Sheriff J. W. Morrison said today investigation disclosed knife wounds on the torso of Mrs. Mark Pulliam, 39 years old, a farm wife, whose charred body was found with those of five of her children after fire destroyed their home yesterday.

"We believe the knife wounds caused her death," he said. Bedclothes around the body showed evidence of blood, he said, and an open knife was found nearby. Mark Pulliam, husband and father of the victims, who has been charged with murder, was removed to another jail for safe keeping, the sheriff said.

Morrison said a woman he listed as Della Mae Hall had been arrested on a warrant charging her with being an accessory before the fact of murder. Deputy Sheriff Tom Crow quoted the woman as saying she was with Pulliam in Chattanooga, Tenn., over the week-end but had not seen him since Sunday.

CITY DETECTIVE'S WIFE BADLY HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

Mrs. Evelyn Clark, 39 years old, 5313 Grace street, wife of Detective William Clark of the Chicago avenue police, was injured seriously yesterday when she was struck by an automobile at Addison street and Lockwood avenue. Joseph K. Joseph, 23, of 3331 Oriole avenue, a war plant worker, the driver, told Jefferson Park police that Mrs. Clark stepped in front of his car. He was not held. Mrs. Clark was taken to the Belmont hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 571 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 435 died in Chicago where 16,825 were injured in the same period.

DISMISS DRAFT CHARGE AGAINST GERMAN NATIVE

Otto Ringstmeyer, a naturalized German, was "just hot" when he told a traffic policeman he didn't want to fight against his relatives in Germany. So he told United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday when he was arraigned on a charge of not having a draft card. He was turned over to federal authorities Oct. 20 for failure to have his card when he was arrested for speeding. Yesterday John Kiely, an assistant United States attorney, said that Ringstmeyer, who is 22 years old and lives at 3319 North Kenneth avenue, is duly registered and soon will be inducted. Ringstmeyer added he had tried to enlist in the navy but was turned down because the navy will not accept men who have been citizens less than 10 years. Commissioner Walker dismissed the draft evasion charge.

MICHAEL IARUSSI SERVICES WILL BE HELD ON FRIDAY

Funeral services for Michael Iarussi, 761 Taylor street, former vice president of the Chicago public library board, will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in Guardian Angel's church. Mr. Iarussi, in the undertaking business on the near west side 40 years, left the library board about three years ago after 15 years as a member. He was active in the Democratic party and once was a candidate for state senator.

In addition to his widow, Laura, he is survived by a son, Guy, and a daughter, Camille.

Madison Bus Hits, Kills 2; Faulty Brakes Blamed

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3 [Special].—Police here tonight said "faulty brakes" on a Madison Bus company vehicle were directly responsible for the deaths of Mrs. Alida Blodgett, 74 years old, and Wayne Henning, 13. The accident occurred late today at Regent and Spooner streets. According to officers, the driver, Lyle Landon, attempted to slow down the bus as it neared the intersection. When the brakes failed, the bus, which contained 24 passengers, struck the Henning boy's bicycle. The bus then swerved into Mrs. Blodgett, who was crossing the street.

GEN. ESTRADA, 53, HEAD OF MEXICAN RAILWAYS, DIES

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 3 (AP).—Gen. Enrique Estrada, 53 year old manager of the National Railways of Mexico and a former revolutionist, died today. Gen. Estrada served as minister of war under President Adolfo de la Huerta in 1920 and fought various rebel groups but in 1923 he was on the other side as the leader of a revolution against President Alvaro Obregon. Estrada scored several successes against the federals, but finally met defeat early in 1924, when he fled to the United States. In 1926 he was arrested at San Diego, Calif., accused of plotting a revolt against President Plutarco Elias Calles. Charged with violation of the United States neutrality laws, he was convicted, sentenced to nine months in prison and fined $10,000. He returned later to Mexico and in 1941 was named manager of the nationalized railway system and was directing an expansion program when he died.

BOOKS

These 4 Books on War Cover a Broad Range

"The Unrelenting Struggle," by Winston S. Churchill. [Little-Brown, $3.50.]

"Behind the Face of Japan," by Upton Close. [Appleton-Century, $4.]

"What About Germany?" by Louis P. Lochner. [Dodd-Mead, $3.]

"Last Train from Berlin," by Howard K. Smith. [Knopf, $2.75.]

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Unrelenting Struggle," which gives the title to the collected speeches of the prime minister of England, has become since the date of the first of those speeches, in November, 1940, a struggle of vaster geographical manifestations and of more widespread psychological implications and a struggle which every private citizen of the vast united nations now knows MUST be unrelenting.

All of us can't use the shooting weapons of this war. But all of us can use, intelligently and unrelentingly, weapons of ideas. These four books give such weapons more precise aim, more efficient firing power.

Winston Churchill's speeches, delivered between Nov. 12, 1940, and Dec. 30, 1941, are gathered into a volume which has much more significance than the mere collection of historical records. Many of these speeches we have heard over the air with respect for their creator's courage of forthrightness and honesty in facing and delivering bad news when it was bad, confident in his fellow men's preference for an uneasy truth to an easy falseness of report. We now read those, and many others which we did not hear, with wonder at the exact and beautiful prose which often gives even to Mr. Churchill's routine reports to the British people the quality of literature destined to live.

Here the reader hears the story of Britain's share in the unrelenting struggle of those 13 fateful months, the story of history as it is being made, told by a man who will go down in history not only as a great leader, but as a great historian.

A closer understanding of our allies is a psychological vitamin, but to put the iron in our souls and blood in our eye for offense against our enemies we must understand what as well as why we are fighting. The other three books will help us whetstone our mental weapons.

Upton Close published "Behind the Face of Japan" in 1935. He has brought it up to date with fewer changes than one would suspect. When it first came out it looked like a firebrand. Now it sounds as calm as a surgical chart.

Mr. Close analyzes political, social, economic, psychological Japan. He relates its history. He describes its heroes of the past and of the present. He analyzes its political ideals of world conquest and its methods of attaining those ideals. In the psychology of the Japanese he finds that most dangerous of compulsions—a conviction of destiny to save the world. Not only power, but its belief in manifest destiny, must be bombed out of Japan and out of Japanese psychology, he says.

Of the two books about Germany, one was written by a man who was for 14 years chief of the Associated Press bureau in Berlin, a man of 56, born in Springfield, Ill., a man obviously schooled in the special kind of diplomacy which makes newspaper men solid props for the often more ephemeral diplomats.

When he answers the question, "What About Germany?" Louis Lochner is talking about something which he knows about, intimately. His book, it seems to me, is as straightforward a statement of what we have to fight in Germany as any one could make. It is unsensational. And it is strangely startling.

Mr. Lochner's newspaper service in Germany began in 1924, so that he saw the rise of Hitler. One of the revealing sentences in the book is: "We who were domiciled in Germany thru all those first years of Nazi rule often marveled at the amount of good will that was poured into an essentially bad cause." No one has printed a more devastating nor more intimate picture of the essential rottenness of Nazi party politics, its jealousies, its extravagances, its lies, its crimes.

Louis Lochner does not minimize the power of the Nazis. He does not underestimate their military might. He explains their propaganda methods without minimizing their effectiveness. He tells grim tales of the civilian privations which the Germans have suffered, but promises no immediate internal revolution. But he feels that there is another Germany than Hitler's, that underground activities are increasingly successful within Germany itself, as well as in the occupied countries of Europe, and that a German "Front of Decent People" might rise up to crush the Nazis if the united nations could encourage them [via propaganda] "with assurances that they too will share in the construction of a real New Order."

"Last Train from Berlin" was written by a 27 year old man whose impressions are sharp and whose training as a radio announcer as well as a newspaperman have given him a sharp eye for the vivid. His book is much more sensational than Mr. Lochner's. It tells of not a slow but a swift disintegration of German morale, after Germany went into Russia. Mr. Smith says the German people never wanted this war and they are wanting it less and less as life becomes harder and harder. However, he declares, the German people are not "going to revolt tomorrow, for they have nothing to revolt for; but they are open to suggestion.."

"Last train from Berlin" is a colorful, keen, crisp record of the impact of a strange—and horrible—scene upon a person articulate enough to put into words what his sensitiveness made him feel and think. It is extremely interesting, but perhaps it leaves the reader a little too optimistic about the state of rottenness inside what he describes as the big shiny red apple of Nazi power.

Noted Authors Write Stories of Their Lives

"No Hiding Place," by William Seabrook. [Lippincott, $3.] Published last Wednesday.

"Without Fame," by Otto Eisenschiml. [Alliance, $3.50.]

"No Hiding Place" might have been called just "No Hiding." No autobiography of our day has been more downright outspoken, more "naked" psychologically than this one of William Seabrook. Those who thought his "Asylum" was as frank a submersion of a human into the acid of autobiography as they had ever come upon have something still to learn about frankness in "No Hiding Place."

William Seabrook tells the story of a strange and twisted life with an uncannily clear-eyed understanding in his autobiography. When he was no paragon he makes no apologies for it. He even explains the hitherto un-public intricacies of his evils. He seems to gain a certain spiritual and psychological catharsis by offering himself no hiding place from censure.

He is his own most consistent and most understanding portraitist and caricaturist and symbolist. He was the son of an "itinerant preacher" and a mother who resented his father's poverty and "call" to the ministry from a lucrative law and political career. He was a boy who disliked his younger brother and tied little girls' hands behind their backs [and never got over his complex of physically shackling women]. He tried "being a Central railway stenographer, newspaper reporter, city editor, tramp, advertising executive, Rotarian, soldier for France, cotton grower, trained seal in the Koenigsberg syndicates . . . a misguided associate publisher for William Randolph Hearst . . . a professional horse thief," and America's most sensational traveler-writer, who became a voodoo worshiper in Haiti, a black magician, a cannibal, a drunkard, and lived to tell the tale.

The tales which he previously has told are less startling than the tale of his own life, which he has explored in the same spirit of adventure, the same spirit of wonder and of enthusiastic interest in its oddities that his journeys to far places of the globe, the spirit, and moralities have taken him.

"No Hiding Place" is a courageously honest autobiography, and therefore compelling.

Otto Eisenschiml, our fellow Chicagoan, who is known to readers of books as the man who wrote the startling "Why Was Lincoln Murdered?" and "In the Shadow of Lincoln's Death," merely topped off the later days of his growing leisure with the hobby of historical detective work. What made that hobby possible was a long life as an increasingly successful chemist.

It is about his years as a chemist that this extremely pleasant autobiography is concerned—his years as an immigrant boy fresh from college in Vienna, as a young man working in a profession which he still claims is "without fame," his lucky inventions—the "window envelope," a coating for barbed wire to prevent it from rusting—used in the first World war—his years of expert testimony in court cases, his help in drafting pure ingredients laws, a fabulous era of dealing in commodities, and finally the era which brought him fame as an author.

"Without Fame" is as different from "No Hiding Place" as two autobiographies could possibly be. It is restrained in its intimacy — indeed, there is so little about what the hero thought or felt in these pages that it might have been written by some one who merely knew about him. It is a completely extravert autobiography—"No Hiding Place" a completely introvert one. Not "how he got that way," but "how he is—or was" is the theme of "Without Fame."

But if you think that an autobiography cannot be a pleasure to read that doesn't turn the lining of a man's soul inside out, you're mistaken. Otto Eisenschiml's is simple and engaging and real, the story of what America gave to a young man who knew what he wanted and knew that it was America.

"Continuous Performance," a biography of A. J. Balaban by Carrie Balaban [Putnams, $3.50], the life story of another Chicagoan, will be published on Friday. It is a factual record of the remarkable success of one of the Balaban & Katz theater magnates. Interesting photographs from early movies illustrate the first part of the book. Most of it is rather family record than industrial biography.

SKIING FOR WAR TO DEVELOP NEW SKILL FOR PEACE

Training in Ontario Is an Omen for Old Timers.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 3 [Special]. —Ski fans of northern Canada not now in active service will have to keep in physical trim, experts point out, if they want to retain laurels after the war. Because of the Canadian army's program of ski troop training much of the finesse of expert Norwegian skiers now in military training in Ontario is being developed in young Canadians who formerly took the sport lightly.

The Canadian army will conduct a special instructors' course in skiing this winter at Pettawawa, one of the largest Ontario camps. The training, which will be both long and arduous, will end with a 5 to 10 day "scheme." During this the ski troops, with equipment and supplies kept at absolute minimum, will be required to live almost entirely off the country.

Woods Skill Essential.

This means that, besides learning to handle his skis and rifle, discover and plot "enemy" positions, and take marksmanship tests after strenuous exercise, the patrol man also must know how to contrive ingenious, homemade snares to catch rabbits and other small game for food, and how to light a smokeless fire [dry bark and dry wood] so that the "enemy" will not learn of his presence. The military skier's skill in these two details and also in catching fish thru the ice may mean the difference between winning and losing in a game of wits and endurance, experts say.

While the Norwegians now in training in Toronto's "little Norway" are certainly experts by virtue of early training, they are meeting plenty of active competition among their Canadian allies because men of northern Ontario are sturdy, coming as they do from mining country where the winters are long, cold, and deep with snow.

Safety Put Ahead of Speed.

Both Canadian and Norwegian officials state that fancy turns, high style, and similar frills are "out" as far as military skiing is concerned, and they list as the important phases of skiing physical condition, endurance, braking, and technique. They stress that speed must be sacrificed to safety and that coöperation means more than competition on maneuvers.

Last winter several military ski meets were held at Muskoka, popular terrain in Ontario, and more are planned for this season. The usual military race covers about 20 miles, each man carrying a 16 pound pack, plus his rifle. After six or seven miles he must shoot 10 rounds of ammunition at a small figure target.

Officials believe it likely that many of the men who take this military ski training will develop unusual enthusiasm for the sport and will want to add skiing frills to fundamentals when the war is won and that the old time ski fans are going to have to keep in condition to be able to offer them worthy competition.

MIDWEEK TRAVEL MORE LIKELY TO OBTAIN A SPACE

He who travels in the middle of the week travels most surely, according to Frank A. Judd, representative of the New York Central System. The demand for accommodations is heaviest over week-ends, and the traveler who engages space during the period of Tuesday thru Thursday is more likely to see his vacation plans thru successfully.

To date, said Judd, the New York Central has not had to reject any civilian travel because passengers are being coöperative in making reservations early. "Courtesy and good nature go a long way toward keeping civilian travel orderly," he added. "Accepting accommodations other than those requested, making reservations early, and relinquishing them as soon as one determines he cannot use them as planned—all these help the railroads to serve the public."

JOINING OF RAILS IS RE-ENACTED ON PACIFIC RAILROAD

Promontory, Utah, Nov. 3 [Special]. —The historic ceremony of the joining of the rails of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, in 1869, recently was reënacted, in reverse. Whereas 73 years ago a "golden spike" was driven to unite the two lines, for the purposes of national security during the Civil war, last month officials of the Union Pacific, witnessed by local dignitaries and veterans of early railroading days, pulled the "last spike." It was war which caused the merger, and it is war which has called for the dismantling of the 123 miles of track. In recent years only one train a day has been operated on the old line, and the track was ordered abandoned and scrapped for metal salvage.

The birds at Daytona Beach contribute to the relaxation of a Florida vacation. Feeding them, the visitor forgets his worries.

PALM BEACH HAS USUAL SPACE TO HOUSE VISITORS

Rentals Same as Last Year, Realtor Says.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Nov. 3 [Special].—The same amount of hotel and apartment space will be available to winter visitors in West Palm Beach and Palm Beach as in seasons past, it was announced today by Mayor J. O. Bowen.

None of the accommodations has been taken over, as yet, by the armed forces, and to date there have been no indications that the military authorities have plans for occupying buildings in this area.

Accommodations Available.

In West Palm Beach, there are approximately 2,000 hotel rooms and 1,250 apartment suites regularly occupied by winter residents and visitors, while private homes, with from one to five rooms each for tourist use, will add accommodations for another 8,000 to 10,000 persons, it is estimated.

Early arrivals, who usually plan to stay in Florida from six to eight months, are more numerous this year than last, officials report. Fuel rationing thruout the northern states may have some influence on these reservations, it is pointed out.

Old Residents in Service.

While army officers from nearby camps and air bases are occupying many private homes and some apartments, departure of many full time residents for defense production areas has provided an equivalent amount of dwelling space for winter residents.

According to J. E. Hollenbeck, president of the Palm Beach county real estate board, rental charges thruout this resort area are the same as last year.

Nation's Own Yule Tree Center of Fete This Year

"Giant General Grant," a tree in King's Canyon National park, California, again will be the scene of ceremony on Dec. 25. Officially dedicated as "the nation's Christmas tree," it is 267 feet tall and 40 feet in diameter and annually the hub of a holiday celebration.

Please name some places of interest within Mexico City.—R. W. M.

There are several points of interest within Mexico City: The national palace with Diego Rivera's murals; 16th century San Felipe and San Francisco; 18th century Renaissance Iturbide palace, the "house of masks" with carved gargoyles; colorful markets crowded with natives and native crafts; the "great cathedral" in which are imbedded fragments of an old Aztec temple; the National museum, where the monolithic Aztec calendar recalls the splendor of Mexico's historic past; above the city, visible from every point, the two snow capped volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl.

December 3.

Please furnish data on the strawberry industry in the southern states. —M. L. R.

In Louisiana the berry plant is set out each year during October, November, and December, while in Arkansas, Tennessee, and other berry states the plants are set only every two or three years, usually in February or March. In a recent season approximately 3,300 cars, or 2,500,000 crates, were shipped from Louisiana and about 500 or 600 cars were sold to cold packing companies. There are about 11,000 growers cultivating approximately 30,000 acres in Louisiana. The average yield per acre in that state is between 90 and 100 24-pint crates.

How did the city of Galveston, Tex., get its name?—R. T.

Historically, Galveston dates back to 1528, when Cabeza de Vaca was the first white man to set foot on the territory. In 1668 the French explorer, La Salle, laid claim to the land for his king and country, calling it San Louis. That régime lasted only until 1777, when the area succumbed to the Spanish count, Bernardo de Galvez. The city's English name was Galvestown, later contracted to Galveston.

ORLANDO GUESTS TO FIND VARIETY IN ITS PASTIME

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 3 [Special].—Equipped to give guests in Orlando the best in recreation, community officials have planned a varied program.

The Sanford Orlando Kennel club again is opening its season of greyhound racing in December. The races will be held six nights a week for three months. The coursing track is situated close to Orlando proper, and transportation facilities have been adequately arranged. Some of the nation's fastest dogs race at the track each winter. The large grandstand is glass enclosed to assure both perfect visability and comfort on cooler nights.

In contrast, Sunshine park, in the heart of Orlando, will offer a variety of sports calculated to please those who like to indulge moderately in exercise. An easy walk from most of the city's hotels, Sunshine park has lawn bowling courts, roque courses, and shuffleboard decks, and there are provisions, too, for devotees of quoits and horseshoes. The Roque club already has begun its season, and the Orlando Bowling club shortly will open its annual play, with many hundreds participating during the winter.

Guest Ranches Fit Their Travel to War Rationing

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 3 [Special].—Officials here assert this city will be less affected by gasoline rationing than any other vacation spot. Many of Tucson's guest ranches, it is said, will meet trains with stages or tally-hos, and others will arrange weekly station wagon trips to town on their gasoline ration.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Memo for the Boss.

Many have wanted to do it. Few have. And fewer still have been as forthright as the housekeeper of our W-G-N artist, Harold Turner. On a Wednesday she left a note to take care of a little matter coming up for consideration on Thursday, her day off. "I hope you haven't forgotten tomorrow is my birthday," she wrote, "but you can give it to me Friday."

Amanuensis.

The Illinois Institute of Technology is now putting out a little publication called Secretaries Only, designed to cover the interests of the feminine workers in that institution, especially the secretaries employed there. Published bimonthly, the first copy arrived the other day and makes good reading. Of the secretaries at Illinois Tech, it states that "14 are married, 11 can speak some foreign language, 18 have had some college training, 10 have been in college approximately two years or more, and one wants to get married but 'he' says 'no.'"

Secretaries Only takes Webster's definition for a secretary: "A confidential clerk, especially one who attends to correspondence, records, etc., of a private or confidential character." "In the old days," it says, "a secretary called herself an amanuensis. It was the more polite form, and even nowadays occasionally a female applicant will state that she is applying for a position as an amanuensis. [This type is still back in the ages when a man got up, bowed, and offered his seat to a lady.]"

For and Agin It.

In defense of the girl, mentioned in a note to this column, who wears the same dress day after day at work, a reader writes: "It is my privilege to know a great many business women and girls who invest but a small part of their salaries in clothing and I want to emphasize that they are the people who are paying taxes, buying war bonds, putting children thru school and college, and otherwise contributing to the welfare of their country."

On the other side of the fence, A. W. writes: "In regard to the 33 day dress wearer, I supervise 20 girls and have tried to impress on them that, except for the initial outlay [which I admit is hard on the pocketbook], two dresses, or a skirt with two blouses, like two pairs of shoes, is an economy. Clothing worn many days in succession does not wear as well as clothing worn on alternate days. This is because cleaning preserves the life of material; oil and perspiration destroy it. If a girl has but one work dress, when can it be cleaned? Also, airing a dress and putting it on a hanger for a day gives it a chance to get back in shape. Likewise, shoes worn on alternate days will go back into shape and last longer. Any one who tries this will not dispute me; it is a saving, not an extravagance."

Mind Your Manners.

"Many people have the mistaken notion that etiquette is a luxury which only the leisure classes can afford.

"My answer to that is to reiterate that good manners are essentially nothing more nor less than the observance of certain principles of behavior which make for harmonious human relationships. And where is harmony more necessary than in a business office?"—From Mrs. Oliver Harriman's "Book of Etiquette."

Two Barrington 'Boys' March on Into 2d Century

Once upon a time, more than 100 years ago, there were two boys whose parents expected them to become President. The boys never fulfilled parental hopes. But the Barrington community will pay them honor this week nonetheless, as they march gaily onward in their second century of life.

George M. Jackson, who celebrated his 100th birthday June 1, will receive the congratulations of his neighbors today on another 100th anniversary. It was just a century ago that his parents brought him from New York state to the farm four miles west of Barrington, where he still lives.

Milton H. Myers of Park Ridge will observe his 101st birthday Saturday at the Barrington Rest home, where he now lives. Myers, state chaplain of the Grand Army of the Republic and the last surviving veteran of the Civil war on the Maine township rolls, will have a birthday cake with 101 candles.

Mr. Jackson has called the farm his home for the full hundred years, altho he served as marshal of Barrington for a year and a half in the '70s. Never having thrown anything away, he lived amid a collection of curios on the 202 acre farm. The old family melodeon ranks in his affections with the buggy in which he did his courting and the relic that stands beside the buggy, his first automobile, bought in 1910.

He lives with his son, Harvey, 67 years old, and a daughter, Grace, who is 53.

Mr. Myers, who still wears his Civil war uniform proudly to the GAR national encampments, recently has been ill, but he is recovering. He has two sons, Arthur Myers of 1007 Harrison street, Park Ridge, a tool company executive, and Prof. Walter R. Myers of the University of Minnesota.

This Home-Mixed Cough Syrup is Most Effective

Easily Mixed. Needs No Cooking

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough relief. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded it it doesn't please you in every way.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 3.—Metro has bought "Meet Me in St. Louis," by Sally Benson, for Judy Garland's next picture. Story is about a typical American family with four daughters and one son. Virginia Weidler will do one of the daughters, and picture will be made right after Judy finishes "Girl Crazy." After the hit Judy made in "Me and My Gal" [which picture, incidentally, broke an 18 year record at the Astor in New York], studio plans to keep her in the same type of rôle. . . . Mae West and Gregory Ratoff are all set to do a picture together at Columbia, and you can make a pretty sure bet that it'll be "Tropicana." Mae just turned down an offer to star in a picture at Universal which, in addition to salary, would have given her 20 per cent of the gross.

Judy Garland.

History Repeating Itself.

Twentieth is going to do "Les Miserables" again, but this time they'll call it "Jean Valjean," and Jean Gabin is set for the leading rôle. Story is being adapted to present day situation in France. It won't be a modernized version, but the relation between social conditions then and now will be pointed up. Only other character now cast for the picture is Javert, the police officer who dogs Jean's tracks thruout the story, and Laird Cregar will play it. . . . As a result of his work in "Now, Voyager," Paul Henried has been given the lead with Olivia de Havilland, Ida Lupino, and Nancy Coleman in "Devotion," the story of the Brontë sisters. Paul, by the way, is now at home recuperating from a dental operation. . . . I wonder if the fact that we're now making producers out of song writers means that we're going to have more harmony in the business.

No Wonder.

Alice Faye was all smiles on her first day's work in "Hello, Frisco, Hello," and she has plenty of reasons. One is that she's glad to get back to work, and another might be that, since she hasn't worked all year, Alice is the only principal in the cast who can draw a salary restriction. Still another is that her 4 months old daughter, Alice Jr., will appear with her in a "walk-on"—or, rather, a "crawl-on" part. . . . I hear both Republic and Warners would like to borrow Gil Lamb, that wacky comic of "The Fleet's In" and "Star Spangled Rhythm," but Paramount says "No soap." They have other plans for him, but they're not saying what. . . . Gil's been making himself a lot of friends "warming up" the studio audience before Rudy Vallée's radio show. Sometimes he holds forth for nearly an hour.

That's Service.

Kay Kyser gets back tomorrow night from probably the hottest three day trip he's ever made, but you won't hear any complaints from him. Starting at Indio, Kay's been entertaining all the soldiers at maneuvers on the desert. With the sky for a roof and the desert sands for a floor, Kay and his gang have been doing their stuff wherever they found the boys. . . . Adm. Emory Land was serving as bus boy at the Washington stage door canteen, and joined a group of sailors who were discussing ships. Impressed by the "bus boy's" knowledge, one of the gobs asked him what he did for a living. "I'm with the maritime commission" began Adm. Land, only to be interrupted by another bus boy named Leon Henderson, who shouted, as he sailed past wth a tray, "bus boys are not permitted to give out their addresses or phone numbers!"

Friendly Tip.

When he's out with Lana, Steve Crane does a burn if any one introduces her as Miss Turner. . . . And Maureen O'Hara won't answer her telephone these days unless you ask for Mrs. Price. . . . Now that he's a second lieutenant, Clark Gable will grow his mustache again. . . . Tommy Dorsey's daughter, Pat, is enrolled at William and Mary college in Williamsburg, Va. . . . John Beal says the new dim-out regulations don't bother him a bit after working all this time on "Edge of Darkness." . . . If you see a lady trying to thumb a ride on sunset boulevard it may be Blanche Yurka. . . . Now that her husband, Palmer Beaudette, is well enough to go back to his soldier duties, Cobina Wright is planning to return to Hollywood about the middle of this month.

Family Affair.

When Sue Carroll visited Alan Ladd on the "China" set last Saturday [her birthday], he presented her with a gold locket made in four sections: One for Alan's picture, one for Sue's, one for her daughter's, and the fourth for the baby expected in the spring. "If it's twins," says Alan, "I'll have another section added!" . . . Producer Edward Golden is trying to get Bonita Granville to accompany him when he goes out to sell to the exchanges "Hitler's Children," in which she appears. . . . Elaine Barrie showed up last night at the Bar of Music with Michael Crane, young Canadian actor, who, she tells me, is her main interest just now. Elaine has sold her home in Bel Air, and will auction off her furnishings next week. . . . An old gateman at Columbia was watching them take stills of Joel McCrea and Jean Arthur on the "Merry Go Round" set the other day. Finally he went up to the photographer and said, "Could I have one of these stills? Forty years ago my house was on this very spot—and these people are my most distinguished guests."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Something on the order of "Foreign Correspondent," this picture deals with the adventures of an American correspondent in Berlin.

Bill Roberts broadcasts regularly. . . . His scripts are gone over by Nazi vigilantes and a Nazi ear is bent to his every word. But JUST the samee, Bill's paper scoops the world. . . . For into his avowals of the success, sweetness, and light that perch on Nazi shoulders he manages to insert code words that reveal true conditions and secret plans.

Furious at the manner in which their secrets are pushed forth nakedly into the limelight—by whom they do not know—Gestapo agents go into action. . . . Suspicion finally centers on Roberts, and Capt. Carl von Rau of the intelligence sics his fiancée—a choice blonde—on the reporter's trail.

Karen gains valuable information for the Gestapo, at the same time, unwittingly, bringing trouble to one near and dear to herself. . . . From here on she runs with the hares—aided and deterred in turn by Capt. Carl's handsome girl secretary, who, for a long time, has been in love with him.

The action speeds its main characters thru high and low places—concentration camps and a hospital for the "insane." . . . It is interesting and full of suspense but not always convincing.

Dana Andrews is clean cut, clever, and unassuming. . . . He makes Bill Roberts ring true. . . . Martin Kosleck is sinisterly thrilling as the Gestapo head. A very brilliant young actor, this Kosleck. I would like to see him often. . . . Virginia Gilmore and Mona Maris are charming and believable. . . . Erwin Kaiser and Sig Rumann do nice "bits."

Direction was able.

But, all in all, "Berlin Correspondent" is just another hoss from the spy stable.

See you tomorrow.

Stage Notes

The Northwestern University theater opens its season tonight with "Letters to Lucerne," Fritz Rotter's and Allen Vincent's drama about a group of schoolgirls in Switzerland at the outbreak of the war. The performance, to be given in the Speech building on the Evanston campus, will be repeated tomorrow and Friday evenings.

"Adamant Eve," a play with music based on Sardou's "Divorcons," received its première Monday evening at the Curran theater in San Francisco. After bookings on the coast, it will move to Chicago whenever a theater becomes available. The new text is by Francis Edwards and the music by Henry Hold. The cast includes Carol Stone [Fred Stone's youngest daughter], Rex O'Malley, Barry Norton, and Norma Zarden. It was in "Divorcons," incidentally, that Grace George, now playing at the Selwyn theater in "Spring Again," made one of her early successes, back in 1907.

WHAT CAN YOU LOSE?

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Brazilians, Too.

Thought you'd like to know that officials of the Brazilian consulate here are as hard pushed for coffee as the average nonhoarder today. Maybe more so, for they have none. Aureo Cabral, assistant to the consul, told us wistfully yesterday that for two weeks he has made the weary rounds of the groceries in his neighborhood and hasn't been able to buy a grain. It bothers the other Brazilians, as they are heavy coffee drinkers and drink it in such strength that they really need a spoon to get it to their mouths, but Mr. Cabral is fairly optimistic. "One cup a day will be all right with me," he said, "for I drink only one cup in the morning, and as long as I have maté and water, I don't care." Mr. Cabral, it turned out, is from the south of Brazil and a maté [Brazilian tea] drinker rather than a coffee drinker. Right now he can find plenty of maté in any Chicago store. In closing he confessed that his first name, Aureo, means gold. "And that," he said with a baffling gayety, "is another thing that lacks here in our office."

Nomenclature.

As candidate for a niche in the roster of nomenclature extraordinary, John E. Ertsman offers the name of an insignificant thorofare in Memphis, Tenn. It is November 6th street. Back in the early days of F. D. R. and the NRA, a parade was held to publicize the latter. Its starting point was a wide alley, part of which bore, and still bears, the name, Whiskey Chute. The town fathers later made the alley a qualified street and named it after the date of the parade.

City Sight.

Even seasoned street car riders gaped in awe the other afternoon at the 30 large, buxom ladies on a Clark street car. Each lady clutched in her hand a long, carved wooden Chinese back scratcher.

Martial Desserts.

From a wayfarer in Madison, Wis., come details of the menu in a Madison drug store. It offered "Waves' Delight," described as strawberry and crushed pineapple over butter pecan ice cream; "Khaki Sundae," butter cream caramel sauce on three scoops of vanilla ice cream topped with crushed nuts; and "Navy Blue Forever Sundae," blueberries over three scoops of vanilla ice cream topped with fresh nuts. It is easy to see how caramel makes khaki and blueberries make navy, but just how do strawberry and pineapple simulate a WAVE?

Compensation.

The wife of Horace Caytow, head of the South Parkway Community center, is the first Negro WAAC officer to come to our attention. We saw her the other night at the opening of "Porgy and Bess," a trim figure in beautifully tailored khaki, the gold bars of a second lieutenant on her shoulders. A friend asked her how she liked being an officer, and we overheard her say, "Well, I can get up at 6 now. I used to get up at 5:10." The friend considered this a minute and then said, comfortingly, "Well, my father used to say hell would be fine if you only spent six months there."

Conversations of the Day.

"See here," the irate young woman said to a gentleman she had known for years, "I left word yesterday for you to call me. Why didn't you?"

"See here, madam," the gentleman retorted. "I spent all yesterday stripped in my draft examination, and I have such an inferiority complex today I can't call any one."

Help Wanted.

Now that this column has found pianos for the air corps at Hill field, Utah, sheet music for the air force at the Stevens hotel, and three Opals for an ex-cowboy in Oklahoma who once loved a Chicago Opal but couldn't remember her last name, a reader asks that we start a crusade to rid the near north side of rats. There is always the hope that yesterday's election saw to that, but if this fails, our reader suggests that we revive an 18th century custom and write a letter to the mice, requesting that they leave.

Welsh Club Luncheon.

The Welsh Woman's Club of Chicago will hold a luncheon meeting at 12:30 o'clock today in the Fine Arts building.

'Priorities' Gets Palm for Mirth and for Talent

"PRIORITIES OF 1942."

Variety revue in two parts. Dances directed by Marjery Fielding. Performance conducted by Phil Romano. Presented by Clifford C. Fischer, by arrangement with the Messrs. Shubert, in the Erlanger theater, Tuesday evening, Nov. 3, 1942.

THE ENTERTAINERS.

Argentinita, Lou Holtz, Willie Howard, Hank Ladd, Bert Wheeler, Gene Sheldon, Pilar Lopez, Federico Rey, Carlos Montoya, Luba Malina, Peggy and Moro, Francetta Malloy, Diane Denise, Loretta Fischer, Lari and Conchita, Al Kelly, Laura Saunders, Charles Senna, Pablo Miquel, the Helen Reynolds skaters, and the Versailles Beauties.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Even in the halcyon days of big time two-a-day vaudeville the Erlanger theater, then known as the Palace, seldom saw its stage filled closer to the bursting point with top grade talent than it is now with "Priorities of 1942." Put Lou Holtz on the stage alone, or Willie Howard, or Bert Wheeler, and each of them will hold your attention and entertain you without a moment's lapse. Bring them together in a three cornered colloquy like the one toward the end of the first half of "Priorities," and you have gagsterism at its peak.

But these resourceful and unerring funny men by no means represent the full resources of the new variety show brought together by Clifford Fischer and the Shuberts. Just as the old Orpheum circuit used to offer Sarah Bernhardt, or Ethel Barrymore, or Johanna Gadski from time to time, so that vaudeville fans might share in the delights of the carriage trade, so the present entrepreneurs have lured Argentinita and her matchless partners away from the formal concert stage, to give theater patrons a glimpse of some of the world's most enchanting Spanish dancing.

In the months that have elapsed since "Priorities of 1942" first came before the footlights in New York, the management also has learned the value of strong supporting performers. Replacements and revisions in the show have eliminated all the dead wood from the original cast, so that from Luba Molina, a new and vital Russian singer of popular songs, to Gene Sheldon, a rubber faced comedian skyrocketing toward the top of the profession, there is not an unentertaining entertainer on the stage.

With a dizzy troupe of acrobatic roller skating girls, the Helen Reynolds skaters, to start the show off on a high pitch, and with a small but attractive aggregation of girls known mystifyingly as the Versailles Beauties, the show is complete.

Let nobody suppose that "Priorities of 1942" is expensively staged, for it was obviously done on a shoestring; or that Mr. Holtz's Lapidus stories, Mr. Howard's sketches, or Mr. Wheeler's conversation either with Hank Ladd or with himself represents the last word in novelty, sophistication, and freedom from corn; or that all the subject matter is fit for the unsullied ears of the young.

Quite the contrary. The show is economical, and at times even cheap, in appearance, except when Federico Rey's handsome costumes for Argentinita, Pilar Lopez, and himself are on view. Mr. Wheeler did his same acts next door at the Grand Opera house only four months ago. Both Mr. Holtz and Mr. Howard sometimes lapse into peepshow humor which might well be erased from the script if the family trade is to be attracted.

Except for the supreme art of Argentinita and her troupe, "Priorities of 1942" will appeal to you in proportion to your sympathy for traditional variety entertainment, or your lack of sympathy. I may not have your kind of taste, but I know good craftsmen at work when I see them, and I enjoyed "Priorities" without inhibition.

Hockey Crowd Set for Opener TomorrowNight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE most important event of the year to real dyed-in-the-wool hockey fans is the opening of the ice hockey season tomorrow night at the Chicago Stadium, when the Chicago Black Hawks will meet the Boston Bruins. The list of boxholders for Thursday and Sunday night matches does not vary much from year to year, but this winter some of the younger boxholders are in the service, so their names are missing.

Thorne Donnelley, Solomon A. Smith, Philip D. Block Jr., T. Philip Swift, Philip K. Wrigley, and Philip D. Armour Jr. and their wives are some of the rinkside boxholders. Others are Fred A. Poor, George Henneberry, James Norris Jr., Charles Bidwill, and Charles Y. Freeman Jr. The last named has taken a box for the opening night only, and will not be here to cheer for the Black Hawks, for Mr. Freeman is attending an officers' candidate school. Mrs. Freeman has invited some other hockey lovers to attend the game with her. Whether Mr. Armour will be present at many games is a question, for he is in the army, too.

Casino Club Is Arranging "Cook's Night Out" Party.

The Casino club, which always has its finger on the pulse of fashion, has decided to adapt its first event of the season to the spirit of the times by having a "Cook's Night Out" party. It will be an informal buffet supper on Nov. 12—a Thursday night, of course—and altho the entertainment plans still haven't been completed, plenty of surprises and hilarity are promised. In the absence of Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, the club's entertainment chairman, who still is in Santa Barbara, Cal., with Mr. Cramer, Mrs. Frank Hibbard and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham have taken over plans for the party.

The Chicago chapter of France Forever will entertain at dinner tonight at the Casino for André Philip. M. Philip, a former university professor in France, started the underground movement there following the German occupation and served as editor of an underground paper. Since his five children were smuggled out of France, three of them have been living with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Utley. The Utleys and Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Wright will be among the guests at the dinner tonight.

Foreign Relations Council to Hear M. Philip Speak.

M. Philip, who at present is minister of labor and the interior for the French National committee in London, will speak at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations on the subject, "The Fighting French." The meeting will be held in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman.

Clifton Utley, who is a close friend of M. Philip, will preside at the luncheon tomorrow and introduce the speaker. Mrs. Utley, Frederic Woodward, president of the council, and Mrs. Woodward, the Walter Brewsters, the John Nefs, the Henri Bonnets, Maurice McGrath, the junior Byron S. Harveys, the Pierre Augers, Mr. and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, and the new head of the Newberry library, Stanley Pargellis, and Mrs. Pargellis, will be at the speakers' table. Three of the Philip children, Jean, who is 15 and who lives in New York, and Christiane, 14, and Nicole, 12, who reside with the Utleys, will attend the luncheon.

Mrs. James C. It will be a games party, with a gift of rummage for the shop serving as the price of admission. Mrs. Hutchins' daughters, Mrs. John J. Borland II. and Mrs. Anthony M. Ryerson, also take a keen interest in the affairs of the shop, which is conducted for the benefit of the hospital. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Wooden Shoes Minus Clatter Soon Will Be Placed on the Market

Wooden shoes—not the clattery Dutch type of wooden shoe, but a soft, flexible, wooden soled type—will soon be on the market, according to officials of the United States Interrub Processes of New York, who are displaying their newly developed product at the Palmer House as part of the National Shoe Fair exhibits.

The fair, sponsored jointly by the National Shoe Retailers association and the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers association, opened last Monday at the Palmer House, the Hotel Sherman, and the Hotel Morrison, and will continue thru tomorrow.

By a special process of slotting, such stiff material as wood, hard synthetic resins, cardboard, and even metal, can be made as flexible as rubber, said officials of the company, which recently perfected a method for making soles from such items.

Drama Breakfast.

The Friends of Drama will meet for breakfast today at the Chicago Athletic club, with C. Aubrey Smith and the cast of "Spring Again" as special guests. Afterward the club will attend the matinée performance of the show.

Weddings

The marriage of Miss Virginia Wales Playfair, daughter of W. E. Playfair of Wellesley, Mass., to Lieut. Edward A. Field, of Woodstock, Ill., took place on Oct. 31 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stephens of Wellesley. The bride, who attended the Wheelock school, Boston university, and the University of Iowa, has been teaching in Janesville, Wis. Lieut. Field recently completed a course in the army finance officers' training school at Duke university and has been assigned to the army finance business office at Madison, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Schilbach of Wilmette announce the marriage on Sunday of their daughter, Roberta, to Lieut. Carleton Playfair Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde P. Ross of Wilmette. The ceremony took place in the chapel at Camp Forrest, Tenn., since Lieut. Ross was unable to obtain a leave. Lieut. Ross, who attended Duke university, took his bride on a brief wedding trip to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Russian Trio Opens Its Annual Series of 6 Arts Club Recitals

Yesterday morning the Russian trio [Nina Mesirow-Minchin, pianist; Michael Wilkomirski, violinist, and Ennio Bolognini, cellist] opened its annual series of six Arts club recitals, sponsored by the Chicago Chamber Music society. The program held the first of Dvorak's three trios, a fragrant early work typical of the Bohemian master, and Arensky's fluent trio in D minor, dedicated to the cellist, Davidoff.

As a matter of melodious fact, all Russian trio performances might reasonably be dedicated to cellists, since Mr. Bolognini possesses an unsurpassed tone. Teamed with Mr. Wilkomirski's serene violin, particularly the way it sounded in the Arensky elegy, it set a standard not quite matched by the competent but tonally arid coöperation of the piano. The trio sounded best in lighter passages, such as the Arensky scherzo. Either tonal pressure or poor acoustics put a hard edge on more dramatic dynamics.

Claudio Arrau Falters, Then Hits Pinnacle

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

For the sake of people with trains to catch, it was a pity that Claudio Arrau could not have played his Orchestra hall recital backwards—what came after intermission was so much better than what had gone before. Actually, it was not until he reached the aftermath of Chopin, Ravel and Debussy that the Chilean pianist justified the brilliant impression left last season by his Chicago debut with the orchestra.

Opening the seventh year of the Musical Arts Piano series, Mr. Arrau had a packed and attentive house last night. He opened his program with Bach's Italian Concerto, and missed it a mile. Instead of the charm of crystal pattern and irresistibly convincing tempo, this was sentimentalized Bach, languorous with rubato and twitched out of the exquisite exactness of its design.

The Beethoven Sonata [E flat major, opus 31, No. 3] had the great gifts of fluency, brilliance of attack and imaginative phrasing, but it was Beethoven practically delirious with a high fever. The innate nobility was smoked out by pianistic excitement.

When he came to Schumann's audacious "Carnaval," Mr. Arrau was more at home, but not yet completely so. Here again were accuracy, vitality and technical skill amounting to the prodigious. Now and then, a phrase curved out that was so utterly right there was no resisting it. But the impression of the whole was spotty rather than bravura.

It was not until the Chopin Scherzo in E that the Arrau of the fiery orchestral debut came completely into focus. The piano foamed under his flying fingers and his hands again were those amazing little balls of rubber that could turn instantly into steel. After that the piano was his slave and the evening was his oyster.

He played Ravel's "Jeux d'Eau" with the aqueous limpidity that makes tone a liquid thing, all continuity pouring into mesmerized sound. And he had the final secret for Debussy's "Voiles" and "Feux d'Artifice," which is to hang a web of sound in the air and strum the piano like a sensitive harp into that tonal curtain. These were exciting things to hear, and they did much to restore Mr. Arrau to a tottering pinnacle. Every man to his trade, and if our South American visitor is a stranger to the profound in music, he is a master of its moody brilliance and its whims of evocation.

Lily Pons' Illness to Bring 'Aida' in Place of 'Lakme'

The Chicago Opera company's opening performance Saturday evening has been switched from "Lakme" to "Aida," because of an attack of laryngitis suffered by Lily Pons, lyric soprano, who was to sing the leading rôle for the scheduled opening, officials of the company announced last evening.

"Aida," which was to be given on Nov. 14, will have a stellar cast including Zinka Milanov, Anna Kaskas, Giovanni Martinelli, Lawrence Tibbett, and Alexander Kipnis. As previously announced, Carlo Peroni will conduct the opening night and the Chicago Opera ballet, under the direction of Ruth Page, will perform the dance sequences. Patricia Bowman will be the prima ballerina.

"Lakme" is now scheduled for Nov. 14, and Miss Pons is exected to make her scheduled appearance in "Lucia di Lammermoor" on Wednesday night, Nov. 11. In announcing the change for opening night, the Opera company said that those who wished to exchange their tickets for the "Lakme" performance could do so and also that the money will be refunded if requested.

Subtly Draped Dinner Gowns Win Approval

BY REA SEEGER.

Using the coming official opening of opera as a theme, some of the most exciting fashion showings of the season are getting away to a good start. Shoppers, a bit fed up with slacks, casual clothes, and too many feminine regimentals, indubitably smart as they are, make an appreciative audience.

New dinner clothes, suavely streamlined, are flawless. Most of them are sheath models with slits at the front of the skirt or at the side to afford freer movement. Subtle draping, something only an expert can manage, is more important for this winter than before because the limitations on fabric preclude any yardage for anything but necessary details.

While glittering sequins, paillettes and shimmering beadwork illumine most of these winter clothes, exacting women will find all kinds of nonglittering models. Probably the most dramatic fashions are the stately evening gowns made of handsome brocade, two-tone stuff resembling the grand toilettes of Victorian belles; these fabrics are the last word in quiet elegance and grande dame elegance.

Fur greatcoats, and this year's all purpose fur coat in the classic straight line model with tuxedo collars and very wide turn back cuffs, run a good race with the newer Chesterfield models in dull black wool, or with the more exciting finds in sleek black caracul.

These are the models that slide over very dressy short length dinner gowns, or over the simple sheath gown, floor length, for wartime evening wear. The wool Chesterfields are sometimes lapelled with glittering metallics or sequins; the fur Chesterfields are collared in velvet, that alone providing the only contrast with the sophisticated fur.

INSTALMENT XXXIII.
LAWSON'S THEORY.

The captain left his desk and walked to the terrace door. Dreist lived outside in a steam heated private kennel of his own.

"See if you can get Harold Lawson at the Hotel Mandeville," he said to Rena. "If he's in, ask him if he has a key to the M. T. & T. building. Tell him I'll call by for him in 15 minutes. I want him to go downtown with me. Then try the M. T. & T. yourself, and keep ringing."

The captain stepped out onto the terrace, took six paces to the right and unfastened Dreist's chain. This police dog was heavier than Schnucke, his Seeing Eye dog, with a broad full chest replete with power. His powerful fighting jaws were white with gleaming teeth that with one quick crunch could splinter a bone.

He was trained to work from the captain's right, since Schnucke's post was on the left. The instant the chain was loosed, he took his place close to his master's knee, loyal to death, and afraid of nothing; a killer on the side of the law. Braver than the many men he had trapped, to bring them down in groveling terror, it was fun to Dreist to charge in the face of a blazing gun.

The captain stepped back inside and closed the door. "Stand, Dreist!" he ordered, and turned to Rena.

"Mr. Lawson's waiting for you. The watchman still doesn't answer. Maybe he's on his rounds."

"I'm afraid he's punched his last time clock," said Duncan Maclain. "I'm afraid he knew what I badly wanted to know!"

. . . .

The soft melting snow had mingled with rain, leaving a grayish layer of slush on the New York streets. The captain's car sped down Park avenue, with clinking chains drawing a set of black parallel bands thru the surface scum. In spite of the captain's urging, Cappo at the wheel was forced for safety's sake to take it slowly.

Schnucke, drowsy with the comfortable warmth of the heated car, was crouched in comfort at Maclain's feet. Seated in front by Cappo, Dreist kept his watchful eyes on passing traffic, pulling now and again against the restraint of his heavy chain.

Lawson broke into the captain's thoughts with a question. "What could possibly have happened to O'Hare?"

Maclain wound down a window for ventilation. "Anything's a guess. All I know is he didn't answer his phone. You brought your key?"

"Yes. Did you give him plenty of time to finish his rounds? He might have been upstairs."

"He starts his rounds on the hour, doesn't he?"

"I believe so. I'm not sure."

"I am," said Maclain. "I listened to him a few nights ago. It takes him about 40 minutes to cover the building. Then he returns to the little room he uses on the ground floor. His phone's in there."

"Who could have anything against O'Hare, Maclain?"

"Who had anything against Sprague, Hadfield, Doxenby, or Bentley?" The captain crossed his legs and nursed a knee.

"You heard what happened yesterday afternoon?"

"Yes. Part of it, at any rate."

Lawson was silent for the space of a traffic light. "Somebody took a piece of paper from my desk while I was out to lunch. I'd been scribbling on it, what various people might get out of Hadfield's death. It was rather an alarming setup, Maclain."

"How would Bentley profit?" the captain asked.

"He wouldn't have. What made you think that?"

"If he didn't take that paper from your desk, there must have been another person in your office yesterday afternoon."

"The police think his story isn't true."

"And you?"

"I'm not so sure." Lawson stared out at the darkened buildings on Fourth avenue. "Davis has a theory that Bentley may have been dipping into the present funds of the M. T. & T. It's not a nice thing to think of, but I'm putting an auditor on his books first thing tomorrow."

"What gave Davis that idea?"

"Did he tell you Bentley was mixed up with a girl?"

"Bentley?" Maclain reached down and petted Schnucke's ear. "Women certainly break out in the oddest place, Lawson. Who's the girl?"

"Her name is Sophie Munson. Archer picked her up yesterday for questioning."

"Did you hear any of the answers?"

"A few. Archer brought her to my office and confronted Bentley. Apparently they'd been tailing, or shadowing him, or whatever they call it." Lawson paused. "The girl was mixed up with T. Allen Doxenby. Bentley might have had plenty of reason to kill Doxenby, Capt. Maclain."

The captain whistled softly.

"The old army game, I suppose—blackmail," said Maclain.

"That's what Davis and Archer think."

"He couldn't have killed him," said Duncan Maclain.

"How did you figure that out?"

"It's apparent, isn't it? Bentley was being shadowed. How could he kill a man with a detective on his trail?"

"That's what Bentley claims."

"Have you considered, Lawson, that everybody concerned is claiming almost the same thing?"

"No, I hadn't." Lawson sounded perplexed.

"Well, consider it. It's true," the captain said. "You say you made out a list of those who might benefit by Hadfield's death. Did you also list where they were at the time?"

"No."

"Try it," said Maclain. "Try it with Doxenby's death as well."

"How would the same people be involved there?"

"Make it singular instead of plural, Lawson. Ask me how the same person was involved."

"Well how?"

"A highball glass with Sprague's fingerprints on it, a glass that came from Blake Hadfield's set. That's one thing. Another is Doxenby's knowledge of Hadfield's business, his almost intimate knowledge of it, I might say."

"Could he have learned that from Bentley thru the Munson girl?"

"I don't know how much Carl Bentley knows about Hadfield's affairs. Do you?"

"After what happened yesterday, I know he's plenty interested," Lawson stated. "When he was interrupted he had all of the Sprague company's checks dug out of our files. He gave me a story of wanting to check on Sprague's investments in M. T. & T.

The captain sat listening as his car crossed street car tracks and turned south on Broadway. "Will that statement hold water, Lawson?"

"It might. After all, Bentley's the controler. He might be called upon to check into anything, any day."

"Or it might be duties coincident with interests," suggested Maclain.

"Frankly, captain, it smacked of that to me. Nothing has come up in our department concerning the Sprague case in a long time. Why should Bentley start digging into its old files all of a sudden yesterday? Then, if he was really knocked out, his actions certainly interested somebody else, too. Who could that be?"

"A man," said Maclain. "If Bentley's tale is true."

"He claimed he'd never seen his assailant before," Lawson reminded him.

"There is one person who might give us the truth," said Duncan Maclain.

"Who?"

"Elise Sprague. She's smart, and as a secretary, is very close to Bentley. I think she'd be bound to remember if anything had come up about her father's company during the past week—assuming it came up in an ordinary routine."

"I'll ask her tomorrow," Lawson promised. "I hope to God nothing more happens to get in our way."

"I'm holding my breath and my gun, Lawson," said Duncan Maclain.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 9: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. You are West, declarer at three no trump, the bidding having gone:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 clubs	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST	EAST
♠A Q 6 4 2	♠K 5
♥A 4	♥Q 7 5
♦Q 9 6	♦A J 10 8 7 2
♣K J 4	♣5 3

North opens the club ten. South plays low and you win with the jack. What card do you play from your own hand and dummy at the second trick?

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 8: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding goes:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	Double	Pass

You are South and hold:

♠A 10 5 ♥— ♦A K Q J 9 4 2 ♣Q 10 7

What call do you make?

Answer: Three no trump. You should not consider leaving in partner's double with this freak hand, and particularly when void of the opponents' suit. Now that North's double has announced a heart stopper, you have practically a laydown for nine tricks at no trump, hence should make that bid. A cue bid, two hearts, figures to be futile because partner must hold considerable and specific strength for you to make a slam. If he has a strong general hand he will bid over three no trump. A three diamond rebid by you is far too weak, since it is not even forcing.

[Ten points demerit for two hearts; 15 points demerit for two no trump; 20 points demerit for five diamonds; 25 points demerit for 3 diamonds; 30 points demerit for 4 diamonds or 4 no trump; 35 points demerit for pass or 1 no trump; 50 points demerit for 2 diamonds or any other call.]

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	Redouble	2 hearts
2 spades	4 hearts	4 spades	Pass
Pass	5 hearts	Pass	Pass
5 spades	Double [final bid]

West opened the heart king. The ace won and a club was led to the queen. West won and returned the heart queen. Declarer ruffed, cashed the spade ace, then ran the three good clubs, discarding two diamonds. Now a trump forced West in with the king, and he was "hooked." A diamond return would go up to the A-Q, and a heart return would let South discard his diamond queen while ruffing in dummy.

West could have defeated the contract by holding up his club ace for just one round. Then, if declarer cashed the spade ace and led another club [as good a plan as any] West could win, cash the spade king, and exit with a club or a heart. Declarer would have to surrender a diamond trick.

Opera to Be Given Today as Benefit at Arts Club

Eleanor Everest Freer's opera, "The Brownings Go to Italy," will be presented at 11 o'clock this morning at the Art sclub for the benefit of the war work of the Chicago Musical Arts club. Freda Draper, Leonard Balsamo, and other Chicago artists are in the cast.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The coffee shortage is giving me just the chance I've always needed to bring out those after dinner cups and saucers. The demi-tasse never has quite "caught on" as an American dinner custom. That was because we were all so used to two and three big cups of coffee that the idea of one tiny cupful sounded stingy.

Now that we've got to be stingy with coffee anyway, let's get out those dainty little cups and make a ceremony of demi-tasse in the living room following the evening meal. After dinner coffee really should be served black and without sugar, but if you must have cream, go ahead and have it. The more cream, the less coffee! Don't make double strength coffee for the demi-tasse, or you'll have defeated its new purpose. Strong after dinner coffee must give way to the standard, medium brew.

We women have been asked by the government to cut down our consumption of canned goods. We should make it a rule never to use a canned food if the fresh one is available. It will mean a little more cooking for many of us, but most women don't spend all the time they need to spend in the kitchen anyway. Well planned, well cooked, nutritious meals take time, but it is time well spent. And it is "war work" on the home front; make no mistake about that! Very important work, too.

We may find ourselves eating muskrat one of these days. Bob Becker, The Tribune's outdoor man, says muskrat is very good, and that there's a move to promote its use when meat stocks grow slimmer. In the east this beastie has had good sale as "marsh rabbit." Since it lives on a diet of water plants, fruit, and vegetables, the muskrat's flesh should have good flavor. I must confess that I've never cooked or eaten muskrat, but promise to do both one of these days and report an opinion.

We don't drink enough milk. A survey of city workers has revealed that 75 per cent of their diets are deficient in calcium. Calcium is now being added to some fortified [enriched] flours, but it is not compulsory. However, compulsory addition of calcium is now being considered. Even tho people won't drink milk, they will eat bread, and a vitamin and mineral enriched flour can do a lot of good. Of course a better solution to calcium deficiencies would be to drink milk. It's a pity if we have to be forcibly fed a good diet!

Whales and sharks now are being forced to give up their liver oils for the sake of the vitamin A that can be produced from them. A shortage of cod and other fish producing these valuable vitamin-rich oils has forced science to look for other sources. Concentrated vitamin A is being shipped in large quantity to England under lend-lease agreements, and the new found sources are expected to avoid a possible shortage here.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Cheese Salad.
[Serves six to eight.]

- 2 cups diced cheddar cheese
- 2 cups celery, cut in pieces
- 3 sweet pickles cut up
- 2 pimentos cut in strips
- ¼ cup pecan meats, broken
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- Mayonnaise
- 3 hard cooked eggs

Toss all together lightly with the exception of the eggs. Add eggs last, cut in pieces, and stir just enough to mix without mashing the yolks. Serve in lettuce cups with additional mayonnaise.

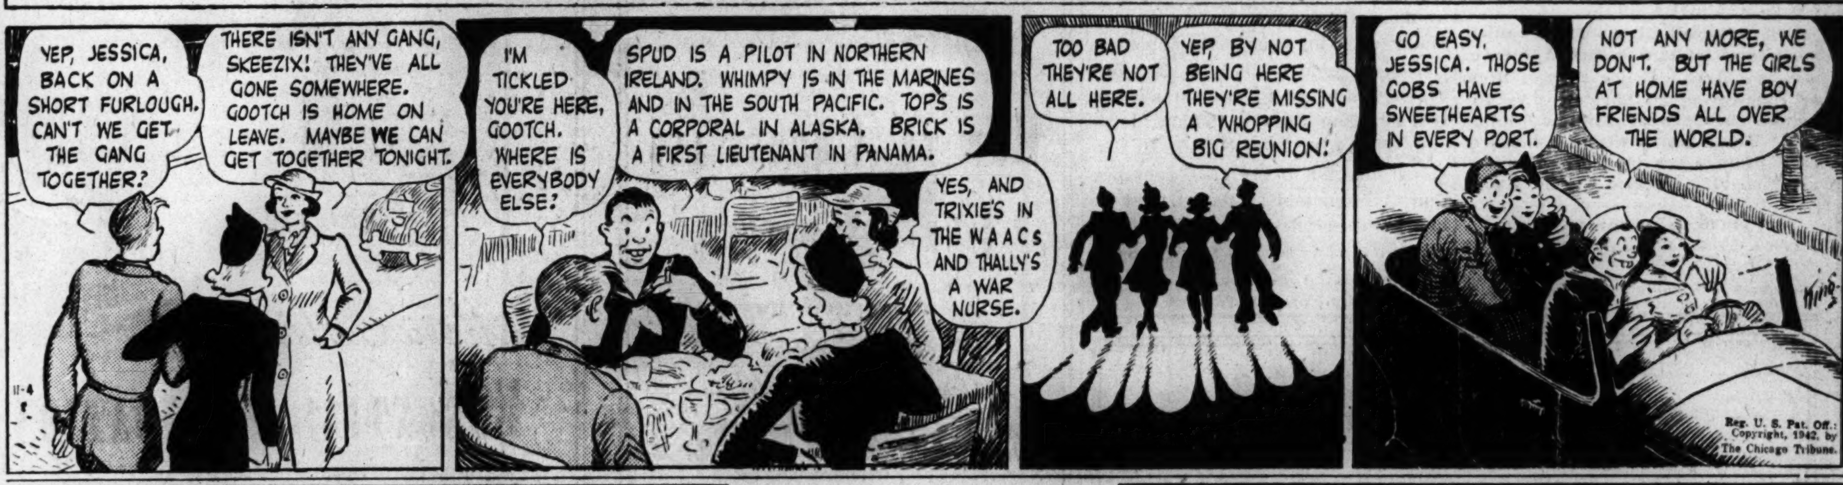
GASOLINE ALLEY—AN EVENING'S EVENING



YEP, JESSICA, BACK ON A SHORT FURLOUGH. CAN'T WE GET THE GANG TOGETHER?
THERE ISN'T ANY GANG, SKEEZIX! THEY'VE ALL GONE SOMEWHERE. GOOTCH IS HOME ON LEAVE. MAYBE WE CAN GET TOGETHER TONIGHT.
11-4
I'M TICKLED YOU'RE HERE, GOOTCH. WHERE IS EVERYBODY ELSE?
SPUD IS A PILOT IN NORTHERN IRELAND. WHIMPY IS IN THE MARINES AND IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC. TOPS IS A CORPORAL IN ALASKA. BRICK IS A FIRST LIEUTENANT IN PANAMA.
YES, AND TRIXIE'S IN THE WAACS AND THALLY'S A WAR NURSE.
TOO BAD THEY'RE NOT ALL HERE.
YEP, BY NOT BEING HERE THEY'RE MISSING A WHOPPING BIG REUNION!
GO EASY, JESSICA. THOSE GOBS HAVE SWEETHEARTS IN EVERY PORT.
NOT ANY MORE, WE DON'T. BUT THE GIRLS AT HOME HAVE BOY FRIENDS ALL OVER THE WORLD.

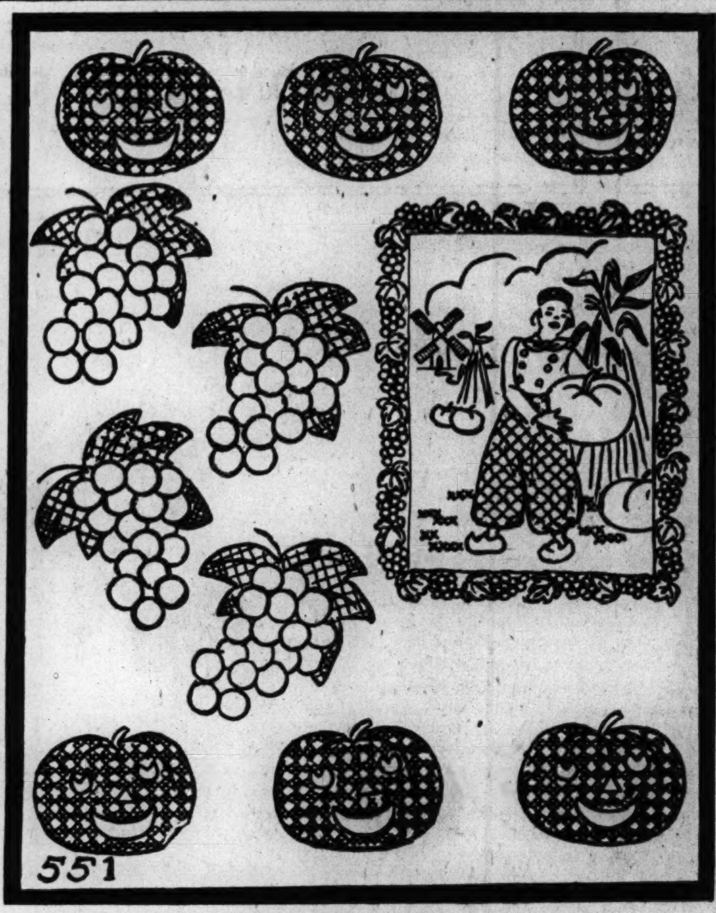
Cross-Stitch Designs



BY NANCY CABOT.

A small cross-stitch sampler of a Dutch boy at harvest time is delightfully appropriate for this time of the year. The rich yellow pumpkins and luscious purple grapes are attractive motifs to be used on household items such as luncheon sets, towels, curtains or potholders. The motifs measure about 2½ by 4 inches and the sampler is about 6 by 8 inches.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of Harvest time, No. 551, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

By the time the first contingent of WAACs is assigned to Fort Sheridan some time this month a five building unit will have been completed for their quarters. It will include three barracks, a recreation building, and a mess hall, the latter large enough to accommodate 152 WAACs at a time.

A special feature of each of the barracks will be a laundry room, conveniently arranged with electric irons and three ironing boards.

In addition to a spacious lounge, a canteen and exchange, and living and office quarters of the commanding officer, the recreation building will have a modern beauty parlor, open at convenient hours.

The Fort Sheridan volunteers, headed by Mrs. Gerald Grant of Glencoe, assisted by Mrs. Otis Heath of Winnetka and a corps of helpers, are decorating the lounge in the recreation hall. Couches, radios, lamps, draperies, and other bright touches will give the room a homelike atmosphere.

Capt E. W. Benson, area engineer, supervised the construction of the unit, in which many critical materials were replaced by substitutes. Some of these included concrete floors for wood [in some buildings], wooden refrigerators instead of metal, cement asbestos for sheet metal, and galvanized metal for stainless steel.

More volunteers are needed for the Red Cross Canteen corps. This service now has a unit in every OCD area for emergencies, and its newest project is sending volunteers into hospital diet kitchens to work under the supervision of dietitians.

Workers are already assisting in Passavant, Presbyterian, Wesley Memorial, Mercy, Little Company of Mary, and Michael Reese hospitals. Three other hospitals have requested the service, but there are not enough trained workers as yet to supply them.

Women interested in becoming canteen corps members should be in the age range of 18 to 50. They must make personal application at Red Cross headquarters, 529 South Wabash avenue, and they must submit proof of citizenship, such as a birth certificate or naturalization papers.

The training will include a nutrition course, first aid, and special canteen instruction in mass feeding and other subjects. Mrs. Henrique Crawford is chairman of the canteen corps. Members receive practical training with the Red Cross blood donor service and canteen at headquarters.

The first of a series of Wednesday evening classes in auto repairs will open at 7 o'clock tonight for members of the American Women's Voluntary services motor transport unit. Instruction will be at Washburne Trade school, Division and Sedgwick streets. The class was made possible thru the coöperation of Philip L. McNamee, assistant superintendent of schools, and John R. Deegan, head of defense training for Chicago schools.

This class will be for those AWVS members who are now actually serving as drivers. They will learn how a car is put together and how to make temporary repairs in event of ordinary road troubles. The AWVS motor transport members make themselves available for driving WAVES, WAACs, and army, navy, and marine personnel on official business. Mrs. Robert Bender is commanding officer of the corps.

The course will last about 10 weeks. The motor transport unit is one of several services incorporated in the AWVS. Headquarters is at 160 North La Salle street.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, chairman of the speakers committee of the women's division of the Chicago and Cook county war savings staff, is announcing new classes in platform and radio speaking. These sessions will be devoted to training for the "Five Minute Bond Talks," and there will be both daytime and evening classes.

The daytime hours will be from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons, and the evening instruction will be at 7:30 o'clock on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. The classes are held at 105 West Adams street. Instructors will include teachers from Chicago schools and universities.

Mrs. James G. McMillan is Mrs. Kirk's vice chairman in charge of the radio speakers bureau; Mrs. A. O. Hartman is vice chairman in charge of special activities and social clubs, and Mrs. Gerhardt Meyne is vice chairman in charge of musical clubs.

The fifth and last in a series of orientation meetings sponsored by the public speaking service of the Red Cross will be held at 1:30 o'clock today in the Edison auditorium at 140 South Dearborn street. Talks on various Red Cross activities by members of the speakers' bureau, first aid motion pictures and skits depicting the activities of all volunteer services will constitute the program. Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr. is chairman of the public speaking bureau.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Child Learns About His Own Home First

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You remember in your first term of geometry, how you used to fool around with your compasses and make concentric circles? Sometimes I think that's a very good analogy for the scope of interest in a child's life.

The circle that encloses a baby's sphere of interest is very small. For weeks its circumference is his crib.

When he is able to walk and talk, climb and run, hold and move, things a circle encompassing his home defines his range of interest. Then as he goes to school the circle widens. And on and on until in his late teens the arc swings far and wide. So these concentric circles grow larger and larger, from babyhood on to maturity, always with mother and father the central point.

But today I want to go back to the time right after babyhood, and talk about that second circle, the circle of home which so encloses a little child, the circle which seems small to us but which to him is a great world full of people, events, and things calling to him to come and discover them. Here are grown people [those enigmas to many children]; here occur happenings that are often puzzling but also intriguing and here are a hundred objects that are begging to be felt, to be lifted, to be experimented with.

As young muscles grow in strength and acquire the skill of coördination, here is furniture which says "Climb on me, slide on me, turn somersaults on me." Here is the kitchen, Daddy's desk, the bathroom, all containing objects that stir the curiosity of a young child, curiosity, that impulse which spurs him on to look and to learn what this world of home is all about.

It is important for us to understand this, and then to remind ourselves of it constantly thru the hours of each day at home that we spend with our little boy or girl. It provides us with an explanation, and leads us to deal intelligently with the things he or she does. Knowing the reason, we satisfy all the needs that we can. We provide outlets for the bubbling activity. Where we must check or deny we do it tactfully, supplying a substitute interest where we can. This is the third article about young children.

What ten rules will help you make your child an obedient one? Proved ideas in child training every mother should know are given in the book, "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. On sale at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

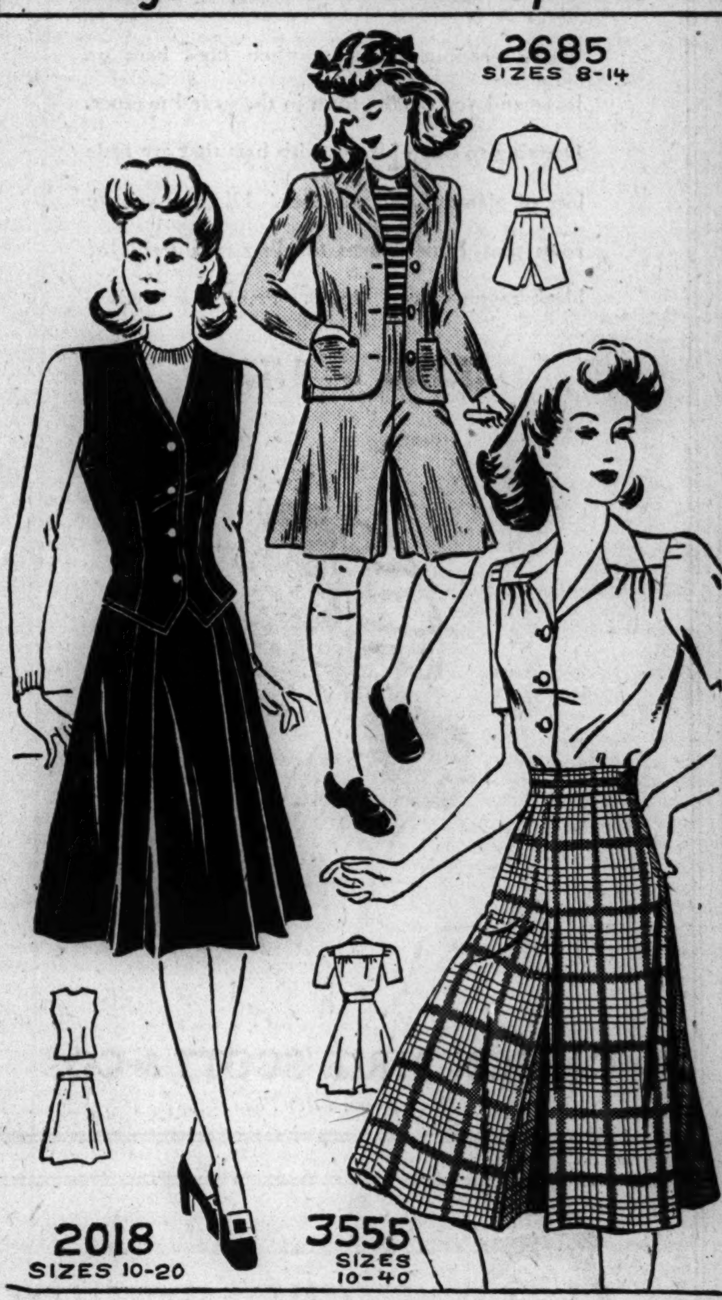
Togs for Outdoor Sports



TAILORED AUTUMN TOGS.

If you're taking part in the national fitness campaign, you're doing a lot of hiking, cycling, and other outdoor sports activities. Proper clothes are absolutely necessary. If you don't like slacks, how about tailored skirts or, better yet, skirt-like culottes? Today's patterns make them all.

Style No. 2018 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 35 inch or 2⅛ yards of 54 inch fabric.

Style No. 2685 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 3 yards of 35 inch material for jacket and culotte.

Style No. 3555 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20; and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires, for culotte, 1¾ yards of 54 inch fabric; for blouse, 1¾ yards of 35 or 39 inch material.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

If fortune has smiled, and you have new sewing shears, give the old ones to the scrap drive. They'll help build tanks.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents for mailing (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The autumn pattern book is 15 cents—10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Hotel Women Managers to Discuss War Problems

A round-table discussion of hotel problems under war conditions is being arranged by Miss Mae Boazman for a meeting of the Illinois Women Hotel Managers and Executive Housekeepers at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Palais Brompton hotel. Mrs. Elizabeth Lyle, social chairman, will have charge of general arrangements for the evening, and Miss Caroline Meyer of the Palmer House will preside.

For buffet suppers or almost any other informal occasion, double-decker trays are most convenient. Some very good looking, but inexpensive, new ones are of American pottery in soft glazes and have handles that imitate bamboo. They come in light gray, dull rose, green, and chartreuse, and the upper tray is slightly smaller than the lower. Because they are of light weight they are as practical as they are artistic.

"China in Focus" is the subject of a talk she will give. Pouring will be Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, Mrs. George T. Langhorne, and Miss Swethalyn Jones. Miss Sze is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, who are giving the tea.

Opera Guild's Style Show and Party This Afternoon.

The Illinois Opera guild has planned a gay party for late this afternoon in the 28 Shop at Marshall Field's at which fashions to wear to the opera this year will be shown. Tea and opera punch will be served, and husbands and beaux are invited to join in the fun. Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley and Mrs. James H. Tatman are co-chairmen of the benefit. The latter's daughter, Miss Ariel Tatman, and other members of the Opera Guild juniors will be present, dressed in gowns from the Chicago Opera company's stockrooms.

Also present will be some of the artists who were to have appeared in "Lakme" on Saturday night. That performance has been canceled because of Lily Pons' illness. However, Carlo Peroni, who was to have conducted "Lakme"; Anna Kaskas and Alexander Kipnis, who were to have sung; Ruth Page, ballet director, and Patricia Bowman, prima ballerina, will be there.

Some of those helping with the party, from which the proceeds will be used to buy opera tickets for men in the service, are Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy, Mrs. Hill Blackett, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. L. Lewis Cohen, and Mrs. William Spurgeon.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Doerr of Lake Forest announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Lavinia, to Lieut. O. Wilhart Koivun of Moline, Ill. Miss Doerr was graduated from Lawrence college and Northwestern university. Lieut. Koivun was graduated from the University of Chicago and took his internship at St. Luke's hospital. Before entering the army he was a practicing physician and surgeon in Moline.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Buckman of Minneapolis, Minn., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Mae, to Lloyd Harold Christiansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Christiansen of North Francisco avenue. Miss Buckman attended Carleton college and was graduated in June from Colorado college, where her fiancé also received his degree. He will report on Nov. 10 at the naval reserve midshipmen's school at Northwestern university.

Mrs. Naomi Chase Campbell of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Janet Grace, to Capt. George Ben Green, son of Edward Baker Green of Sioux Falls, S. D. Miss Campbell, who has been living in Washington, D. C., with her sister, Mrs. Ira B. Kirkland Jr., attended Miss Bell's school in San Francisco, Cal.

Thru the Looking Glass

The doleful truth about a crumpled chin line—as much a sorrow to thin women as it is to the plump ones—is that prevention is a lot easier than cure. Consistent treatment, especially at the hands of a professional skilled in the art of face and neck massage, DOES help, but nothing we've ever heard of is as successful in preserving a firm, youthful chin and neck contour as good posture habits.

The cumulative effect of years of poor posture isn't easy to erase. The most intelligent thing is to try to avoid it: to start, in the twenties, at the latest, to form habits that will prevent damage in the thirties and forties.

First, last and always, hold your head high. It has beauty as well as psychological value. When you walk, don't lead with your chin. Work your feet from your hips, not from your knees. This automatically straightens your spine somewhat, and flattens abdomen. Try it and see.

If you're a working woman, at a desk all day, train yourself to sit properly, well back in your chair, with your weight evenly distributed. Did you ever notice that it's much easier to sit up straight if you don't perch on the end of your chair? If you sit far forward, your spine will curve and your head will droop. You'll tire faster, too.

When you read a book or peruse papers on your desk you can do one of two things: either let your chin crunch down into your neck, so to speak, or bend your head at just the angle that keeps your neck line properly firm. Choose the latter. Make muscles do the work they are supposed to do; it's disuse that makes them flabby.

SEIZE BURGLARS, 13 TO 15, PRYING OFF A SKYLIGHT

Boy Gang Confesses 7 Crimes, Police Say.

Brief careers as "big shots" came to an end for four boy burglars yesterday morning. Two of the four, who admitted committing seven burglaries in the last month, taking $100 in cash, were caught by Policemen Eugene Fahey and Joseph Surwill of the Fillmore street station as they tried to pry open the skylight of a grocery at 522 South Kildare avenue. The others, named as accomplices, were picked up later.

The four are James Lavery, 13 years old, 607 South Kildare avenue; David Cruickshank, 14, of 4011 Arthington street; Roy Roe, 15, of 750 South Keeler avenue, and Fred Del Genio, 15, of 4326 Roosevelt road. All were taken to the Juvenile Detention home.

Wants to Be Spender.

"I wanted the dough so I could walk into a joint, throw a little cash around, and be one of the guys treating the crowd," Cruickshank, who is an eighth grade pupil in Summer elementary school, 715 South Kildare avenue, told police. He admitted that he received only $4 for his part in the robberies, $2 of which he spent on being a big shot and the other $2 on war stamps.

Lavery, a freshman in Crane Technical High school, said that he, too, wanted to be a big shot, but that he had received only 21 cents for one of the jobs.

Fahey said the boys apparently are the thieves who have rifled stores in the Fillmore district for the last month, gaining the name of the "skylight burglars" because of their method of entry. Lavery and Cruickshank were carrying crowbars, screw drivers, and 12 boxes of matches, used instead of flashlights.

Three Previously Convicted.

Both Roe, a freshman in Crane, and Del Genio, an eighth grade pupil in Sumner school, served 10 weeks in the parental school for burglary, Fahey said. Lavery, he added, had been on probation for petty larceny.

Lounging and puffing on a cigaret, Lavery described how the band broke into a Methodist church in a store building at 4103 Harrison street and, using a fence post for a battering ram, broke down the wall between the church and a store.

Roe, named the leader by the other boys, admitted taking part in three of the burglaries. Police suspect them of committing 20 burglaries in the neighborhood, Sergt. Andrew Cannon said. Three stores within a block of each other were burglarized within a period of four days, the boys said.

JOE GORDON NAMED A. L.'S MOST VALUABLE

SHIN PLASTER WINS 4TH STRAIGHT AT SPORTSMAN'S

CHARITY WEEK BETTING UP FOR 2D DAY IN ROW

Popular Choices Score on Card.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Shin Plaster, the six year old mare which negotiated the sharp Sportsman's Park turns with the agility of a cow pony, scored her fourth consecutive victory of the meeting yesterday. Favorable conditions brought out another good sized crowd to make its contribution to the week of racing which is being conducted under the sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The handle surpassed last Tuesday's by a considerable margin. The mutuel handle on Monday was up 61 per cent over the corresponding day last year.

The day's total was $342,714, a gain of $47,490 over the $295,224 which was handled on Tuesday of last week. It was an increase of $109,186 over the $233,528 which was handled on the corresponding afternoon last season. On a percentage basis, the handle was up 16 per cent over last week and 46 per cent over last year.

The popular choices scored consistently. Shin Plaster, because of her hitherto perfect record, was the favorite as expected. The unexpected thing was the fact that her odds were as high as they were. She got to the post at 9 to 5 odds, returning $5.80, $3.80 and $2.60 across the board, after she had beaten Valdina Marge by a length and a half. Hada Moon, the 5 to 2 second choice, was third.

Fans Afraid of Top Weight.

Shin Plaster, owned and trained by W. J. Ormsby, had shown a liking for distance and track conditions which prevailed yesterday. Moreover, she was being ridden by Eric Guerin, one of the country's best jockeys. The reason her odds were as high as they were was the fact that many patrons were afraid of the top weight of 120 pounds.

During the earlier stages of the race, it looked as tho the weight might stop her, under the slow track conditions. They had completed the swing around the track on this mile and a sixteenth gallop and were nearly around the clubhouse turn for the second time when Guerin began sending her up swiftly. By the time they reached the last turn only Hada Moon, which had been making the pace, and Valdina Marge, were in front of Shin Plaster.

Daily Double Pays $10.40.

On the swing into the stretch Shin Plaster's ability to make those sharp turns came in mighty handy. Without wasting an inch of ground, she skimmed up on the outside past the leaders and drew away in the closing strides.

The two races of the daily double were won by such highly popular horses, Madam High and Chief Bud, that the payoff was among the lowest of the season, $10.40. Madam High was forced to withstand repeated bids by Valdina Purge, but she kept going until the challenger tired and dropped back to fourth. Madam High went on to win by a length and a half over Gummed Up, with Bert's Pride third.

Chief Bud was forced to overcome a bit of interference on the clubhouse turn, then went to the outside of the leaders and took command. He held his rivals safe thereafter and got home a length ahead of High Talent. Stray Chord was third.

Charity Week Success Assured.

The continued increase in attendance and betting handle as the season nears its end, assures the success of the effort on the part of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., to aid those local welfare organizations which have been cut off from the most of their normal revenue because of the war. The proceeds will be apportioned among the United, Catholic, and Jewish charities up to a sum of $40,000. Any excess over this will be turned over to the Community fund for apportionment.

Track officials, horsemen, jockeys, and employés of the track have cooperated in every way to make this the best final week in the history of Chicago racing.

Famiglietti 2d in Pro Scoring; Guess Who's First!

Don Hutson, Green Bay Packers' end, has boosted his National Football league scoring total to 82 points and needs only 13 more to equal his record output last year. He still has five games to go. He is 46 points ahead of his nearest rival, Gary Famiglietti of the Bears.

Another Big Day for Charity at Sportsman's

Scene at Sportsman's Park yesterday, the second day of special race meeting sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Thousands came to see the thorobreds run and to aid local charities which will receive the proceeds of the week's program. Yesterday's mutuel handle was $342,714, a gain of $47,490 over the $295,224 handled on Tuesday of last week. It was the second straight day on which the wagering was up over corresponding days of last week and last year. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

JOCKEYS WATCH WEIGHT, TOO—POSTL HELPS 'EM

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Dr. Andrew Lotshaw of the Cubs and the Bears, Scrapiron Young of Notre Dame, and Eddie Froelich of the Blackhawks, all are noted athletic trainers, adept in conditioning and renovating the bodies of the men on their teams.

Now comes a new type of trainer, and he's none other than Charles Michael Postl, who has been around and about for 34 years. Ordinarily Charles has confined his work to removing the corporations of our most prominent citizens and otherwise reconstructing their personal architecture. For the third straight year, he is in the midst of a field wherein the clients' very livelihood depends on condition, and conservation of weight without loss of strength.

New Clients Are Jockeys.

If you haven't guessed it already, Charley's new customers are jockeys, the little men who ride the horses your best friends' cousin's grandnevvy has told you can't lose. Time was when there was no place beyond the regular riders' quarters for the small ones to recuperate from the vigors of a ride, winning or losing.

Now, thanks to a suggestion of an old client of Postl's, the kids who are now taking part in the charity program which enters its third day this afternoon at Sportsman's Park, the little guys are not only relieved of weight and health worries, but are aided in both departments.

The Idea Catches On.

The aforesaid Postl customer is Jack Keeshin, president of Sportsman's, who used to go thru the Postl paces as a kid. He urged Postl to come out to the track in 1940 and see what he could do toward keeping the boys in shape. Charley jumped at the idea, and now he has a setup which has been adopted by the neighboring Hawthorne track, and is being eyed favorably by other plants.

Postl's equipment, supervised by James Bryson, a trained physiotherapist with a fine burr from his native Glasgow, includes two bunks, an electric sweat box, and a set of therapeutic lights. The jockeys at Sportsman's Park have required little urging to make use of it. Postl is on hand to give massages to relieve muscle fatigue, and Bryson has had as many as three of the tiny men in the sweat box.

Joe Norris Is Invited to Meet Crimmins in All-Star Pin Meet

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The All-Star bowling tournament committee yesterday voted to invite Joe Norris, outstanding Detroit bowler, to meet his fellow townsman, John Crimmins, in the match which will highlight the tournament opening in the Auditorium Theater Service Men's center on Dec. 5. In taking this action, the committee recognized that Ned Day, match game champion, is awaiting a call to enter the navy and consequently will be unable to defend his title as had been scheduled.

Norris is the logical opponent for Crimmins in the special 90 game match which will be rolled during the six days the All-Star preliminaries are in progress, Dec. 5 thru 10. The two have long been bitter rivals in Detroit, aside from which they finished in the first two places in last year's All-Star competition. Norris rolled 4,047 to Crimmins' 4,036 in the 20 game preliminaries, then Johnny won the round robin final for the right to meet Day for the title this year—with Norris second. Crimmins scored 265.09 points by the Petersen system to Norris' 262.15—thereby making the setup scheduled for next month a natural.

Norris Averages 208.

Norris has been ill during the last several months from an infection resulting from an appendectomy last winter, but has been able to bowl this fall. During his first 13 series in league competition this fall, he averaged 208 pins per game, and rolled three series of 680 or better. He believes he will be able to stand the pace for 90 games, then be ready to go back into the 10 man round robin from which the 1943 match game champion will emerge. Only the winner of the Crimmins-Norris match will go into that final competition.

Because of the circumstances of Day's withdrawal from title competition, the committee also decided that Ned should be given an opportunity to meet the then champion for the

RIVERLAND ADDS WHIRLAWAY TO LIST OF VICTIMS

One Time Plater Captures Riggs at Pimlico.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 3 (AP).—Riverland, the one-time plater, proved his upset triumph over Alsab was no fluke when he raced thru Pimlico's mud today to defeat the mighty Whirlaway in the 17th running of the Riggs handicap before 10,000 surprised spectators.

Only three days after his victory over Mrs. Albert Sabath's 3 year old Alsab, the sensational son of Coldstream this afternoon turned on the speed to take the winner's purse of $9,225 away from Calumet farm's top money winner of all time.

Pictor Finishes Third.

Whirlaway finished second, two and a quarter lengths back of the winner. W. L. Brann's Pictor was third, three quarters of a length behind Whirlaway. Howard Wells' Equifox was fourth in the field of six.

Whirlaway, Warren Wright's 4 year old son of Blenheim II., gave away pounds of weight to the field, carrying 130 pounds. Riverland had the second highest impost with 116 and was ridden by Johnny Gilbert.

Whirlaway, his long tail tied up because of the heavy going, was forced to go wide entering the stretch while Riverland slipped thru along the rail.

Wins Only $80 in 1941.

Riverland, from the Louisiana farm stables of Harold A. Clark, boosted his year's winnings to $54,175. He did not race as a 2 year old and won only $80 last year. The second portion of the purse, $1,500, brought Whirlaway's all-time winnings to $540,836. Riverland had been installed as the second choice at the mutuels and returned $9.20, $2.70, and $2.60 for $2. Whirlaway paid $2.20 and $2.10.

The winner's time for the mile and three sixteenths was 1:59 4-5, 2 2-5 seconds off the stake record.

Riverland, accounting for his 11th victory in 17 starts this year, thus squared accounts with Whirlaway, which had whipped him in the Washington handicap at Laurel on Oct. 24.

Men Who Whistle While They Work

Ernie Vick Recalls Ohio State, Notre Dame Thriller in '35.

[This is the first of a series on Western conference football officials' toughest decisions and biggest thrills.]

ERNIE Vick, famous old Michigan center, had himself a peck of woe as head linesman of the famous Ohio State-Notre Dame game in Columbus in 1935. . . . He tells it this way: "Ohio led, 13 to 12, with two minutes left. . . . Notre Dame had just kicked off after scoring. . . . Ohio sent in Dick Beltz to glue the ball. . . . He fumbled on the first play, but recovered. . . . On the next play he again fumbled, the ball going out of bounds. . . . I was the only one in position to judge this, as it was on my side. . . . There was a mad scramble for the ball and finally Pojman, Irish center, who was sitting or had been knocked down, touched it just before it went out. [The rule is that the ball belongs to the player who last touched it in the field of play.] I gave the ball to Notre Dame. . . . Two plays later, Andy Pilney ran 30 yards. . . . Bill Shakespeare passed to Wayne Millner for a touchdown and the Irish won, 18 to 13. Moving pictures substantiated my decision." Vick, 42, has been a conference official 12 years. . . . He was all-American center on Walter Camp's 1921 team. . . . Played with St. Louis Cards in 1924-25-26. He is a metal salesman in Toledo.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

WE'LL make a small wager that Dewey [Snorter] Luster of the University of Oklahoma is the envy of more than one college coach. . . . If Luster has any intricate football problems he doesn't have to go off his campus to get expert advice from the nation's No. 1 football coach. . . . That is, if Lieut. Comm. George Halas of naval aviation has any time for football problems and we doubt if he has. . . . Charles S. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, has three sons in the army. . . . Howard served in the cavalry in the Spanish-American war. . . . Baseball writers picked Mort Cooper of the Cardinals as the National league's most valuable player in 1942, but in a poll of the New York Giants they voted for Outfielder Terry Moore of the same team. . . . A statement we want to have proved: That football teams use 2,160,000 square inches of adhesive tape annually. . . . Where they are department: Bill Cissell and Johnny Kerr, two White Sox of other years, are playing baseball with California shipyard teams. . . . Bill Osmanski, Bears' full back, will get a lieutenancy in the navy upon graduation next March from Northwestern university dental school. . . . Texas Christian university must be close to the college football traveling championship, having already played in California and Florida. . . . It was a pitchers' year in the Pacific Coast league. . . . Nine won 20 or more games. . . . Ray McLean, the Bears' skinny half back, never has suffered a serious football injury. . . . Bob Cook, Indiana university athletic press agent, throws a 5-B smoker the eve of every Hoosier game. . . . The party consists of beans, beer, bologna, bread, and bumjokes.

Luke Appling's batting average for 1942 was 52 points below his .314 of the previous season, but despite the shrinkage he managed to drive in 52 runs, five fewer than last year. . . . Speaking of passers, have you heard of Juke Honn, who completed 77 of the first 84 passes he threw this season for Anamosa [Ia.] High school? The total yardage was 1,434. . . . Jockey Joe Martin has been riding 13 years and has had 13 spills, the first of which resulted in a broken leg. . . . In the almost two years that Billy Southworth has managed the Cardinals not a single one of his players has been bounced by the umpires. . . . Another proud father of a son in service is old Gabby Street, who stopped a bullet in France in the World war. . . . His boy, Charles Jr., 18, chose the navy. . . . Fondness for race horses in the family of Omer Kelly brought the Great Lakes football player that unusual first name. . . . It was meant to be Omar, after Omar Khayyam, the race horse, but was misspelled on his birth certificate.

YANKEE SECOND BASEMAN WINS OVER WILLIAMS

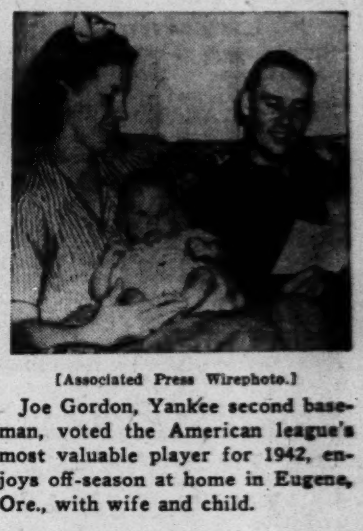
Johnny Pesky Third in Balloting.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Joe Gordon, the Yankees' second baseman, was the American league's most valuable player last season, according to a 24 man committee of baseball writers.

The results of the balloting, completed before the world series in which Gordon was tabbed in the goat rôle as far as the Yanks were concerned, were announced yesterday and revealed a total of 270 points for the winner.

In second place with 249 points was Ted Williams, the Red Sox slugger, who missed in 1941 despite a league leading batting average of .406. The writers' committee in that award hung the mythical "most valuable" tag on Joe DiMaggio.



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Joe Gordon, Yankee second baseman, voted the American league's most valuable player for 1942, enjoys off-season at home in Eugene, Ore., with wife and child.

Only Four Voted No. 1 Spot.

Even tho their top selection may prove unpopular, the committee members, at least, didn't spread their first place votes, each of which counts 14 points, over much territory. Only four players drew the No. 1 spot on the ballots. Gordon was at the head on twelve of them, Williams on nine, John Pesky, the Red Sox's shortstop, on two, and Vernon Stephens, the Browns' shortstop, on the other.

Altho his world series confusion helped to hurry the demise of the Yanks before the rushing St. Louis Cardinals, Gordon played a heavy part in the winning of the American league pennant. He topped the league hitters until mid-July and finished with .321, his best by 40 points in five seasons of major league play. His fielding skill enabled the Yanks to turn in 190 double plays, six short of the major league record.

Second Rebuff for Williams.

The rebuff given Williams for the second time could be attributed to the fact that he hasn't always conducted himself peaceably, either with the baseball writers or the fans. Last year the committee members preferred to think DiMaggio's 56 game hitting streak, his batting in of 125 runs, and all-round fielding class, represented more valuable effort than Williams' .406 average. This season Williams again led the league with .356, was tops in homers with 36, and leader in runs batted in with 137.

Points, other than first, are based on nine for a second place vote, eight for third, seven for fourth, etc. The vote follows:

	Points.
Joe Gordon, New York	270
Ted Williams, Boston	249
John Pesky, Boston	143

HAWKS' OPENER TOMORROW IS AN OPENER INDEED

They Jump from Training Into Rink with Bruins.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Much as he hates to pick on Frankie Brimsek, whom he considers one of the greatest goalies of all time, and the other Boston Bruins, Manager Paul Thompson of the Blackhawks will accept nothing short of victory as the proper lot of his team in the Chicago opener of the National Hockey league season in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

Even so, Boss Paul has not been deceived too much by the fact the Bruins have absorbed two defeats in National league season—3 to 2 at the hands of the Montreal Canadiens and 3 to 0 at the hands of Detroit Red Wings.

Hawks Are Bearing Down.

Paul says that these two games, losses tho they were, gave the Bruins an edge in training over the Hawks. The Hawks this autumn were unable to book even a single exhibition encounter and so haven't played in actual competition. The Bruins have played three exhibition games in addition to the two league matches.

To make up for this Manager Thompson and Coach Johnny Gottselig yesterday put the Hawks thru the most rigorous drill of the training season.

After the scrimmage yesterday, it was announced the squad was in the best physical shape any Hawk outfit has enjoyed for any opener in the last half dozen years. The squad will drill again today but few risks of injuries will be taken.

Wiebe May Join Later.

The cast which will go on the ice will not be altogether strange to the fans, but one real old timer will be missing. Art Wiebe, who has paired with Earl Seibert on defense for the last seven seasons, will not be present. It is said, however, that there is a possibility Art will join the team later in the season, if he can find some one to manage a bakery business he owns in his home town in Canada.

A continued boom in advance ticket sales yesterday caused President Bill Tobin to renew forecasts of the largest opener the Hawks have enjoyed in 10 years.

TRIBUNE EXPERT PICKS 4 WINNERS AT SPORTSMAN'S

Followers of The Tribune race selections were rewarded with four winners and three seconds in the eight race program yesterday at Sportsman's Park. The winners included the longest priced winner of the day—Holly in the seventh at $21.60 straight—the daily double and the best bet.

The daily double included the combination of Madam High in the first and Chief Bud in the second race. The payoff was $10.40. Shin Plaster, the best bet on the card, returned $5.80. The three first choices which finished second were Free Miss, The Giggler, and Manila Bay. It was the second straight day in which the handicapper picked the daily double. Monday's double returned $16.

MANHATTAN'S ATTACK FEARED BY MARQUETTE

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3 [Special].—Defense loomed today as an important item in the practice schedule of the Marquette university football team this week with Manhattan college invading the Hilltop stadium for the 1942 homecoming game next Sunday afternoon.

Scouts have informed Coach Stidham that the Jaspers, coached by Herb Kopf, have possibly the trickiest offense the Hilltoppers are facing this season. It is called the QT system, including all the essential strength of the T formation but engineered from an unbalanced line and with two instead of three men playing back.

Joe Norris of Detroit, left, and Andy Varipapa, bowlers of whom Chicago fans are going to see a lot in the next few weeks. Norris yesterday was invited to take the place of Ned Day against John Crimmins in the special match featuring the All-Star tournament. Varipapa, who is seeded in that tournament, will conduct the second Chicago Tribune Bowling school during the 10 days preceding the tournament. He is being brought back as the result of popular demand. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Culver-St. John's Game Free to 18 and 19 Year Olds

Free tickets to the Culver-St. John's football game in Wrigley field Saturday at 2 p. m. can be obtained by any 18 or 19 year old living in Chicago or suburban area by applying at the Army information center, 333 North Michigan avenue, it was announced yesterday. Young men who call at the information center for the complimentary tickets do not have to enlist or sign any enlistment papers to receive a free ticket, army officers state. All money raised thru ticket sales will be turned over to the Army Emergency Relief fund.

The game annually is a "natural" battle for both teams, St. John's Military academy of Delafield, Wis., and Culver Military academy of Culver, Ind.

In addition to the 18 and 19 year olds who will be admitted free all ROTC high school students also will be allowed to enter Wrigley field free —a "uniform" being the pass.

One hundred 18 and 19 year olds will be enlisted in the army during ceremonies at half time.

St. John's is sending its band and entire cadet corps of 450 from Delafield. There will be a display of mechanized army equipment in front of Wrigley field before the game starts.

In 12 games the two teams have played in since the start of the series in 1905, St. John's has won eight while Culver has taken four. St. John's is undefeated this year.

SPARTANS LEAVE FOR WASHINGTON STATE CONTEST

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 3 [Special]. — Michigan State's football squad of 27, smallest traveling crew in years, left here this afternoon for Spokane, where the Spartans meet Washington State Saturday in the first game of a home and home series.

title six months after he is discharged from service—regardless of when that may be.

A further attraction to the pre-All-Star period was scheduled yesterday when it was announced Andy Varipapa, exhibition bowler and a member of the All-Star seeded field, would conduct another Chicago Tribune Bowling school for 10 days previous to the opening of the tournament. Andy will begin his appearances in Chicago establishments Nov. 23, preceding it by doing his routine at Great Lakes on Sunday, Nov. 22.

Varipapa Attracts Thousands.

Varipapa is being brought back to Chicago by popular demand. He attracted thousands of fans to the 10 bowling centers in which he appeared last spring. It was estimated by the management that he brought more than 40,000 into Ted Lyons' recreation, where he appeared for three days.

During his coming stay Andy will devote each afternoon to teaching, first delivering a brief lecture on the fundamentals of bowling, the grip, the four or more step delivery, and the follow thru—then working with individual bowlers. He will return following league play in the evening to roll a match with a selected opponent, then do the trick shots that have made him famous. Varipapa is appearing under the management of Max Grossman.

Andy narrowly missed getting into the finals of last year's All-Star tournament, finishing with 3,893 pins, six less than Joe Wilman, who was the last qualifier. Wilman finished fourth in the finals.

HUDLIN IN AIR FORCE.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 3 (AP).—Willis Hudlin, who piloted Little Rock to a Southern association baseball pennant this year, has enlisted in the army air force.

CLASSIC LEAGUE TEAMS OUT TO END DEADLOCK

Gills Meet Budweisers at Marigold Tonight.

Classic Bowling league teams again will make an effort to break out of the pack when the circuit does its weekly rolling tonight at five houses. Three teams—supposedly weaker quintets—are tied for the lead and the two teams tied for eighth and ninth places, are just three games off the pace. Gills and Budweisers meet at Marigold in one of the best hookups. Other matches:

Monarch Beer vs. Meister Brau at Fasts recreation; Ambrosia Beer vs. United States Beer at Conboy's Lanes; Thompson Restaurants vs. Washingtons at Gold Coast; Schlitz vs. Prima Pilsner at Park Manor.

Medinah to Hold Bowlers' Ball on Nov. 14.

Medinah Country club is to hold its annual bowlers' ball Nov. 14. Members of the club's three men's leagues, two women's leagues and Mr. and Mrs. league, together with guests, are expected to make the affair the largest in the club's history. . . . Veterans are doing most of the heavy hitting in the North End Traveling league. Bill Lenzen of the C. & G. five leads individuals with 208, followed by Joe Gratz of Pepsi-Cola with 207.

A 665 by Al Kowalski, 659 by Nick Kennedy and 655 by Paul Zima went a long way toward giving Cascade Budweisers 3,125 and three games over Playdium in the Greater Chicago Traveling league. Congress Arcade helped itself to a share in the lead by taking three from Schlitz. George Johnson with 641 and Ben Dudek, 630, were the chief shooters for Congress.

Danne Insurance Wins Three in South Shore Major.

Danne Insurance set down South Shore bank three times, a rare achievement in the South Shore Major. But the big series, 3,075, was turned in by Schneider & Son in defeating Tuthill Materials twice. High solo scorer—and not for the first time—George Morrison with 685. . . . Mee & Ramme, a game behind, will try to close the gap when they meet the leading Wallace Coals in the Samuelson Major tonight.

Tonight's schedule in the Congress Ladies Classic:

Clark Shoes vs. Budweisers; Victory Ace Arcade vs. Gus. Restaurant; Tyl-Cicero vs. Bee-Vac; Bowling Moderne vs. Congress recreation; Mario's Restaurant vs. Durkee's Margarine; Brucks vs. Thompson Tennis Strings; Meister Brau vs. Marigold Arcade; Acme Furnace vs. Playdium; Double Cola vs. Goranson's 20 Alleys; Olson Rugs vs. Logan Square Buicks.

Women's scores included some season's highs. Catherine La Marche, a 110 average bowler, shot a 204 game and Marge Seibert, a 136 shooter, a 202 game and 493 series at Stevenson's. Betty Brugman rolled the Playdium All-Star league's high game, 258, and Catherine Fellmeth the circuit's high series, 650. And in the Pioneer Major, Marie Geoffrey hit both high game, 248, and series, 615.

Steinke to Meet Two Opponents at Fronton

Hans Steinke, veteran north side heavyweight wrestler, who is more than 6 feet tall and weighs 242 pounds, will attempt to throw two opponents within an hour in Rainbo Fronton, 4836 North Clark street, tonight. He first will tackle Ole Oleson and then Jack Zeravich. There will be three supporting matches.

THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS

BADGERS IN LEAD BUT SCHEDULE IS AGAINST THEM

Single Setback Would Prove Disastrous.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Wisconsin leads the Western conference as the football race swings into the three sets of November games and the single game between Michigan and Iowa on Nov. 28. However, since the Badgers play only five Big Nine contests, three other teams, each of which plays six conference games, must be given consideration for the 1942 championship.

Iowa, Minnesota, and Ohio State are the teams that have a schedule advantage over Wisconsin in that each plays six conference games. Thus, even tho the Badgers now are undefeated, if they lose one of their three remaining contests, they will fall behind in the percentage column.

Wisconsin can take care of Iowa this week-end in the Hawkeyes' homecoming game by giving Iowa its second licking of the conference campaign. The Badgers also can control the Minnesota situation by whipping the Gophers Nov. 21. But Wisconsin cannot control Ohio State despite the fact that the Badgers defeated the Buckeyes last Saurday.

Gophers Have Chance.

If Ohio State wins its remaining games, with Illinois and Michigan, while Wisconsin is beaten once, the Buckeyes will finish with a mathematical lead. Ohio State scarcely can claim the title under these circumstances with pride in the achievement, on account of the defeat by Wisconsin, but if Minnesota goes on thru—this would entail a victory over Wisconsin—the Gophers also would have the percentage advantage as well as the victory over Wisconsin to bolster their claim to the title.

The current Western conference standings, with games won and lost, and the names of remaining opponents in the order in which they will be played, follow:

Wisconsin, 2 and 0 [Iowa, Northwestern, Minnesota].
Ohio State, 3 and 1 [Illinois and Michigan].
Minnesota, 2 and 1 [Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin].
Iowa, 2 and 1 [Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan].
Michigan, 2 and 1 [Ohio State and Iowa].
Illinois, 2 and 1 [Northwestern and Ohio State].
Purdue, 1 and 3 [Indiana].
Indiana, 0 and 2 [Minnesota and Purdue].
Northwestern, 0 and 4 [Illinois and Wisconsin].

At this time the consensus probably is that the remaining important games determining the outcome of the conference race are Minnesota at Wisconsin and Michigan at Ohio State. It is this same majority opinion that makes possible the so-called upsets. Three Big Nine games this season fall into this category: Illinois' defeat of Minnesota, the Gophers' victory over Michigan, and Ohio State's reverse at Wisconsin last Saturday.

Overlook Improvement.

Public opinion was not adequately informed in the case of Illinois' victory over Minnesota since the Illini had improved over 1941 more than the public knew. This improvement was an ambush for a confident Minnesota team unprepared for the kind of game Illinois played.

The other two games were different in that the losers were not necessarily overconfident, altho they were widely favored to win. Minnesota overpowered Michigan after the Wolverines' first touchdown and that was the fundamental reason for Michigan's defeat. Wisconsin carried the attack to Ohio State. Its line that had been fair in previous games tackled and blocked with inspiration to help pile up a 10 point lead. This could not be overcome easily and Wisconsin still had the drive to add a clinching touchdown after the Bucks scored.

NORTHWESTERN'S FRESHMEN PLAY ILLINOIS FRIDAY

Northwestern's freshman football team will play its first home game Friday afternoon against the Illini freshmen in Dyche stadium. The Wildcat yearlings lost their opening game to Wisconsin, 20 to 0, while the Illini frosh won their first start against Purdue, 6 to 0, and then swamped the Indiana yearlings, 33 to 0, last week.

A joint luncheon of Northwestern and Illinois alumni in the Orrington hotel in Evanston will precede the game. Athletic Director Doug Mills will represent the Illinois coaching staff while Athletic Director K. L. Wilson and members of the Wildcat staff will be present. Movies of the Northwestern-Minnesota game will be shown.

Bolden to Open Hard Work Today for Colan Bout

Nate Bolden, former intercity Golden Gloves winner, who finally has reached the limelight after a five year professional campaign, today will enter the serious phase of preparations for a 10 round bout with Johnny Colan in Chicago Stadium Nov. 13 when he increases his drills in Trafton's gymnasium to eight rounds against three sparmates—three each with Clayton Worlds and Vince Calzaretto, Chicago heavyweights, and two with Chuck Pate, Milwaukee light heavyweight.

Bolden gained prominence as a light heavyweight contender by holding Anton Christoforidis, former world 175 pound title holder, to a draw decision last August, but a victory over the aggressive, hard fighting Colan is necessary to prove his achievement against Chris was no flash in the pan.

Tickets, which are priced at $1.50, $2.50, $3.50, and $5, including tax, will go on sale today at the Stadium's downtown ticket office, 65 West Madison street.

N. U. to Honor 1892 Team at Illinois Game

A football rivalry covering a span of 50 years will be observed Saturday when Northwestern and Illinois clash in Dyche stadium in the 36th game of a series which started in 1892 when the two teams played a 16 to 16 tie in Champaign, Ill.

Altho the Wildcats have won the last four games, the Illini hold an edge in the series with 17 victories against 15 for the Purple. Three games ended in a tie.

Saturday's observance of the 50th anniversary will include a reunion of Northwestern's 1892 team which not only played the first game with Illinois, but also inaugurated football relations with Michigan, Chicago, and Minnesota.

Eight of '92 Team to Attend.

Eight of the 12 living members of the team will be presented between halves by Athletic Director K. L. Wilson. Marshall P. Noyes of Chicago, who was both captain and coach of the '92 team, heads the group of returning players. Others are Walter Dill Scott, president emeritus of the university; James F. Oates, a member of the university's board of trustees; Alvin H. Culver of Wilmette; Albert Stebbings of Park Ridge; Dwight McCurdy of Chicago; Gordon Ramsey of Glencoe, and Edward Kappelman of Evanston.

The '92 team compiled one of the best records of any Northwestern eleven of the period, winning six games, losing four and tying two. Michigan was defeated, 10 to 8, while Minnesota won, 18 to 12. Two games were played with Chicago, the first ending in a scoreless tie and the second was won by Northwestern, 6 to 4.

ILLINI RESUME PRACTICE.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 3 [Special].—Refreshed by a layoff yesterday and inspired by hope of defeating Northwestern for the first time since 1937, the Illinois football team resumed practice today.

Coach Ray Eliot warned the Illini that the Wildcats are far more formidable than their record indicates and with Otto Graham back will be much stronger than against Minnesota when he did not play.

Illinois worked on offense today in dummy scrimmage against a freshman team, but will not rehearse defense until tomorrow. The squad will not go to Chicago until Friday night.

Art Dufelmeier alternated at left half with Don Griffin. Dufelmeier's throwing was successful against Michigan and it is hoped his work will make up for the absence of Dick Good, who will not play because of injury.

INJURIES HAMPER PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 3 [Special].—Purdue's football squad was given a minimum of contact work here this afternoon as Coach Elmer Burnham attempted to bring his injury-ridden Boilermakers to the best possible physical condition for the Dads' day game with Great Lakes here Saturday.

Burnham concentrated on the development of defensive formations against the powerful Bluejacket running attack built around Bruce Smith, and wound up with a brisk dummy offensive session.

SAILORS TRY PASSES.

The Great Lakes Bluejackets, who Saturday afternoon will seek their fourth victory of the season and their second over a Western conference opponent, yesterday went thru a long pass defense drill in preparation for the game with Purdue's Boilermakers in Lafayette.

Head Coach Lieut. Paul D. [Tony] Hinkle indicated there would be no scrimmages for the Bluejackets this week. The Sailors are expected to forego heavy workouts rather than risk injuries before they confront the three games they must play in eight days. After Purdue the Bluejackets will meet Camp Grant at Rockford on Nov. 11 and Marquette in Milwaukee on Nov. 15.

INDIANA SHIFTS DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 3 [Special].—In a move designed to stop the famous Bill Daley-Herman Frickey threat, Indiana's football coaching staff today reorganized its defensive back field for Saturday's Big Nine clash in Minnesota.

Coach Bo McMillin ordered the change after Scout Paul Harrell warned that Indiana can count on several "long hauls by Daley" and plenty of other trouble from Frickey unless the Hoosier defense is bolstered.

Working with the varsity in a drill devoted strictly to defense tactics, Harrell aided in the realignment which moved two of the three full backs into the lineup secondary. Capt. Bob White, whose defensive half back performance against the Iowa Seahawks drew McMillin's praise, was on one side and Sophomore Hugh McKinnis worked at the other half back position.

COUNT ON DALEY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 3 [Special].—Bill Daley was the big name in the University of Minnesota football preparations today as the Gophers started bearing down for Indiana's invasion Saturday. It has been no secret that Daley is the big punch in the Gopher attack, and the team has not functioned with accustomed power when he has been out of action. So Coach George Hauser and his staff are doing everything possible to have Daley ready for Saturday.

SOPHOMORES LEAD MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 3 [Special].—Two sophomores, Bob Wiese of Jamestown, S. D., and Bob Chappuis, former Toledo High school star, are setting the pace for Michigan's ground gaining backs. Because of injuries to other Wolverine half backs, Wiese and Chappuis probably will see a lot of service against Harvard here Saturday, thus getting an opportunity to build up their yardage totals.

Wiese, tho missing the Minnesota game and a large portion of the Illinois contest, leads in ground gained with 202 yards. Chappuis has advanced 183 yards on the ground and in addition has tossed 16 passes for 186 yards.

SEAHAWKS BACK AT WORK.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 3 [Special].—Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman said today he was highly pleased with the performance of the Iowa Seahawks in their victory over Indiana, 26 to 6, last Saturday, as he sent them thru their first workout of the week.

The Seahawks Saturday meet the Fort Knox Amoraiders in Louisville, Ky.

Bears and Cards Get First Rookies for Navy Flying

The Chicago Bears and Cardinals football teams are deadlocked at one all. This was the score after both teams yesterday officially kicked off in their drives to recruit squadrons of naval aviation cadets for the Chicago Naval Aviation Cadet Selection board.

Scoring the first Cardinal "Naviator" point was Cadet Melvin Waldman, 3218 Diversey avenue, who took the navy allegiance oath into the Card squadron on his 18th birthday. Waldman was recruited by Steve Lach and Vincent Banonis, co-captains of the Cards squadron procurement team.

The Bears, co-captained by Frank Maznicki and Bill Geyer, countered with a first squadron member who once played football as a Bear. Cadet Frank Yrigoyen, 5836 W. Superior street, was quarter back on a neighborhood amateur team of Bears and has always looked on the National league champions as his idol.

All four of the sponsoring co-captains are enrolled as naval aviation cadets and will go into training soon. In addition to this quartet every member of each team is pledged to become a first-string recruiter and put his team over the top.

Waldman was first-string left end on Kelvyn Park High school's eleven during his senior year. He is a student at Wright Junior college, and is learning mathematics and radio—subjects helpful to his career as a navy pilot.

Yrigoyan, a Lane Tech graduate, sought to join the new Bear squadron after hearing the plan described at the Detroit-Bears game last Sunday.

Chicago Roller Derby Team Beats N. Y., 12-11

Tommy Atkinson led the Chicago roller Derby team to a 12 to 11 victory over New York last night in the Armory. Atkinson, captain of the squad, scored two points in the closing sprint race. New York leads in the series, 166 points to 161.

Iowa Is Ready for Invasion by Wisconsin

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 3 [Special].—Iowa's football players began looking at Wisconsin plays today and brushing up on their own offensive in preparation for Saturday's homecoming game. Tommy Farmer, triple threat quarter back, has been named game captain for the affair.

Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson said the squad should be in near top physical condition for the contest and added he would not risk injuries to any of his men by hard contact work this week.

Indications were that he would stick with the same starting eleven that he used against Purdue last week, with maybe one exception. Dick Hoerner, hard running sophomore, may be back at full back to replace Jim Ferguson. Hoerner was out of action last week with a neck injury.

NO LETUP FOR BADGERS.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 3 [Special].—Coach Harry Stuhldreher sent the Wisconsin squad thru a long hard workout today and warned them not to let up if they expected to defeat Iowa at the Hawkeyes' homecoming Saturday.

While Stuhldreher has not scheduled any rough contact work for this week, he had the varsity line scrimmaging against the Iowa plays and worked with his back field men on defense against the passes of Tom Farmer. He fears that hurling of Farmer and the hard running of the talented Hawkeye full backs will provide his Badgers with a very busy afternoon.

Stuhldreher also announced that for the first time in history the Wisconsin varsity squad will travel by automobile this week-end. The Badgers will leave Madison Friday morning, work out in Cedar Rapids that afternoon, and arrive in Iowa City just prior to game time.

The undefeated Badger Bs were preparing today for their clash with Camp Grant B squad at 3:30 p. m. Thursday while the Cardinal freshmen squad will meet the Minnesota yearlings at 2 p. m. Friday.

POSTPONE IRISH SCRIMMAGE.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 3 [Special].—Scrimmage for Notre Dame's first two teams was postponed until tomorrow as Coach Frank Leahy outlined defense measures to be used against Army in dummy scrimmage at today's practice. The Irish also worked in dummy skirmish on new plays they expect to use in New York Saturday.

Leahy said that Jim Mello may be held out of scrimmage tomorrow, but that Wally Ziemba will take regular contact work with the rest of the linemen. Mello, sophomore full back who started the season with the first team, has been benched since he suffered a leg injury in the Stanford game, third of the season. Ziemba, injured in the same game, is expected to play, and possibly start at center this week.

LEO IS ONLY ONE GAME FROM THIRD STRAIGHT TITLE

Mount Carmel Plays Lions Sunday.

Undefeated Leo High school, defending city-wide football champion, meets the last obstacle in its march to a third successive south section title in the Catholic league Sunday afternoon when the Lions play Mount Carmel in Shewbridge field. Mount Carmel also is undefeated, but, handicapped by a heavy field, last Sunday was held to a scoreless tie by St. Rita, a 26 to 7 victim of Leo.

The winner of this contest earns the right to oppose Fenwick of the north section, providing the latter is not upset by Weber in the league final on Nov. 22, to determine the Catholic league representative in the Mayor Kelly benefit game against the City league champion on Nov. 28.

Seeks Third Straight.

Coached by A. L. [Whitey] Cronin, Leo will be shooting for its third straight Catholic league title and its sixth under his direction. Mount Carmel, under the guidance of Coach Wally Fromhart, won the league title in 1938 and 1939.

Leo, with 160 points in five games, is the second highest scoring team in the city, being topped only by Fenger, south section leader in the City league, which has scored 173 in five games. Averaging 32 points a game, Leo has restricted its opponents to 5 2/5 points per game. Mount Carmel has averaged 24¼ points against its opponents' 4½.

Poundage Almost Equal.

The back fields weigh practically the same, Leo averaging 177½ pounds to Mount Carmel's 175. The Leo back field includes Kelly, Carr and Hanlon—all named Bob—and Don Murphy, an excellent quarter back. Dick Conners is the quarter for Mount Carmel in a back field that is composed of Gene Delaney, Richie Sass and Julie Friestch. Both lines have exceptional defensive records and as in the back fields, Leo has a slight weight advantage. The Lions' forwards average 185 pounds, compared to Mount Carmel's 182½ per man. In Ray Kenney, 195, and Ted Okoniewski, 205, Mount Carmel has a pair of tackles just as efficient as Leo's Joe Norway, 195, and Mike Ganey, 195.

St. Bede Academy's deception not only confused Urbana High but stumped Referee Buck Schroth as well. Schroth followed a St. Bede player, thinking he had the ball and blew his whistle when the boy was knocked off his feet but meanwhile the ball carrier was sprinting down the opposite sideline. St. Bede won the game, 19 to 14.

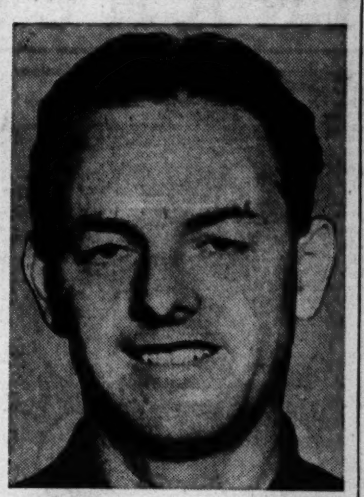
New Loyola Coach



JOHN J. CONNELLY.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Connelly Is Named as New Loyola Coach

John J. [Hicks] Connelly, who was a star forward on the first basketball team that Lenny Sachs coached at Loyola university 19 years ago, yesterday was named to fill the post left vacant thru Sachs' sudden death last Tuesday.

Last night—for the first time since a week ago Monday, when Sachs had directed them—the Loyola players went thru a practice session. The workout was ordered by Connelly immediately after he received word of his appointment from the Rev. James T. Hussey, S. J., Loyola athletic director.

Will Fill Two Jobs.

Connelly, who became coach of the Loyola academy basketball and football teams in 1940, indicated last night that he would continue in both capacities until a new coach is named to the academy basketball post. He said he would attempt to emulate the policy of aggressive competition and thoro training upon which Sachs based his basketball direction at Loyola.

"I can only hope," Connelly said, "to attain some measure of the success which Lenny enjoyed; but if I can instill the same fighting spirit into my boys that he did in his, I know we will be able to give the university a good basketball team."

Connelly went to the Loyola academy position from St. Rita High school, where he had coached for 12 years. Last year his academy heavyweight basketball team won the north section championship of the Catholic league. He was graduated from Loyola university in 1926.

Stars Will Be Missed.

The Loyola team, which last year won 17 games of 23, will be without the services of All-Western Guard Mickey Rottner and Mike Dougherty, spark plugs of the 1942 squad. Rottner is stationed at Camp Grant and undoubtedly will play with the Warriors in the two game series scheduled with Loyola. Dougherty is a chief petty officer in the navy at Norfolk, Va. The schedule, announced yesterday by Father Hussey, follows:

Dec. 8—Arkansas at Loyola.
Dec. 18—Brigham Young at Loyola.
Dec. 21—Chicago at Loyola.
Dec. 28—Indiana at Loyola.
Jan. 8—Camp Grant at Loyola.
Jan. 13—Western Michigan at Loyola.
Jan. 20—Glen View Naval station at Loyola.
Jan. 28—Toledo at Loyola.
Feb. 1—Loyola at Navy pier.
Feb. 5—Loyola at Camp Grant.
Feb. 8—Navy pier at Loyola.
Feb. 13—Loyola at Toledo.
Feb. 19—Loyola at Western Michigan.
Feb. 22—Loyola at Villanova.
March 1—Detroit at Loyola.

DODGERS, NOT PACKERS, WORRY BEARS' COACHES

Mental Letdown Warned Of by Ex-Boss Halas.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Sunday's game with the Dodgers in Brooklyn is causing more concern to Owner Coach George Halas than the following week's game against the Packers in Wrigley field, the big Bear's coaching associates reminded the team yesterday. That's what the lieutenant commander told his aids before he left last week for the naval aviation base in Norman, Okla.

It wasn't so much that the boss man feared the might of the Dodgers, but that he was afraid the Bears might not become mentally geared for the contest. He was sure the champions would be up, as they say, for the big game with Green Bay. Halas' forebodings, revealed before last Sunday's returns were in, carried more weight when the Dodgers were upset by Cleveland. Now the Brooklyn fellows must beat the Bears Sunday lest they drop out of the race for the eastern title. Advices from Brooklyn indicate that Ebbets field is virtually sold out for the game.

Dodgers Have Tough Line.

"The Dodgers," Co-coach Luke Johnsos said last night, "have a tough, bruising line. They have three of the best ends in the league—Perry Schwartz, Ed Rucinski, and Herman Hodges. And we're going to have a hard time stopping their hard running backs, Pug Manders and Merl Condit."

Except for Bill Osmanski, the first string full back injured last September in the league opener with Green Bay, the Bears are in top condition. Osmanski will scout the Packers against the Rams in Cleveland Sunday. He still has hopes of getting back into action against Green Bay Nov. 15, but the coaches agree it will be something of a miracle if this comes to pass. Meanwhile, this keeps the burden on Gary Famiglietti, who has carried it handsomely to date.

Work on Running Plays.

Yesterday the Bears concentrated on running plays. This phase of their game has bogged down in recent contests and perhaps is the biggest single factor in a noticeable decline in all-around play. Another similar drill is on today's program.

The Cardinals, preparing for Sunday's game in Washington against the Redskins, yesterday asked waivers on Dick Evans, an end, and Tom Chantiles, tackle recently obtained from the Detroit Lions. The Cards, who so far have been denied a say in helping to complicate the western division race—losing twice to the Packers and once to the Bears—can do the Dodgers and Pittsburgh Steelers a big favor by whipping the Redskins.

WPB FURNITURE OUTPUT PLAN IS TERMED WASTE

Difficult, Needless, Says Whiting.

If the War Production board proceeds with its proposal to concentrate furniture production in a few plants, it will be tackling a difficult and needless job, Lawrence Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, Chicago, said yesterday.

Whiting raised these points against the concentration plan:

1. The furniture and home furnishings industry would be one of the hardest to concentrate, because it is made up of so many small plants—about 6,000, including 3,500 making furniture—most of them scattered in small cities.
2. Some of the big city furniture plants already are 100 per cent converted to war work.
3. Smaller ones lack the capital to buy machinery to convert, even if the machinery were available.

Scarce Materials Not Used.

4. The over-all capacity of the industry is much larger than the government has been able to utilize.
5. There is a huge consumer demand for furniture which can be met without retarding the war effort thru use of scarce materials, manufacturers' development of substitute materials extending even to wood springs for beds and other furniture.

Whiting disclosed that the American Furniture Mart is making a nation-wide survey to determine what part of the industry's capacity the government is utilizing. He said reports from the first 156 companies answering showed 68 had no war orders, despite long efforts to get them, and 88 had orders using 49.24 per cent of their available capacity to do war work.

Capacity Outstrips Demand.

The government is using only 27 per cent of the capacity of the 156 plants, Whiting said.

He said the industry's war orders are huge, but that its capacity to make war items nevertheless is vastly larger than the government so far has been able to utilize.

The industry is making about 250 war items in which wood is being substituted to save steel and aluminum. Among these, Whiting said, are warplanes and transport planes of impregnated and compregnated wood.

"The thousands of furniture plants scattered over the country are not using any large amount of critical materials," he said. "They can get plenty of glue and sandpaper, and in most fields adequate walnut, mahogany, maple, and other materials are available.

Tells of "Enormous Market."

"It would be unfortunate to prevent them from making furniture, for which there is an enormous market. The only wood shortages are in certain kinds needed for war use."

Whiting said that the Jamestown, N. Y., market, which closed Saturday and was the only one held in America this fall, was swamped with orders and buyers from all parts of the nation. Market events have been curtailed this year at the request of the Office of Defense Transportation to help ease the strain on travel facilities.

KAISER GETS RFC 26 MILLION LOAN TO EXPAND MILL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 [Special].—The Reconstruction Finance corporation has authorized a loan of 26 million dollars to the Kaiser company to enlarge its steel mill at Fontana, Cal., Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones announced today.

U.S. to Be Well Shod, but Not So Frivolously

Sturdier, better fitting, less frivolous shoes and equitable distribution of supply will keep the United States well shod for the duration of the war, A. J. Spring, chief of shoe unit of the textile, clothing and leather branch of the War Production board, said yesterday at a luncheon of the National Shoe Fair in the Palmer House.

Spring said shoe conservation order 217, which restricted the use of upper leather and reduced the choice of colors, has helped to channel production into more simple, controlable and compact lines of shoes. The WPB leather and shoe section already is allocating all cattle hides, and it may become necessary to distribute finished sole and upper leather where most needed, he said.

Fit and Wear Outrank Looks.

The war time selling plan should be the promotion of better made, better fitting and longer wearing shoes, rather than the prewar policy of more and varied pairs per customer. Spring added that less fancy and gaudy styles will prevent extreme increases in sales, customers having more money because of higher war salaries.

Sizable stocks of finished shoes are now available in an "excessive" variety, he said, urging retailers to sell out these lines and restock with fewer lines so they may be better prepared for any increased restrictions.

Aids Distributing Problem.

Spring also said that by narrowing production to fewer and more practical styles the manufacturer can maintain his usual trade and will aid in keeping America in shoes.

The manufacturer and retailer have the additional problem of distributing shoes where most needed, Spring said. Dealers must not overload stores in some areas and neglect others.

The National Shoe Fair is holding its annual four day market under the joint auspices of the National Shoe Retailers association and the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers association.

METAL STOCKS END HIGHER IN TORONTO TRADE

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 3 (AP).—Moderate gains were posted by the gold and base metal stocks in today's Toronto exchange trade and the industrial and western oil groups held about even with Monday's final prices. Trading was quiet and aggregate turnover was below 75,000 shares. Noranda rose a full point to 38¼ in fairly active buying in small lots.

Gains in utility, food, and building stocks were partly balanced by scattered losses in other groups.

Montreal Issues Gain.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 3 (AP).—Carriers and leaders in other sections showed rising inclinations on the stock exchange today. Canadian Pacific on a fractional rise returned to the high it registered Monday. Canada Steamship moved up a bit to equal its 1942 peak.

OPA Permits Coal Dealers to Adjust Maximum Prices

Washington, D. SHIPBUILDER.

Do you have any information on the American Ship Building company? What has been its dividend record on the common stock since 1937?—J. E. C.

Answer: This company has built the majority of ships operating at present on the Great Lakes under the United States flag and is one of the principal companies in the ship repair and construction industry in the Great Lakes region. All operations are being devoted to war work and a number of ships for the United States navy already have been completed.

In 1941, a wholly owned subsidiary, the Delta Shipbuilding Company, Inc., was formed to build cargo ships for the maritime commission in a new shipyard in Louisiana. A record of recent financial results for the fiscal years ended June 30 follows:

	Gross income.	Net income.	Earn. per com. shr.
1942	$4,859,629	$543,912	$4.26
1941	1,648,539	598,075	4.69
1940	924,306	226,185	1.76
1939	450,095	*207,722	......
1938	1,182,322	427,674	3.36

*Loss.

Dividends on the common stock in the calendar years since 1937 were: $3 each in 1937 and 1938, $1.50 in 1939, $1 in 1940, and $2 in 1941. The company has paid $2 this year.

American Ship Building was incorporated in New Jersey in 1899. Capitalization is 127,044 shares of no par common outstanding and 339 shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred. The shares are listed on the New York Stock exchange and the common ranged in price from 22¾ to 58 from 1937 thru 1941.

DIVIDEND.

What was the last dividend declared by Fairbanks company on the common stock and how did it compare with the preceding payment?—G. K.

Answer: The company paid 10 cents a share on the common on Nov. 2. The previous dividend was 10 cents, paid Aug. 1.

MILWAUKEE ROAD.

How many times did the Milwaukee road cover fixed charges in the first eight months this year?—T. R.

REFUSE EXTRA TRAINS TO FLORIDA CITIES FOR WINTER VACATIONERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, announced today that permission will not be granted to railroads to operate extra trains to Florida to accommodate winter vacationers. He said pleasure travel to and from the south must be dispensed with for the duration to save equipment for war uses.

An ODT order last month froze all passenger train schedules as of Sept. 26, an off season date for Florida travel.

Coincident with today's announcement, however, Eastman authorized two extra passenger sections daily between New York City and Florida. It was also learned that an order will be issued soon permitting an extra section daily between Chicago and Florida points. These steps are being taken, ODT said, to provide sufficient service for necessary travel only.

Tribune War Award Open to All Illinois

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Downstate Illinois workers in war plants will compete against employés in Chicago plants for The Chicago Tribune's War Workers Award for October. That the downstaters will provide stiff competition for the award was forecast in the type of achievements for which they are being nominated.

Nominations for the October award should be in the hands of the War Workers Award Editor, Chicago Tribune, not later than Saturday. The independent committee making the selection will meet next week to pick the winner.

Make Varied Improvements.

Among the downstate contenders, one man devised a simplified machine operation on a tank part, another devised a way to increase the life of a machine cutter, and a third developed a method for increasing alcohol production.

The Chicago contenders include a welder who helped Uncle Sam by developing a way to speed production of Diesel engines for the navy and a railroader who simplified a track operation.

The Tribune's monthly award consists of a solid gold pin, studded with three small diamonds. The dominating decorative feature is a V for Victory eagle.

Area of Eligibles.

Workers in all war plants in Illinois and in Lake county, Indiana, and Kenosha and Racine counties, Wisconsin, are eligible. So far no women workers have made a bid for the gold pin, but they are eligible to compete.

The manner of making the nominations is left to the convenience of the various war plants. The award committee favors nominations by employé-management committees, by the management, by a special committee, or by some other authorized group. However, if a worker in a plant desires, he can nominate himself.

U.S. Debt Runs Shorter Term Than in Britain

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The preponderance of 1 to 10 year maturities in the obligations of the United States government is emphasized by a comparison of this country's debt with that of Great Britain.

Less than 10 per cent of the federal government's debt is made up of securities with maturities of more than 20 years. By contrast, nearly a third of the British debt has been funded on a long term basis.

The British have met their staggering war financing requirements by a combination of methods. By offering securities with long maturities and relatively high interest rates they have sought to finance as much of the war cost as possible by borrowing "real savings" as distinct from bank created credit.

Maturities Less Than a Year.

Combined with this, the British government has resorted extensively to bank borrowing, but most of the securities sold to banks carry maturities of less than a year.

Recent figures show that approximately one third of the British debt is made up of obligations with maturities ranging up to one year. Only about 8 per cent of American government securities matures within a year, but nearly 40 per cent matures between 1 and 5 years.

The crowding of maturities within the 1 to 10 year bracket has evoked some criticism of the treasury. Outside of the treasury department there was general agreement that the big October financing operation should include an issue of bonds with maturities of more than 10 years and a rate slightly higher than the 2 per cent finally decided upon by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

After the treasury decided upon the shorter maturity, the banks stepped in and bought the issue.

Reserve Banks Boost Holdings.

Later reports of the federal reserve board disclosed that the central banks of the system also had been active in the market, increasing substantially their holdings of government securities during the period when the offering was made.

Significance is seen by some observers in the departure for England of Secretary Morgenthau shortly after completion of the October financing operation. Morgenthau passed three weeks in England, during which he conferred with officials directing the British financing program.

Returning to Washington, D. C., he told reporters Monday that he had picked up some new ideas on wartime taxation. The report of his press conference did not mention other aspects of the British fiscal program that may have occupied his attention there.

PRICES OF BEST CATTLE RISE TO FIVE YEAR PEAK

Supplies of live stock were small at all packing centers yesterday, as farmers stayed home to vote, and prices of cattle and hogs advanced. Twenty leading markets handled 198,000 cattle, hogs, and sheep, 25 per cent less than a week earlier and the smallest Tuesday run since mid-August.

The Chicago cattle market was steady to 10 cents higher, top grades of steels rising 10 cents to $17.45 a hundred pounds, a new five year high. This was second highest November price since 1928, and was $4.55 or 35 per cent above the November high last year.

Costs of refilling cattle feedlots with young range animals soared to the highest levels in the history of the Chicago stock yards. Farmers paid $16.50 for 425 pound Wyoming feeder calves, 25 cents higher than any price ever paid at the yards and $3.00 over the highest November transaction on record.

TEXAS-ILLINOIS PIPE LINE SPUR PLAN 'DEFERRED'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—The Office of Petroleum Coördinator disclosed today that plans for construction of a 24-mile spur pipeline from Norris City, Ill., to Mt. Vernon, Ind., had been "temporarily deferred" because of the decision to extend to the east the new 24-inch pipeline from Texas to Norris City.

Officials indicated this meant the spur would be dropped altogether because it was proposed primarily to carry oil to the Ohio river for transshipment east by barge.

Plans to build a 9 mile spur line from Norris City to Enfield, Ill., have not been changed, they said, because this would hook into the existing Illinois pipe line system.

CEILING CHANGE FOR INDIVIDUAL STOPPED BY OPA

Order Permits Only General Revision.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The Office of Price Administration announced today that it is terminating the practice of granting indidividual price ceiling adjustment to retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers.

Individual adjustments of ceilings from the March price level have been granted by OPA on application by a seller who could show he was suffering substantial hardship because his ceiling prices were abnormally low in relation to his competitors.

Under the new regulation, no more such retailer applications will be accepted by OPA after Nov. 30, and no more wholesaler and manufacturer applications after Nov. 15. For price ceilings on services, the deadline for individual adjustments is Jan. 1.

Urgent Cases Handled.

OPA officials said that since the March ceilings were imposed last April, thousands of individual price adjustment requests have been handled and hundreds of price amendments of general application have been made. These actions, they added, have covered the most pressing cases.

Henceforth, attention is to be directed to improving price regulations affecting many sellers rather than ironing out individual situations. Price revisions of general application still will be made for good cause, officials said.

The new ruling also revokes immediately a "catch all" section of the original price control order which allowed petitions for individual price maximums by any seller whose situation was not covered specifically by other sections of the order.

Permits General Revision.

Under the revised policy, a seller or group of sellers may apply for price adjustments which would apply, for example, to a specific product thruout the trade, but not to a particular seller or group only.

One exception provides that price maximums may be revised in local areas to relieve supply shortages. Specifically, OPA regional administrators are authorized to adjust local ceilings for a seller or group of sellers, provided the adjustment will reduce a shortage of a commodity or service essential to the war or civilian economy.

OPA also issued an amendment permitting retailers of men's and boys' suits in southern states to increase prices for heavier than tropical weight suits up to 10 per cent over the March levels.

CANADIAN OATS EXPORT SALES REPORTED HEAVY

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 3 (AP).—A big sale of Canadian oats for shipment to the United States and overseas destinations today overshadowed wheat trading on the Winnipeg Grain exchange. It was estimated the sale of oats exceeded 600,000 bushels and inquiries were reported for about 1,700,000 bushels.

In the wheat pit dealings were small and routine. There was a little domestic mill demand but no indication of export business in Canadian wheat or flour. The December future closed unchanged at 90⅜ cents.

Oats futures closed unchanged to ¼ cent higher; barley unchanged to ¼ cent higher, and rye ⅛ cent higher.

Illinois Malleable Gets 'Minute Man' Flag Today

The treasury's "Minute Man" flag will be presented to officials of the Illinois Malleable company, Diversey and Ashland avenues, at noon today in recognition of more than 90 per cent employé participation in war savings bonds thru pay roll deductions, the department's Chicago organization announced yesterday. The guest speaker for the treasury will be George Cichon, Chicago gunner's mate who participated in five major naval engagements and who is home on furlough.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE CORPORATION.

DON'T BORROW

Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance, you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.

SHOE sales clerks—Steady; salary and comm.; experience desirable but not necessary. 12TH STREET STORE, HALSTED-ROOSEVELT

Stenographer-Secy.

In the first place this is a really good position. To qualify you will, first of all, be a good stenographer and typist. You will be the kind of person who does not consider your job completely covered simply because your letters are neat and out in good time.

You will have had experience in relieving a very busy executive of many details that interfere with exercise of his fullest capacities in essential things he must do. He must be able to sign your letters without "proofreading them." You will have a certain amount of filing, so you will know where the things are he will want and have them ready before he asks for them. Ability to use the dictaphone will help because he may want to be in the office on a Sunday or late at night.

You should be not over 35 and personable.

You will be well paid; work in pleasant surroundings in a mfg. plant established over 40 years on the Central So. Side, now engaged in 100% war work with ample postwar activities assured.

In replying make it typewritten.

Brooks Wins Re-election for Senator—Dewey Landslide—New G. O. P. Governors and Senators

Enthusiastic supporters of Sen. Wayland Brooks, successful Republican candidate for re-election to the United States senate, lift their candidate (right) and Gov. Dwight H. Green to their shoulders in victory celebration in the La Salle hotel Republican headquarters early today.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

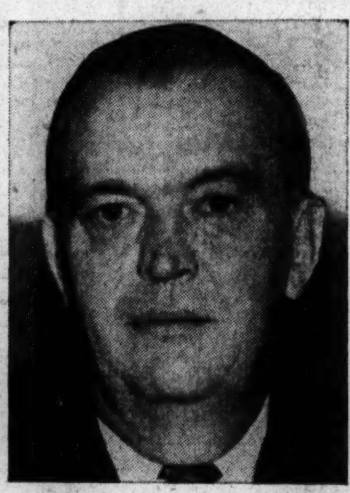
Before he learned of his sweeping victory in his contest for governor of New York yesterday, Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate, took a walk in Central park with Mrs. Dewey.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Republican, checking with his family at Boston Republican headquarters, returns in his successful race for re-election.

E. H. Moore (R.), new senator from Oklahoma.

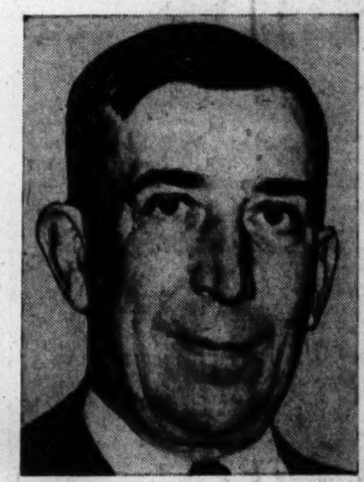
A. W. Hawkes (R.), new senator from New Jersey.



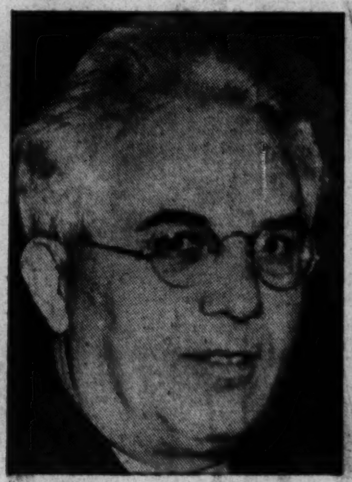
H. F. Kelly (R.), leading for governor in Michigan.

Earl Warren (R.), winner of California governor race.

O. S. Loomis (Prog.), in close race for Wisconsin governor.



G. A. Wilson (R.), Iowa senatorial winner.



Homer Ferguson (R.), leading Michigan senatorial race.

Kenneth Wherry (R.), new Nebraska senator.
